LET AMERICANS DIE IN DEFENSE ONLY!—BROOKS

His Appeal: 'Build as Never Before.'

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—The blood of America belongs to America and only for the defense of America—not the continuing troubles of the old world—Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] declared tonight in a stirring address which closed the 29th annual meeting of the chamber of commerce of the United States.

Senator Brooks called upon industry, as represented by 1,800 business leaders of the nation, to produce as it has never produced before to build the defense of America as an equal partner with democratic government. But he repeatedly warned against using that power to meddle in the affairs of Europe.

His distinguished audience arose en masse for a prolonged ovation upon the conclusion of Brooks' address, which was broadcast.

Recalls 'War to End Wars.'

After tracing the American fight for liberty thru the years Brooks spoke ironically of the first world war into which the United States entered to "end all wars." He said:

"We moved back into the old world for the first time and turned our backs on our own march of liberty. We returned to the centuries old wars of Europe.

"I for one, as my family found in the last war, will be for my country whatever decision she makes, but in the meantime I think the blood of America belongs in America, to America, and for the defense only of America."

There was resounding applause.

Business a 'Whipping Post.'

Brooks said he was taught that private enterprise and the democratic form of government were the "twin sons of Columbia." He related how the business men have been made the "whipping post" in recent years.

"But if industry is to produce she must be told that she is part of America and is called upon the same as her soldiers," he continued. Industry and our sons must move as one."

Soldiers cannot defend themselves unless they have the implements of war to use, he said, and government has not produced the telephone, the automobile, or the guns needed now. It again falls upon industry to supply the needs of the hour.

Brooks closed by wishing the business leaders Godspeed "as you meet the emergency of this hour."

WARD CO. TO SHUT PICKETED STORE; HIT MAIL SERVICE

Portland, Ore., May 1 (AP).—The Montgomery Ward Portland mail order and retail store will close Saturday, throwing 1,375 employés out of work, the management said in a newspaper advertisment today. The company said picketing of the plant since Dec. 7, 1940, and inability to get truck, rail or postal deliveries were the causes.

AFL warehousemen, store clerks, and office workers struck for wage increases and a union shop. The company declared, however, that "no dispute existed as to wages."

"Ward's Portland plant has been denied delivery by the United States postoffice department since April 19 of all but a small part of the parcel post shipments addressed to it," the company said. "We cannot serve our customers adequately."

Postmaster E. T. Hedlund announced he had rented a separate building to handle increased parcel post matter, largely because of war deliveries.

"We're delivering only the ordinary quantity of parcel post addressed to Montgomery Ward & Co.," he said. "The company's additional packages are being stored until the usual facilities can handle the regular delivery of parcel post."

The store has operated continuously since the picket line was set up.

STORY OF FLIGHT BY BRITISH FROM NAZIS IN GREECE!

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE ARRIVED AT CAIRO FROM GREECE, May 1 (AP).—British imperial troops who fought the German invaders of Greece have come back to Egypt after the loss of perhaps 8,000 tanks and trucks and many first line planes, a loss which they believe to be more than balanced by the far heavier German losses of similar equipment.

Most of the British tanks never got away from the Mount Olympus line, where they were wrecked or destroyed after inflicting severe losses on the Germans.

The RAF saved most of its pilots, for the great German numerical superiority in the air enabled the Nazi flyers to bomb the RAF planes to bits when they were on the ground and unoccupied. The British estimated they had downed about 10 per cent of the German planes, with a high toll of German pilots.

Hide Under Trees During Day.

Here is the way the British escaped:

Whole British battalions lay concealed beneath the trees by day as the soldiers waited for boats, and the German dive bombers searched vainly for them.

By night the beaches were alive with men, the sea cluttered with boats. Every vessel that could pass muster was used and the greater part—the British now say 48,000 out of 60,000 soldiers—got away.

[German military sources yesterday said 40,000 of the British force could be regarded as "lost" in Greece. Australian government officials declared the Germans "had suffered colossal losses in men and machines" and that British empire losses had been relatively small.]

Little material could be taken away by the British but most of that which was left behind was destroyed. The Germans, when they reached the shore, found the woods full of wrecked vehicles and destroyed supplies.

The British came down to the sea with their rifles, packs and machine-guns, and most of them carried them away with them.

Trucks Rolled Into Sea.

In the case of bigger guns the breeches were torn off before they were abandoned.

Many trucks were merely rolled into the sea, others pitched over cliffs so the Germans could never use them.

In some cases, hand grenades were used to destroy British vehicles; others were chopped to pieces with axes or set afire with gasoline.

With the RAF having lost its forward air fields by the break in the Mount Olympus line, and with the Greeks near collapse for all their valiant struggle, the British decided on the afternoon of April 22 to pull out.

With various Australian troops, civilian refugees, and 130 German prisoners, I left Piraeus on the last boat out of that port of Athens. Our little boat, jammed with nearly 1,000 persons, left the harbor at night, shortly before midnight, and got clear just as the Germans bombed the port for the fourth time in 24 hours.

Jungle of Wreckage.

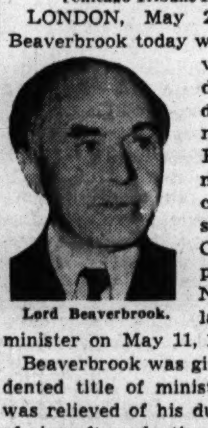
CABINET REVISED TO SPUR OUTPUT OF WAR GOODS

Aircraft Chief Gets Wider Powers.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 2, Friday.—Lord Beaverbrook today was appointed the virtual economic dictator and deputy prime minister of Great Britain in the most important cabinet shakeup since Winston Churchill replaced the late Neville Chamberlain as prime minister on May 11, 1940.



Lord Beaverbrook.

Beaverbrook was given the unprecedented title of minister of state. He was relieved of his duties as minister of aircraft production, a task in which he was credited with an outstanding success in stepping up airplane production to the pace required to meet the German challenge.

He becomes the virtual dictator of the production of tanks, guns, and other materials—shortages of which were blamed largely for the military reverses in Norway, in France and the Low Countries, and in Greece.

Centralized Production Urged.

For months both parliament and the press have been demanding centralization of production. As recently as Monday a group of members of parliament representing all parties were reported to hold the view that Churchill's dual offices as prime minister and minister for defense were too much for one man.

With Beaverbrook presumably assuming general direction of the economic phases of the war, Churchill will be free to devote his full time to military, naval, and diplomatic affairs.

In a move almost as important as Beaverbrook's promotion, it was decided to merge the ministries of shipping and transport under a 60 year old business man, Frederick James Leathers. The combined ministry will be known as the ministry of wartime communications.

Leathers will have the task of eliminating another grave source of complaint—delay of movement of goods. It is deemed vital that ships' cargoes be handled quickly and that there be a speedy land movement of supplies.

Beaverbrook's Post Filled.

SUICIDE REVEALS DOCTOR'S STRANGE DEATH MACHINE

South Bend, Ind., May 1 [Special].—Dr. Robert Calph, 36 years old, of 332 Vistula street, Elkhart, Ind., a foot specialist, who was found dead in a tourist cabin seven miles east of Mishawaka on U. S. highway 20, yesterday, methodically planned his end, Coroner T. C. Goraczewski declared today.

Dr. Calph brought on his death by placing on a table a bottle filled with sulphuric acid over which was suspended a can containing poison crystals. A string ran from the can to an alarm clock fastened to the baseboard in the cabin. The string was attached to a spool on the alarm key of the clock so that it wound up, tipping the crystals into the acid when the alarm sounded. The acid caused the crystals to give off the poisonous gas. The alarm rang at 2 a. m., apparently while the victim slept.

J. H. Snyder, proprietor of the tourist camp, said Dr. Calph registered Sunday night as R. P. Cutler [his correct initials], of 4505 Greenview avenue, Chicago, altho his car bore Indiana license plates.

Tells How Wife Rented Him to Rival for Year

Los Angeles, Cal., May 1 [Special].—Samuel [Beau] Brummel, a dark, cigar chewing little insurance salesman of 56, nonchalantly told in court today of his wife renting him out to another woman for a year at a fee of $10,000. He is now seeking a divorce and half of the fee, which he said his wife promised but never gave him.

Brummel told Judge Harry F. Sewell that he married the other woman and spent a year with her, then dutifully returned to his wife as she had directed, but she deserted him and withheld his share of the money he had earned in what he termed a strictly business deal.

All the arrangements for the deal, he said, were made by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Patton Brummel, 55, and the other woman, Mrs. Norma Peppin, a middle aged Los Angeles county employé.

Describes Wife's Proposition.

"I came home one day and Lillian told me that Mrs. Peppin was receiving a large estate," Brummel testified. "My wife said she had it all arranged for the $10,000 and that I shouldn't stay with Mrs. Peppin longer than a year. She said as soon as I got free from Mrs. Peppin, half the money would be mine.

"At least 100 times my wife told me that I was only being loaned for a year. She would say: 'Remember, I expect you back after one year. I am just loaning you out.'"

"What did you say to that?" asked Mrs. Brummel's attorney.

"I said O. K." Brummel replied.

Saw Both, He Testifies.

Records show that Mrs. Brummel obtained a divorce decree in Tijuana, Mexico, on July 1, 1938, and that a month later Brummel married Mrs. Peppin in Fresno. The couple parted a year later and on Aug. 2, 1940, Mrs. Peppin was granted an annulment on the ground that Brummel already was married at the time of the Fresno ceremony.

Asked whether he continued to see his first wife while he was married to the second, Brummel said: "O, yes, we saw each other right along."

Mrs. Brummel, who followed her husband on the witness stand, said that Mrs. Peppin paid the $10,000 voluntarily, and explained:

"One day Mrs. Peppin took me aside and told me: 'I am going to make a confession. I have done a worse act than any one could do to a dear friend. I am in love with Mr. Brummel. It's just one of those things. But I am going to compensate you with $10,000."

Judge Sewell decided it would be advisable to hear Mrs. Peppin's side of the unusual tale and issued summons for immediate service.

LAW LETS N. Y. SLUM AREAS BE CLEARED BY CONDEMNATION SUITS

Albany, N. Y., May 1 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today signed a law permitting the use of condemnation powers to clear city slum areas.

The new act enables privately financed corporations to complete the assembly of sites for slum redevelopment projects thru the condemnation process. The act was patterned after a measure now pending in the Illinois legislature. It provides for municipal supervision of the redevelopment corporations.

"The problem of clearing slum areas," Gov. Lehman said, "is admittedly one of the most serious confronting us. If we are to do the job properly, a means must be found for bringing private enterprise with its huge resources to the task. Furthermore, the rebuilding of our cities affords a great opportunity of cushioning the effect of any slump that may follow the defense emergency."

Scientists Create Starlight in a Laboratory Test Tube

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Creation of starlight in a laboratory test tube was announced today before the American Physical society by Drs. F. A. Jenkins and S. Mrozowski, University of California scientists. They said they had achieved the double radiation of atoms of oxygen and nitrogen which apparently occurs normally only in stars millions of light years away.

All Go Fishing Except Chief; He Got Hooked

Seymour, Texas, May 1 [Special].—The fire chief was the most dejected person in town today, and the happiest. He also was the tallest and shortest, the fattest and thinnest, the prettiest and the ugliest. Put it another way:

The fire chief was the only person in town today.

Everybody else went fishing.

Seymour has been observing the opening of fishing season as a holiday for years. Today, however, Mayor C. M. Randal gave the observance a timely touch.

Mayor Says "Let's Go!"

"A proper amount of relaxation is essentially necessary, despite the gravity of conditions," he said, "to keep our people in proper shape to cope with situations yet to come. Meeting adjourned. Let's go fishin'."

Immediately Seymour's 3,500 men, women and children headed north toward Lake Kemp, 15 miles out of town, with boats, lunch baskets and fishing tackle. By noon Seymour was a ghost town, except for the fire chief who was chosen with only one dissenting vote to stay behind and sort of look out for things.

Banks, schools, gas stations and stores were all closed. The police station was locked up. Even the dogs were asleep. Seymour and suspended animation were one.

There'll Come a Day — !

But at Lake Kemp the fish were biting, fishermen were gay, children romped and the women set out potato salad and apple pie.

Tomorrow is expected to be exactly the reverse of today in one respect. Everybody but the fire chief will be IN town. He says he can't bear the thought of listening to 3,500 fish stories in one day. Besides, he's going to Lake Kemp.

And next year, he said, it's the police chief's turn to get hooked.

Report Italian Commander in N. Africa Dies of Wounds

New York, May 1 (AP).—The British radio in a broadcast heard tonight, said Rome reported that Brig. Gen. Mieli, chief of staff of the Italian armed forces in North Africa, died in Tripoli from wounds suffered in a British air raid.

DETECTIVE SAYS ABORTION RING PAID HIM $3,000

Explains Motive of 'Mistake' Slaying.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney yesterday obtained an astounding confession from Policeman Daniel Moriarity, for eight years a trusted member of the prosecutor's staff, that the officer for three years had been the salaried fixer for an abortion ring, and that he committed murder Tuesday after finding himself unable to help the woman indicted as the ringleader of the abortionists. Moriarity admitted that this woman had given him a $3,000 bribe.

Moriarity, 39 years old and a policeman for 15 years, gave his confession in the Bridewell hospital, where he is under guard. Moriarity has made two attempts to end his life since he shot and killed Miss Jennie Martin, 24, three days ago. Mrs. Ada Martin, the victim's mother, is the woman accused as the chief of the abortion ring.

Three Deaths During Inquiry.

The girl's death was one of three in the wake of Prosecutor Courtney's investigation of the abortion racket. On April 17, Dr. Henry J. Millstone, facing arraignment in Felony court on a charge of conspiracy to commit abortion, killed himself with an overdose of a sleep inducing drug. On Wednesday, Millstone's bride, the former Emily Ranus, 30, who faced similar charges in Felony court May 6, committed suicide by poison.

Courtney, disillusioned and evidently deeply affected by Moriarity's confession, said that the policeman had "named other people."

"I'm going to the bottom of this business, no matter who is hurt," the prosecutor said. "There will be a thoro prosecution of everybody connected with it, whether employés of my office or not."

Tells of Getting $3,000.

According to the prosecutor, Moriarity said that he had been given the $3,000 a month ago by Mrs. Martin, whom he named as having kept him on her pay roll at $100 a month for the last three years as fixer for the abortion ring. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Josephine Kuder, receptionist in her office at 190 North State street, are to appear before Judge John F. Bolton in the Criminal court tomorrow on an indictment charging conspiracy to commit abortion.

The $3,000, Moriarity said, according to the state's attorney, was to be used to quash the case or insure a lame prosecution. But, with the investigation being extended almost daily, and with federal revenue agents joining an investigation of the income of Mrs. Martin and scores of physicians associated with the ring, the case became "so hot," as Moriarity put it, that he had no chance to use the bribe money.

Harassed daily by Mrs. Martin, worried about his own complicity, and finally threatened by Mrs. Martin that "if I go to prison I'm going to take some one else with me," Moriarity said, he became so distracted that, pacing the floor all night Monday, he made up his mind to kill his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Martin, and then himself as the only way out.

Moriarity went to the Martin home at 4367 Lake Park avenue, was admitted by the maid, Delia O'Malley, and walked upstairs to Mrs. Martin's bedroom. He did not know that Mrs. Martin and her daughter had exchanged rooms. Seeing a form in the bed, he drew his service revolver, emptied the gun at the sleeping figure, and then threw the roll of $3,000 onto the bed.

When he put the gun to his own head he found that he had fired all the bullets. Only after he was seized by a police squad did he discover that it was the daughter, and not Mrs. Martin, who had been killed.

Moriarity told Courtney, who was accompanied by Wilbert F. Crowley, his first assistant, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, the state's attorney's chief investigator, that he had first met Mrs. Martin between 1928 and 1930, when he was assigned to the Central station.

Gets Payment for "Fix."

"I put in a fix for her and afterward got a payment from her," Moriarity told Courtney. "From then on, the ring approached me from time to time to do things for them. When

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Declaring "we are in a very real sense at war," W. Gibson Carey Jr. warned tonight that the United States is following the path of France to disaster.

Carey is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which he addressed at a dinner closing the 29th annual meeting attended by more than 1,800 business leaders. He is president of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing company, New York.

"In broad outline the similarity of trends in America and France for some years must be startling," said Carey.

France Plagued by Burocrats.

"What were the causes of decay in France? Was it not divided by class consciousness, plagued by burocrats and overburdened by taxes and debt? Did it not emphasize the division of wealth rather than its production? Had it not as a state undertaken the support and security of its citizens rather than leaving this basic function to productive enterprise?

"And finally, in its hour of trial, did it conceive of its dangers? Perhaps—but it was too late—too late even to develop a patriotic self discipline sufficient to avoid strikes in airplane factories, when Germany was at the very gates of Paris."

Earlier in the day the chamber heard of the perils of inflation inherent in the huge arms program, which calls for the spending of inestimable billions of dollars. These differing viewpoints were expressed:

1. Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, indorsed the treasury's program for new taxes and limited borrowing as inflation curbs and urged deferment of durable goods purchases, such as automobiles, houses, etc.

2. Ellsworth C. Alvord, tax lawyer and chairman of the chamber's finance committee, assailed the treasury proposals for 3½ billion dollars in new taxes as "severe and unrealistic"; asked a reduction of 2 billions in nondefense spending, and urged increased nondefense production to halt inflation.

Lower Exemptions Urged.

Eccles, who has differed with the treasury on many occasions, expressed wholehearted support of the treasury policy of financing by two-thirds taxes and one-third borrowing, but made some additional suggestions.

Exemptions should be reduced further, he said, thereby spreading the tax base and increasing the number of taxpayers. "This is a more direct and equitable way of raising revenue from the lower income groups than by imposition of certain indirect excise and sales taxes," he asserted.

He condemned a general sales tax and said the most direct way to prevent inflation was thru heavy corporate and income taxation. Eccles favored excise taxes, however, on products that use resources needed for the armament program.

"The first source of defense revenue," said Eccles, "should be the corporation tax and the excess profits tax because, in general, corporations are the greatest beneficiaries, directly and indirectly, from defense expenditures."

This is also the most certain way to insure against inflation by stopping earnings before they are distributed, he said. The tax plan should also close loopholes in the gift and inheritance tax laws, he said.

"Similarly the setting up by corporations of annuity and pension plans which are charged to expense and provide large benefits to individuals in lieu of increasing salaries and paying bonuses, should not be permitted to become an avenue of tax avoidance," Eccles added.

Urges Curb on Time Purchases.

Excess bank reserves must be taken into required reserves probably at some future time, he asserted. He also recommended a registered short term issue [probably two years] paying interest semiannually at ½ to 1 per cent for investment by idle funds of corporations, wealthy individuals and trustees. In urging that the public be required to build a backlog of future consmers' requirements Eccles also suggested a curb on instalment buying, which carries inflationary implications, he said.

Alvord declared that additional taxes should not be imposed until nondefense expenditures are cut by at least 2 billions. Rigid control of prices and wages shoud be avoided, if possible, and production of goods and services expanded to avoid increases in living costs, he said, remarking that the overwhelming majority of the citizens still will be engaged in nonmilitary activities.

Alvord estimated that 2½ billions in new revenue could be raised as follows: [1] A flat increase in income taxes similar to the 10 per cent over all levy of 1940, to raise 1 billion, and [2] excise or sales taxes, or a small tax on gross salaries, about 1½ billions.

The chamber elected Albert W. Hawkes, president of Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., Kearny, N. J., president of the chamber, succeeding James S. Kemper, president of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company, Chicago. Hawkes was born in Chicago.

O'Brien Warns Convoys Would Peril Lives of 10 Million Boys

The convoying of munitions to England by our ships would be "a loaded gun pointed at the heart of American civilization and at the hearts of 10 million American boys," Prof. John A. O'Brien of the University of Notre Dame law school declared last night. He spoke before 1,500 persons at an America First rally in Orchestra hall, 222 South Michigan avenue.

"The American people," he said, "are sick at heart at the spectacle of an administration, elected on the platform of keeping us out of war, proceeding by every form of camouflage and indirection to drag us once again into the ever erupting volcanoes of European feuds and hatreds."

War Seeking Course Cited.

Dr. O'Brien declared that while 83 per cent of the people are opposed to our involvement in foreign war, the administration appears to be working to find an indirect way of setting off the explosion which will carry the war to this hemisphere.

"Are the American people going to sit idly by while an administration betrays its solemn pledges and sentences them to national suicide?" he asked. "If we are not craven cowards we will use our constitutional rights and thunder to Washington: 'This is a democracy. More than a hundred million American citizens want no war. We demand that you keep us out of this foreign war.'"

Dr. O'Brien then paid tribute to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who resigned his air corps commission a few days ago after President Roosevelt had by implication classified him as a "Copperhead."

Pays Tribute to His Courage.

"The feat of the Lone Eagle in charting his course across the Atlantic," Dr. O'Brien said, "has been surpassed by his courage in lighting the way for America thru the fog of the hysteria and the passions of war. His sole crime consists in asking America to look at the facts, the hard ugly facts that we cannot change the map of Europe with 'emotional rhetoric, empty guns, and unmanufactured bombing planes.'"

Dr. O'Brien referred to President Roosevelt's statement of Jan. 21 that "convoys will result in shooting and shooting comes pretty close to war."

"If that be true, Mr. President," he asked, "why do you not relieve the minds of the American people with the assurance that convoys will not be used?

"Why are you planning on sending American vessels 1,000 miles from our shores into waters lurking with death? Why must you go out 1,000 miles in search of a quarrel, trying to find some way to have an American vessel sunk and American sailors drowned? Will not the American people direct their indignation this time not against a foreign nation but against you for staging the incident? Will you not be the one who is really to blame for the deaths of these American boys?"

Warns Against War

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
Prof. John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame speaking at America First rally in Orchestra hall last night.

Dr. O'Brien closed by asserting that the "elderly men" in Washington will never get closer than 3,000 miles to a falling bomb. He urged that 10 million letters and telegrams be sent to the President and congress, pleading that this country be kept out of war.

Will County Chapter Set Up.

A strong Will county chapter of the America First committee is now being established with headquarters in Joliet, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the committee, announced last night. J. Henry Baird, 211 Nicholson street, Joliet, who heads the chapter, reports a membership of more than 500. Chapter units have been organized in Elwood and Wilmington, and in the latter town, workers on the munitions plant project are expected to enroll by the hundreds.

Prof. Charles S. Braden of Northwestern university will be the speaker at an America First rally at 4 p. m. Sunday in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue. Prof. Maynard C. Krueger of the University of Chicago will speak there on May 11 and Prof. A. Eustace Haydon, also of the University of Chicago, on May 18.

SENATE TO GET CHANCE TO VOTE ON CONVOY BAN

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Senate consideration of the Tobey anticonvoy resolution, despite the administration's success yesterday in consigning it to a foreign relations committee pigeon hole, was assured today.

Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] announced during another senate debate on the explosive convoy issue that his resolution will be offered as an amendment to the administration bill authorizing the seizure and transfer to Great Britain of German, Italian, Danish, and other foreign ships in American ports.

The ship seizure bill, which has been condemned by a minority report of the house merchant marine committee as a measure to plunge the country into a state of war, declared or undeclared, will come up in the house on Monday and the senate commerce committee is expected to report a companion bill later in the week.

Guffey Pleads for Convoys.

In the debate today an appeal for convoying by an administration yesman brought a charge by Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] that the administration is edging into a convoy policy and war.

Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.] delivered the convoy plea, the first to come from any 100 per cent New Dealer or from any member of the senate except the octogenarian Carter Glass [D., Va.], who frankly advocates war.

Guffey, whose speech obviously was written for him, took the war party "line" now being used by various interventionist groups in a hurricane of propaganda for convoys. He argued that a little shooting will not necessarily mean war and that, any way, we would be none the worse off.

Urges Delivery of Goods.

"The answer is that we must not permit Britain to fall, for fall of Britain is the requisite prelude to the disastrous sequence. So we must see to it that the cargoes on which, in all probability, the fate of England depends will reach her.

"If our navy went on convoy duty it would be performing no act of aggression on the Nazi sea raiders. If there was any shooting they would have to start it, and whatever action we took would be an action in defense.

"In any event, are we so careless of our national dignity, so doubtful of our strength and capacity, that we are going on forever being bluffed by Hitler, whose engagements elsewhere are more likely to forbid his inviting the vast powers of the United States to make common cause with his enemies than to bring us actively and totally into the fray?"

Taft Replies to Argument.

Senator Taft addressed himself to the interventionist argument that it is futile and foolish to manufacture billions of dollars worth of munitions and give them to England if we are not going to deliver them.

"If that argument were valid," Taft said, "it would go on to sending American boys to Europe, for surely what is the use of delivering that material to England if they do not have the men who are necessary to make it effective. That argument means sending boys to Europe and that argument means war."

Senator Tobey told the senate he would demand a roll call vote on his anticonvoy amendment to the ship seizure bill.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcer pains caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen, Stineway, Service, Fay and drug stores everywhere.

WARNS LABOR'S 'FALSE FRIENDS' WANT U. S. IN WAR

Wheeler Asserts Workers Would Do Fighting.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Haven, Conn., May 1.—False friends of labor are attempting to lead the nation on the road to war and dictatorship over the American workingman, Senator Burton K. Wheeler warned tonight. The Montana senator addressed a banquet meeting of the New Haven Central Labor council.

More than 350 of the city's leaders of American Federation of Labor unions, and a sprinkling of Congress of Industrial Organization officers, packed a local ballroom and gave the senator's remarks an enthusiastic response.

Carl G. Hoff, an official of the musicians local union and chairman of the gathering, observed that Senator Wheeler had drawn 100 more persons than Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins did to the same affair a year ago.

Workers Against War.

"The sentiments of the working people here in New Haven are overwhelming against our entry into the war," declared Hoff.

Added to this testimony was that of T. R. Johnson, the reporter for the Yale University Daily News, who sat at the press table.

"Our professors are all out for war, but the students are opposed," Johnson said.

Senator Wheeler derided the "campaign oratory" promises to keep the nation out of war made last year by the Republican nominee for President, Wendell Willkie. Then he read President Roosevelt's numerous antiwar pledges and urged all his hearers to let the nation's chief executive know in no uncertain terms they wanted them kept. The senator said he himself promised to keep his word to the "working people of Montana."

Come from All Sides.

"There are certain labor leaders—there are certain self-labeled friends of labor—who are urging a foreign policy that would take this nation down the road to war," asserted Senator Wheeler. "These false friends come from all sides of labor.

"They have permitted their emotions rather than their reason to govern their decisions—they have been entertained at pink teas in Washington—they have been given big jobs—their names are emblazoned upon the front pages of great metropolitan papers. They have forgotten the worker; that the cost of war bears most heavily upon the working people.

"Labor more than any other segment of American society is interested in peace. It has a greater stake in peace because it is labor which will do the fighting, the dying, and the paying.

"Labor leaders! The swank social cocktail parties may forget this, but the workers who will carry a—n, those who will feel cold steel, and those who will die know the enormous stake labor has in peace."

WILLKIE SEES U. S. FACING GREATER PERIL THAN IN '61

Elwood, Ind., May 1 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie returned tonight to the hometown scene of his notification of the 1940 Republican nomination for President and asserted America was in a more critical period than the civil war years.

"Some persons have questioned my attitude toward the present national administration," Willkie said at a Kiwanis club dinner.

"Obviously there are many things in the present administration that I disagree with, but I do not know whether you people in Elwood realize that the civil war did not present to America as critical a moment as is presented to it at this moment. It is a very serious question as to whether democracy can survive.

"If democracy fails in Europe and America becomes surrounded by totalitarian powers; if Hitler dominates all of Europe and all of Africa, and if, with Japan, he then dominates all of the orient, there is no man so able that we can preserve democracy within America. I personally would rather be dead than live under any system of government or economy that was not the democratic way."

ENVOY PREDICTS HITLER WILL FEEL JUGO-SLAV IRE

Jugo-Slavs will not long accept a "shameful compromise" in Europe, Constantin Alexander Fotich, Jugo-Slavian minister to the United States, predicted yesterday at his quarters in the Drake hotel. He is in Chicago to lecture for three days.

C. A. Fotich.

Asked if Hitler's empire might not crumble soon of its own weight, Fotich, a stocky, gray haired man, replied, "There is no country in Europe containing people on whom Hitler can depend, and most of them, like my people, will not accept a shameful compromise.

"I don't see how 70 million Germans—even with the aid of cheap politicians like Quisling—can rule 160 million other Europeans against their will."

Fotich addressed the Council on Foreign Relations yesterday and will launch a refugee relief program tonight in the Pilsen Park auditorium, 26th street and Albany avenue.

AILERONS LOST, PLANE IS FLOWN OVER ATLANTIC

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—Two Canadian flyers maneuvered a huge flying boat for six hours over the Atlantic after its ailerons had been torn off, and brought it safely into a British harbor in what the ministry of aircraft production said today was "one of the greatest epics of flying."

The ailerons [movable parts of the wing which provide lateral control] were ripped away by wind action after the robot pilot of the 15 ton patrol plane jammed.

Flight Lieutenant J. G. Fleming of Calgary and Flying Officer J. J. Meikle of Toronto, with two flight engineers and two civilian radio operators, were flying the Catalina [Consolidated] PBY flying boat from Bermuda at an altitude of 18,500 feet when the starboard aileron was lost. They plunged to 800 feet where the second aileron broke off and the balance of the plane was automatically restored.

Fleming and Meikle turned the machine gently from south to east, altho use of the rudder without lateral control might have sent the ship into a flat and fatal spin, and finally brought the plane down within three miles of the intended mooring.

LAMONT, ACTIVE INTERVENTIONIST, VISITS PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., May 1 [Special].—Thomas W. Lamont, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and recently extremely active in interventionist activities, was received at the White House today by President Roosevelt. Lamont said that he had merely paid his respects to the President and that they had discussed nothing of major importance.

Lamont, as representative of the foreign bondholders protective association, said in response to questions that a new proposal for settling the Mexican foreign debt had been presented to the Mexican government. He refused to discuss details of the proposition.

SAVE DEMOCRACY BY AVOIDING WAR, SAYS SEN. CLARK

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbia, Mo., May 1.—More than 1,800 students and townspeople in this University of Missouri community gathered tonight in Jesse auditorium and heard Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] plead for peace to preserve democracy.

Sen. Bennett C. Clark.

The audience applauded the speaker's statement that the greatest service the United States can render democracy is to avoid involvement in the European conflict. He urged the American people to throw off defeatism and use the right of petition to demand peace from the President.

Petitioned to Speak.

Thomas Todd of Kansas City, a university senior, introduced Senator Clark and lauded his campaign to keep America out of war. He pointed out that Clark, colonel during the last world war, a former national commander of the American Legion, and president of the National Guard association, was well prepared to discuss the question of war.

"We, more than any other age group, are affected by this question," said Todd. "The decision of the next few months may determine the course of our entire lives."

Todd was instrumental in bringing Senator Clark, who was graduated from Missouri in 1913 and who now has a son, Champ, enrolled as a freshman, back to the campus for tonight's talk. He circulated a petition, which quickly gathered 315 names, urging the senator to come to the Missouri campus to give his views on peace and war.

"If I had believed for one moment that the American frontier was on the Rhine, or that our first line of defense is or was the British navy, then as an American senator and as an American citizen I would scorn the idea of using the British as mercenaries, and of making ourselves hucksters of munitions and vital supplies to the saviors who are fighting our battles to preserve our liberties."

He said that if he believed the arguments that the British were fighting our battle, and that their pursuit of the game of power politics in Europe had made them the guardian of United States' safety, he would not pause at half measures.

Would Favor War "If."

"Tragic as the choice would be to me," said Senator Clark, "if I entertained any such belief I would unhesitatingly vote for a declaration of war, and I would do so with the full knowledge that the initial request for supplies and for gifts of munitions and credits would soon be followed by demands for man power—the 'man over 18,' as the original war department draft scheme puts it—the lads with the bayonets.

"If I believed that the British were fighting to protect us I would regard the gift of mere money or munitions no more honorable than hiring a substitute for military service. I would regard it as a national stultification, a national infamy.

"In such a case I would vote for war and be glad to march again myself as I have done before."

CONFLICT GROWS MORE VIOLENT IN MIDDLE EAST

Attacks May Be Prelude to Big Axis Drive.

The war in the Mediterranean assumed more violent proportions yesterday. Hard axis blows were struck at various points over an extensive front, but the exact purpose of the activity remained obscure. Some observers, however, interpreted it as a German and Italian attempt to lay the groundwork for a tremendous attack aimed at the Suez canal, vital water link between Great Britain and her empire outposts.

Details of the various actions as reported by the Associated Press and other news agencies follow:

AFRICA.

German shock troops cracked the outer defenses of Tobruk, Libya, after an all night battle launched with the hope of wiping out that British threat to the axis drive in North Africa. German tanks led the way in the action, which was continuing late last night.

The Germans had swept past Tobruk on April 8 in the surprise drive that rolled the British back from Bengazi. A Tobruk in British hands constitutes a dangerous wedge in the side of axis communications, already considered tenuous enough because of the 800 miles to the major German-Italian base at Tripoli.

The British fleet, to relieve pressure on the Tobruk garrison, turned its big guns on axis troop and supply trucks moving along the coastal road at Ain el Gazala, 30 miles west of Tobruk. The bombardment was described as "successful."

The Hungarian radio, heard in New York, said reports received in Budapest indicated there now were 50,000 Germans in Libya.

CRETE.

German bombers blasted at ships in Suda harbor on the Greek Island of Crete, damaging a tanker and two large merchant ships. Crete, home of the refugee Greek government and a British naval base, is only 200 miles from North Africa. Germans discussed the "vulnerability" of the island.

MALTA.

German dive bombers subjected the British naval base to its third ferocious assault in three nights Wednesday. Extensive damage to shops, hotels, and churches was acknowledged by the British. The Italians, who participated in the attacks, said a large part of the harbor of Valetta has been "reduced to a mass of débris." Fascist torpedo boats also attacked a British convoy, claiming hits on a cruiser and big destroyer.

IRAQ.

The British from London announced that additional forces had been landed at Basra, Iraq, to guard the rich Mosul oil fields and to stand as a barrier to any German drive at Suez thru Asia Minor.

The additional troops were landed over the opposition of the new Iraq government, and in face of Iraq army concentrations, which, the British feared, were threatening the British air base at Habanniyah, on the Euphrates. The base is 60 miles west of Bagdad. The British demanded the removal of the Iraq forces from the vicinity.

The initial British imperial force was landed in Iraq on April 17 and 18. The new Iraq government, the British said, protested against the landing of reënforcements on the ground that the men previously landed had not yet passed thru the country.

The British, however, insisted that the Iraq-British treaty entitled Britain to maintain as many troops in Iraq as she considers necessary to keep empire communication lines open.

TURKEY.

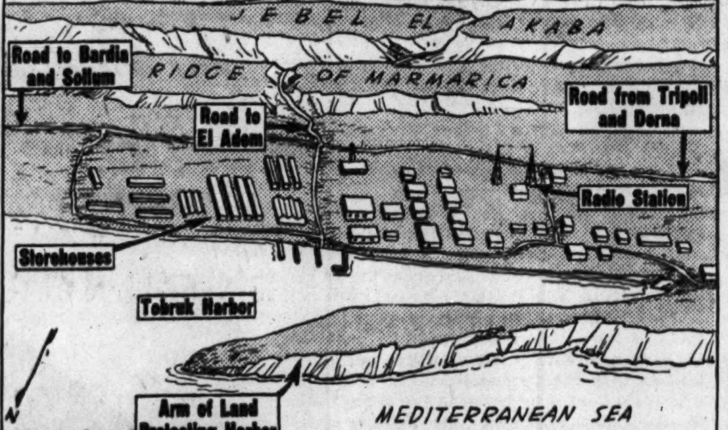
Considerable Russian troop movements, involving withdrawals from far eastern regions and concentrations on the soviet-Iran [Persia] border were reported by diplomatic sources in Ankara. Imminence of the war's extension to the middle eastern area was generally considered to be increasing.

Germany was declared to be withdrawing a large part of her Balkan armies from Greece and Jugo-Slavia and reconcentrating them in Bulgaria and Rumania. From these positions, the Germans were said to be in a position to threaten both Turkey and Russia.

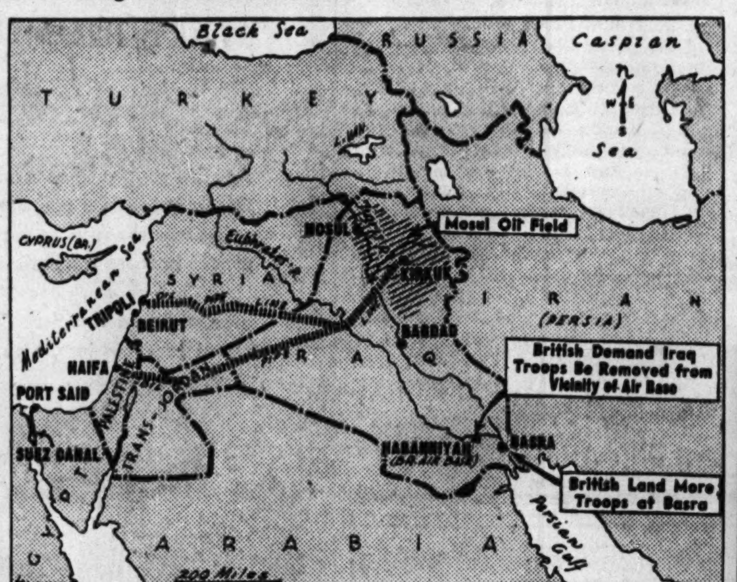
Indications in Ankara were that Turkey is gradually submitting to increased German pressure and may eventually allow the free passage of German troops and mechanized materials to attack Syria and Trans-Jordan for a drive on Suez from the east.

Developments in Spreading War

(Story in adjoining column.)



Map of Tobruk, Libya, as it appears from the sea. German troops yesterday cracked the outer defenses of the city, where the British have been making a stubborn stand.



Captions on this map indicate developments yesterday in Britain's effort to protect her oil supply in the middle east. Extent of the important Mosul field and its pipelines is shown.

REPORT RUSSIAN ENVOY LEAVES TURK CAPITAL

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 30 [Delayed] (AP).—The soviet ambassador to Turkey was reported today to have left the Turkish capital [Ankara] for an undisclosed destination.

The embassy refused to confirm or deny his departure, while Turkish political quarters attached much importance to the report that a large number of German troops had landed in Finland.

The reported departure of the ambassador lent support to the belief in some quarters that the Turks and Russians are in close consultation on the possibility of a Nazi attack on either or both.

BRITAIN CALLS ON U. S. TO FREEZE ASSETS OF AXIS

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 1.—The British government is trying to bring the United States into line with its own policy in the economic phase of the war—a phase in which, according to the British, the United States could spring into immediate action by coöperating on its blacklist of concerns trading with the axis and by boycotting axis trade in every way.

Specifically, the British suggest that there are two ways in which the United States could at once combine with Britain to strangle the axis economically. First, as Hugh Dalton, minister of economic warfare, said todays, the United States could freeze all German and Italian assets in the United States.

Says It's Not Enough.

Already, of course, the United States has frozen all assets of countries that have fallen to the conquering march of the German army. But, according to Dalton, that is not enough. He said that the Germans and the Italians still wielded assets in the United States with which they were able to make purchases and run the blockade.

Dalton said the Germans and the Italians had expected long ago that these assets would be frozen and therefore had taken steps to cloak them. Actual freezing now might not be the most useful procedure, he said, because most axis funds are probably held in dummy names—Swiss, Swedish, or South American. If the United States does decide to freeze the assets, it would be necessary, the British believe, to establish a system whereby this sort of financial veil could be torn aside.

An alternative, as the British see it, is for American banks and investment houses to refuse to hold accounts, transfer funds, or deal in securities in cases where they believe there might be some benefit to Germany.

Axis Controled Firms.

The second point on which the British believe the United States could give them much more aid is the question of axis controled concerns in the United States.

Several such concerns were named by Dalton as having been carefully organized before the outbreak of the war to supply the requirements of German subsidiaries in South America when German supplies should be choked off by blockade.

CHINESE CHEER F. D. R. TRIBUTE, SENT THRU SON

CHUNGKING, China, May 1 (AP).—Capt. James Roosevelt of the marine corps wound up a crowded day as guest of honor tonight at a dinner given by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. During the day he attended a farewell party given Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson by the Chinese People's Foreign Relations association and received an ovation when he said, "I convey my father's heartfelt best wishes to each and every one of you." Johnson is leaving China to become minister to Australia.

CROATIA—A PART OF AXIS DESIGN FOR NEW EUROPE

Eyewitness Reveals Some of the Changes.

BY MAX HARRELSON.

ZAGREB, Croatia, April 30 [Delayed] (AP).—Croatia, the newest state in Adolf Hitler's new Europe, may be an unknown quantity to the rest of the world, but to those who saw it created from the inside there is no doubt that it is patterned to fit squarely into the axis design.

A new government sympathetic to Germany and Italy was proclaimed almost the same instant that German armored cars sped into Zagreb on April 10—four days after the attack on Jugo-Slavia began.

As the only foreign correspondent stationed at Zagreb, I saw the process, but was unable to tell the story until now.

One Political Party.

Some evidences of the character of the new Croat state which I saw concerned politics and action against Jews.

There is one political organization—Ustachi—and that has certain rights and functions which are correlated with the regular civil administration. Dr. Ante Pavelitch is head of this organization and is chief of the new state.

It has already become evident that the new government will be as severe as the Nazis in dealing with Jews. Among the measures already put in effect is a decree prohibiting them from entering coffee houses, restaurants, and hotels. In addition, a score of shops in Zagreb posted signs saying Jews were not allowed.

Lawyers Arrested.

On the morning of April 29 all Jewish lawyers were arrested and taken away. On the following morning there appeared in many shop windows signs with the word "Jew" stenciled in large yellow letters. Authoritative quarters said other measures could be expected.

On the other hand, there were other features on the new state which were not so clear.

For instance, its geography has not been determined and it has not been disclosed just how far Croatia might participate in the future war efforts of Germany and Italy.

It is believed the new state will include about 5,000,000 persons, roughly one third the population of Jugo-Slavia. It will have its own army and will handle foreign relations thru its own diplomatic corps.

Singing Star

Gloria Gilbert, who sang on In Chicago Tonight program on W-G-N and Mutual network last night.

W-G-N's popular variety program, In Chicago Tonight, was heard last night for the final time until fall. After a summer off the air, it will resume its presentations of the nation's leading entertainers.

Stars on the "Au Revoir" program included the all-girl "Vochestra," directed by Bill Hunt; the Berrys, a girls' trio; Art Jarrett, singing band leader; Gloria Gilbert, Chicago songstress who is soloist with Dick Shelton's orchestra, and John Hoysradt, comedy impressionist, who is appearing at the Drake hotel. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N dance orchestra provided the musical backdrop and William A. Bacher produced the show.

BRITISH RAID KIEL, EMDEN, HAMBURG AND BERLIN AREA

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—German guns on the French coast hurled big explosive shells briefly across the misty strait into the Dover area again tonight as bad visibility apparently kept Nazi air activity to a minimum.

Despite stormy weather, particularly over the continent, the British air ministry reported that strong British bomber forces conducted overnight attacks on the German naval base at Kiel, on Hamburg's industrial center, on the port of Emden, and on targets in the Berlin area.

In a report on April offensive and defensive operations, the British said Germany had lost 113 planes and Britain 106.

BERLIN, May 1 (AP).—German warplanes patroling British waters were reported today to have bombed a destroyer and left it in a sinking condition late yesterday.

The high command reported the sinking by planes of a 1,000 ton freighter off the east coast of Scotland, the damaging of two other freighters, and the sinking by submarine of a 7,000 ton steamer.

Brave, but Tied Together with Strings!

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 1.—Jugo-Slavia collapsed in 10 days because the Germans were powerful, but still more because the country was hopelessly unprepared and disorganized.

The Jugo-Slav army was tied together with string, in many cases quite literally. It was a horse and ox drawn army, a pretty good 1914 army on the whole, but not good enough for the job it tried to do.

That in a nutshell is the answer to the question every one pops at a new arrival from Belgrade. The full details will not be available for a long while. People emerging from Jugo-Slavia, where they were cut off for three weeks from all outside communication, were astonished at the world's ignorance at what went on, but actually those inside did not know much more, and that includes high officers.

Communications Disrupted.

Gradually the story is being pieced together. The main elements of the rapid Jugo-Slav collapse were:

1. The complete disruption of communications.

2. The secrecy inspired by the fear of spies, which added to every one's ignorance of what every one else was trying to do.

3. Unpreparedness, due to the old government's policy of trying to temporize with Germany, to overconfidence in the power of the stouthearted soldiery, and to incomprehension of German tactics.

The Jugo-Slavs had no plan of campaign, and no first line or second line ever was planned. The telegraph lines would suddenly stop working without anybody knowing whether they had been cut by the Germans or whether the operators simply had fled.

When we heard heavy firing only five or six miles away the army officer commanding the town could not find out where the fighting was.

Can't Find Headquarters.

A lieutenant colonel arrived trying to find the corps headquarters to which he was attached, and the nearest division commander could not tell him where it was.

Unable to find out what really was happening, everybody in the towns where electricity still was available listened to German broadcasts and lost heart at the reports.

Besides disorganization and ignorance, the shortage of modern arms and equipment was a serious factor. Many soldiers actually had their packs tied together with bits of string and their canteens hung on bits of rope. They had old British or French equipment. I saw helmets patched where they had been punctured.

The only tanks I ever saw—the only kind the Jugo-Slavs had—were ancient Renaults, already shown to be obsolete in the Spanish war. I never saw a Jugo-Slav plane from the moment the war began.

Incompetent Drivers.

Most of the transport was drawn by horses or oxen. The motor transport was a heterogeneous assortment and most of the drivers were incompetent.

From past visits to Jugo-Slavia I knew the supreme confidence of the Serbs that their infantry could deal with any army. As the Poles answered all questions about defense by calling attention to the fine Polish cavalry, the Serbs relied on the brave peasant soldiers with rifle and bayonet.

The mechanized column that smashed its way thru to Skoplje by the second day of the war shook the Serbian confidence more than anything else. They said they expected a Croat defection, yet that, too, shook them and they had no setup for defending themselves against an attack from the north after the Croats turned.

THREE IN COMMONS PROPOSE PEACE ON A SOCIALISTIC BASIS

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—Three Independent Labor members of parliament today offered a resolution in the house of commons calling for replacement of the present cabinet by a "national government" which would "appeal to the peoples of Europe under the Nazi rule to support peace on a basis of a socialist Europe."

The resolution was in the form of an amendment to the resolution proposed by Prime Minister Churchill of confidence in the government's policy in Greece, the near east, and its conduct of the war generally. This is to be debated next week.

The amendment proposed that "what has happened in Greece repeated what happened in Norway prior to the formation of the present government" and that this was "another indication of the disastrous development of the war."

Ther are only three members of the Independent Labor party in the house of commons. They are James Maxton, John McGovern, and Campbell Stephen.

Brockton, Mass., May 1 (AP).—James B. Simmons, 26 years old, who filled Brockton's Negro quota for selective service, had a one-man parade in his honor today. He marched to the railroad station behind a band and was followed by "floats" in the form of decorated dump trucks sent by the city ash collection board, for which he worked.

German Battles Police, Delays Liner at Manila

MANILA, P. I., May 1 (AP).—Departure of the steamship President Pierce for the United States was delayed an hour tonight while Hermann Vogel, 26, identified by police as a German national, battled two immigration officers and seven policemen in attempting to avoid deportation as an undesirable alien. Vogel finally was subdued and placed aboard ship. He will be removed by immigration authorities when the vessel reaches San Francisco.

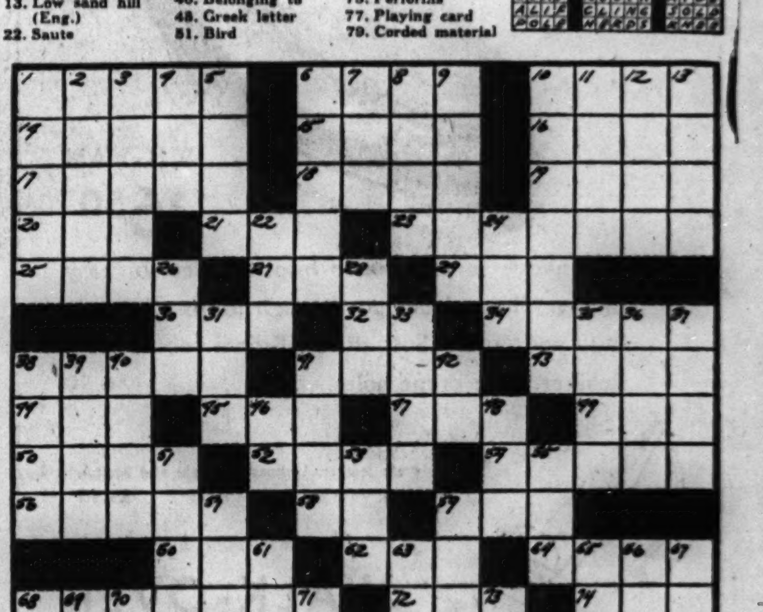
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, MAY 1, SOLVED.



BRITAIN NAMES BEAVERBROOK AS ECONOMIC CZAR

minister, was named high commissioner to Australia.

Leathers was raised to the peerage and membership in the privy council, which means he will sit in the house of lords, instead of commons.

Other changes included a trade of jobs between Col. J. J. Llewellin and Frederick Montague. Llewellin will become parliamentary secretary for the ministry of transport and Montague will be parliamentary secretary for the ministry of aircraft production.

Some circles believed creation of Beaverbrook's new position might indicate he is to be regarded as Churchill's successor should he leave as prime minister.

See Step to New Type Cabinet.

Altho Churchill repeatedly has rejected any suggestion of revising the composition of the war cabinet, today's shakeup is regarded as a step which many M. P.s have been demanding—a cabinet composed of members free from routine responsibilities, thus able to direct their energies to planning the war effort.

The war cabinet now contains four members without direct departmental tasks: Beaverbrook, Lord Privy Seal Clement Attlee, Lord President of the Council Sir John Anderson, and Minister Without Portfolio Arthur Greenwood.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood, and Churchill are the other members of the war cabinet.

Vote of Confidence Near.

Announcement of the changes came from No. 10 Downing street [Churchill's office] almost on the eve of a two day debate in commons on the war situation in which Churchill will seek a vote of confidence.

There was some uncertainty in the press regarding the exact meaning of Beaverbrook's new position. His own paper, the Daily Express, said he will "devote himself to general direction of war policy."

Beaverbrook is known as one of the most dynamic men in Britain. He was born William Maxwell Aitken, on May 25, 1879, at Vaughan, Ont., Canada, the son of a Scottish minister. His public school education at Newcastle, N. B., was the limit of his formal schooling.

5 Millions Before He Was 30.

He sold newspapers and insurance, and then worked in a bank. Before he was 30 years old he amassed a fortune of $5,000,000 in cement, timber, power, and banking.

He came to England in 1910 and met Bonar Law. With Law's help he was elected to parliament and there established his friendship with Churchill. Beaverbrook went to France in 1914 as Britain's observer of the Canadian army, but returned to England to maneuver the formation of the Bonar Law-David Lloyd George coalition which made Lloyd George prime minister.

As a reward, Sir Max [knighted in 1911] was made a peer, assuming the title of Baron Beaverbrook in 1917.

Beaverbrook became minister of information in 1918, but never held public office again until the current crisis called him back.

Beaverbrook's first big move after becoming minister of aircraft production last July was to merge Britain's two largest airplane plants, Nuffield and Vicker's Supermarine, despite the protests of their owners. He won a 7 day week from labor. Within a month he doubled aircraft production over the corresponding month of 1939.

In the newspaper field, besides the Daily Express, Beaverbrook publishes the Evening Standard and the Sunday Express.

Leathers is the first man ever put in control of the entire British shipping and transport services, including railroads, ports, and highways. Little known in the political world, he was on the directorates of 49 shipping and coal companies thruout the world, and recently was an expert advisor to the shipping ministry.

Brabazon a Pioneer Flyer.

Moore-Brabazon was a pioneer aviator and motorist. He holds the No. 1 certificate for English civilian pilots and was the first Englishman actually to fly, covering 500 yards in the air exactly 32 years ago in a machine built by the Short brothers.

During the last war he served in the royal flying corps and made big developments in aerial photography. A strong advocate of bombing Berlin, he recently said:

"We want bigger and better bombers, to give the Germans not a smack in the eye, but a damn good clout."

Cabinet Changes

Canada Bans Publication of French Language Paper

OTTAWA, Ont., May 1 (AP).—Publication of the French language monthly newspaper La Droite of Ottawa has been prohibited under the defense of Canada regulations as being "prejudicial to the safety of the state and the efficient prosecution of the war," the government announced today. The paper has been published by Ernest Drolet.

STORY OF BRITISH ARMY'S ESCAPE FROM GERMANS!

nels strewn with German air borne mines.

Arriving at Crete by noon, we found our port there under steady German and Italian air attack. I saw one ship go down in seven minutes, but our own was not touched.

Crete will be defended, and the rugged island, with snowcapped peaks and scarcely any level ground, lends itself to defense. A British general told me it could and would be held, and the Greeks agreed.

The crew of our Greek ship did not want to go further, so most of the refugees were taken to a camp ashore. The Australians and I stayed aboard for another day, then came on to Egypt on an oil tanker.

Problems for British.

The problem of British troops in Greece was complicated by the fact that Greece had only two harbors with facilities for unloading heavy British materials. These were Piraeus, adjoining Athens, and Salonika. Salonika fell early into German hands and Piraeus was quickly wrecked by German bombs.

This prevented landing of any more effective aid and it was decided to withdraw the British expeditionary forces with their comparatively low casualties up to that time rather than try to continue holding back a German force of at least 30 divisions [at least 300,000 men.]

Orderly Withdrawal.

When the decision to retreat was made the British had just installed themselves on the so-called Thermopylae line, an elliptical front running from Thermopylae on the Aegean to a point near the ancient oracle of Delphi on the Gulf of Corinth.

The withdrawal to this line had been most orderly, despite terrific and constant German air attacks.

I was in the withdrawal with British, Australian, and New Zealand troops falling back in their vehicles behind covering forces. They were somewhat chastened by the fury of the German attacks which drove them from the Mount Olympus line, but still were grimly determined to defend the new positions.

It had been planned to make an intermediate stand north of Lamia, but this was abandoned primarily because of the danger of Germans landing airplane troops and parachutists on the plain just to the south.

Parachutists Seize Bridge.

The Germans did use air borne troops, but did not succeed in landing them behind the British lines. They resorted to parachutists later to grab the single bridge over the Corinthian canal to keep the British from blowing it up, and also landed troops by plane in the Peloponnesus later.

This speeded up their penetration of southern Greece, but it had little effect on the British, who by that time had mostly withdrawn.

Thermopylae itself, which is a shelf of land between the cliffs and the sea, was filled with barbed wire and tank traps. We tarried there long enough to bathe in the hot springs from which the place takes its name—the Hot Gates.

Strong positions were taken up on the main road farther west, and other British imperial troops dug in on the rugged mountains which formed the rest of the line.

Held by Covering Parties.

But no great "modern battle of Thermopylae" ever was fought. Instead, the pass was held merely by covering parties for the evacuation line.

The German air attacks on all the roads were so heavy that most of the withdrawals were by night. The nights of April 22 and 23 were moonless. This, together with the fact that the earlier Olympus withdrawals were achieved on two rainy nights which kept the Germans out of the air, was of tremendous importance to the British.

Some British troops got to the beach of the Evvoia [Euboea] channel south of Khalkis and were picked up by small boats. Others were taken off at many points along the Aegean coast. The bulk of the army cut across Attica to the Megara-Mandara region.

Here heavy bombings indicated that the Germans suspected their presence, so instead of embarking there they moved by night across the Corinthian canal that bisects the isthmus, and reached the shores of the eastern Peloponnesus, mainly on the gulf of Argos.

There the biggest embarkment took place the nights of April 24 and April 27.

URGES CITIZENS RALLY AGAINST WAR IN CAPITAL

New York, May 1 [Special].—Warning that the Roosevelt administration is leading the nation step by step down the road to war, John T. Flynn, national chairman of the Keep America Out of War congress, today issued a call for Americans to converge on Washington during the Memorial day week-end for a national antiwar demonstration.

The first national antiwar rally sponsored by the congress was held in Washington in 1938, and was attended by more than 1,200 persons from all parts of the country.

Flynn asserted that only one out of five Americans approves of the lightly disguised war policy.

ARMY PLANS SIX MOTORIZED AND 6 ARMOR DIVISIONS

Hopes to Complete Them Within 14 Months.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—The army plans to continue the drive to motorize and mechanize its fighting forces by adding five motorized divisions and two armored divisions in the fiscal year which is to begin July 1, it was learned today.

The army now has one motorized streamlined division in development and four armored divisions are in process of organization. The armored division is patterned after the famous German panzer divisions, which paved the way for the conquests of Poland, Norway, Holland, Belgium, France, Jugo-Slavia and Greece.

Nazis Have 20 Divisions.

The United States army has four armored divisions, two comprising the 1st armored corps, at Fort Knox, Ky., and two comprising the 2d armored corps at Fort Benning, Ga. The two new divisions will comprise the 3d armored corps and will be created at Camp Polk, La.

Germany is believed to have 20 panzer divisions in her army of some 260 divisions. The Nazis had 10 panzer divisions at the outbreak of the war and have doubled the number since Sept. 1, 1939. The Nazis used no more than five panzer divisions in breaking into France and are believed to have employed no more than six in the Balkans.

The German and American fast moving and hard hitting divisions are somewhat similar in composition, because the American organization was patterned after the successful Nazi units. The American divisions are still in a state of development and changes are being made constantly.

Contains 3,000 Vehicles.

The German panzer division is organized into three echelons, containing some 14,000 officers and men and 3,000 vehicles as follows:

A ground holding echelon made up of:

A motorized infantry regiment of two battalions on six-wheeled vehicles. Each battalion has five companies—three armed with light and heavy machine guns and two with mortars, heavy machine guns and antitank guns. A regiment of 105 mm. howitzers.

Three Engineer Companies.

An antitank battalion of three companies with 12 37 mm. or larger caliber guns.

The American division is similar in organization, contains the same number of vehicles and about 12,000 officers and men. While the organization of the armored division is changing its weapons and vehicles include about 400 tanks, 300 scout cars, 400 motorcycles, 200 motor tricycles, 1,000 trucks, 500 machine guns, 26 37 mm. antitank guns, 36 105 mm. howitzers, 40 mortars.

Most of the motorcycles will be replaced in time by the low-slung, fast four wheel drive "jeep" cars. These machines may be the answer to the army's search for a defense against tanks as they will be able to swarm about tanks like ants about a beetle to put the tanks out of battle. The "jeep" can tow and may carry a mounted antitank weapon.

14,000 Officers and Men.

Three infantry regiments, one reconnaissance battalion, one antitank battalion, one pioneer battalion, one signal battalion and divisional artillery, consisting of three battalions of 105 mm. howitzers, one battery of 105 mm. guns and one battery of 150 mm. howitzers.

The American motorized streamlined division is similar in organization, containing about 14,000 officers and men and 3,000 vehicles. The armament of the American unit includes 288 machine guns, 162 automatic rifles, 5,076 semiautomatic rifles, 8 75 mm. antitank guns, 36 37 mm. antitank guns, 36 105 mm. howitzers, 12 155 mm. howitzers and 117 mortars.

Seeks Divorce

[Acme Photo.]

MRS. GWLADYS WHITNEY.

Stuart, Fla., May 1 (AP).—Circuit Clerk J. R. Pomeroy said today that Mrs. Gwladys Hopkins Whitney has filed suit for divorce against Cornelius V. Whitney of New York.

The complaint was filed April 19, Pomeroy disclosed, and an answer was made April 24. A special master, T. T. Oughterson of Stuart, was appointed on the latter date. Pomeroy said the text of Mrs. Whitney's complaint was not available here.

CHURCHILL HAILS PRESS AS SOURCE OF LEADERSHIP

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—The British public looks to its newspapers for leadership in times of crisis, Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today at a luncheon celebrating the 50th anniversary of the appointment of Sir Emsley Carr as editor of the Sunday News of the World.

"I think it is most satisfactory to members of the profession to realize," said the prime minister, "that when things were perhaps not at their very best in this country the people and parliament did not look to the leaders of parties, nor demagogues, nor great manufacturers, nor business men—it was to journalism they turned for one who they supposed might give them some chance of emerging from their embarrassment."

'HAMS' PROTEST USE OF NAME FOR ACCUSED PEORIAN

They Recall 'Nazi' Was Unlicensed.

Licensed amateur radio operators in Illinois protested almost in a body yesterday against applying the designation of "ham" to Charles W. Johnson, 21 years old, of Peoria, who is held there for federal grand jury action. He is charged with breaking in on government frequencies with representations that he was a Nazi agent in quest of American military secrets.

Proud of Status.

The protest pointed out that licensed amateur operators are "hams," and that Johnson, who admittedly is unlicensed, is therefore not a "ham." The "hams" in particular didn't like press description of Johnson as "only a ham." They assert that their status is one to be proud of.

There are 15,000 "hams" and their term for such an unlicensed operator as Johnson is "bootlegger."

Held in $2,000 Bond.

Johnson, a former student at Bradley institute in Peoria, who has been taking a correspondence course from a Chicago electrical engineering school, is held in $2,000 bond on charges of violating the federal communications act. The radio transmitter found in his home was confiscated.

Johnson, altho apparently engaged in a practical joke, is liable to two years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 if convicted. He used no call letters, but termed himself "Fritz" in sending, frequently ending his transmissions with "Heil Hitler."

CAMP EDWARDS LUMBER PRICES ARE UNDER FIRE

Congressman Questions 'Excess Costs.'

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Representative Albert J. Engel [R., Mich.] said today there was "an unexplained excess cost" of lumber at Camp Edwards, Mass., amounting to $3 per 1,000 feet.

This "unexplained" amount, Engel stated in a report to the house, applied to 26,000,000 feet of lumber purchased for camp construction "by the contractors."

34,000,000 Feet Purchased.

In a report on his inspection of Camp Edwards made last March 15, Engel, a member of the house appropriations subcommittee on military affairs, stated that the army had purchased 34,000,000 feet of lumber for $41.10 per 1,000 feet, but that the contractors listed the price for the 26,000,000 feet they purchased at $46 per thousand.

"Army officials informed me," Engel continued, "that the price had come down" since the army purchases.

"The contractor's representative informed me they had a subcontract whereby the subcontractor hauled the lumber from the railhead to the job for $1.85 per thousand. This would leave $3 a thousand still unexplained," Engel said.

Engel also declared army officials were responsible for the delivery of thousands of feet of lumber before construction ever was undertaken at the cantonment.

Camp Cost Is 20 Million.

"Lumber had to be moved before sewer lines and water lines could be constructed. It was impossible to proceed with sewer and water lines until after the buildings were more or less complete," he continued.

"It was impossible to begin to compute the extra cost of moving and removing this lumber, of the delay in putting in utilities and the handicap placed upon the contractor because of the method by which this lumber was rushed to the job."

The cost of the camp, 29 million dollars, he added, was 300 per cent above the original estimate of $7,240,462, but the facilities of the completed camp would be only 22 per cent greater than was planned at the time of the original cost estimate.

ASKS $17,955,176 FOR UNIVERSITY IN SENATE BILL

Springfield, Ill., May 1 [Special].—The University of Illinois biennial appropriation bill was introduced in the senate today by Senator Everett R. Peters [R., St. Joseph]. The measure calls for $17,955,176 which is about $500,000 higher than the sum earmarked for it by Gov. Green and the budgetary commission. For the current biennium, $17,131,536 was appropriated.

It had been anticipated that the university trustees would disregard the budget figure in their bill, since they have been accustomed to doing so for several sessions and altho they occasionally are cut down, or suffer item vetoes at the hands of the governor, they have emerged with more funds than the budget makers thought they should have.

U. OF WISCONSIN ROTC TRAINING RESTORED BY LAW

Madison, Wis., May 1.—Gov. Julius P. Heil today signed a bill restoring two year compulsory military training at the University of Wisconsin, where it had been abolished in 1923.

State Senator Taylor G. Brown, author of the measure, said it was "not intended to promote war or to stir war hysteria, but to protect and defend democracy."

Anticipating difficulty in obtaining military equipment, a resolution was introduced in the legislature today which would permit a year's delay in resuming the training. It was indicated, however, that the ROTC would be given a start next fall.

Chicago Student to Get Medal for ROTC Work

Urbana, Ill., May 1 [Special].—James H. Fisher, 3628 Wilton avenue, Chicago, has been named the winner of the university gold medal as the best second year ROTC basic course student in the University of Illinois brigade. Bradford G. Blount, 723 Lincoln avenue, Evanston, will receive the Hazelton award, presented annually to the best first-year basic corps student. The awards will be presented to the winners at military day ceremonies on May 22.

The smaller picture shows Chicago's city hall and gives its measurements. The enlargement shows the comparison in the number of cubic feet which equal 2,000,000 tons of shipping that President Roosevelt has ordered for Britain. EXPENSES DRAIN FUNDS GATHERED FOR 'WAR RELIEF'

U. S. Reports Expose Vast Wastage.

New York, May 1 [Special].—How mushrooming "war relief" organizations of various categories are siphoning hundreds of thousands of dollars from contributors, altho in some cases virtually the entire amount of collections is charged off to administration, "publicity," and other expense, was disclosed today in a United States state department report made public here.

Based on statements filed with it by all organizations engaged in soliciting and collecting funds for relief in belligerent countries, the report showed that in one specific case expenditures classified as for "administration, publicity, etc.," equaled 98 per cent of the funds collected. Only 2 per cent admittedly was expended for the "war relief" purpose for which the money was contributed.

Other Glaring Cases Cited.

The report cited two other glaring cases in which overhead consumed more than 90 per cent of war relief funds contributed, another case in which the figure was 80 per cent, two others consuming about 60 per cent, and several more in which the overhead ratio was more than 40 per cent.

All such organizations are required to register with the state department and report contributions collected and disbursed under provisions of the neutrality act of 1939. The report covers the period from Sept. 6, 1939, thru March, 1941.

In all more than 300 organizations are active in collecting war relief funds, most of them centered in New York, where the war psychosis flourishes under the influence of interventionist groups.

Should Not Exceed 25 Per Cent.

Overhead costs for such groups ordinarily should not run more than 25 per cent, according to the National Information bureau, which investigates national and international agencies engaged in philanthropic, social, and civic work.

The bureau reported it found the British War Relief society and the Greek War Relief association, two of the largest, keep their costs down to 8 and 4 per cent, respectively. The British American Ambulance corps holds its overhead to 12 per cent, it was reported.

Setting the pace with high administrative costs, according to the state department report, is the War Relief Association of American Youth, Inc., which collected $1,212, spent nothing in Britain [the purported destination of funds], had $10 unexpended balance on March 31, and reported expenditures of $1,051, or 98 per cent, for overhead. This group, founded early in February, now has closed up shop. It used the name of Mrs. James Roosevelt as chairman for one entertainment.

80 Per Cent for Overhead.

The United Fund for Refugee Children, organized in September, 1939, for relief work in Poland, France, and England, was listed as receiving $8,122, sending $1,640 in the countries named, and expending $6,481, or 80 per cent, on overhead.

According to the report, the Spanish Refugee Relief campaign, also organized in September, 1939, to receive contributions for work in France, received $41,403, spent $14,454 in France, and spent $24,926.23 for overhead. In addition to its money collections, the organizations also sent contributions in kind to France of an estimated value of $16,486, bringing the apparent overhead down to about 40 per cent.

An organization known as Parcels for the Forces, organized in October, 1940, to send shipments to Britain, was listed as receiving $50,781, sending $32,907 abroad in relief, and spending $23,121—or 46 per cent—of receipts on expenses.

The League of American Writers, organized in May, 1940, for relief in France, England, Poland, and Norway, was listed as receiving $3,744, sending $2,292 abroad, and spending $1,452, or 39 per cent.

WEAK, TIRED PEOPLE

Here's Important News That May Make a Big Difference in Your Life

Sensational New Tonic Supplies Vital Substances Often Lacking in Diet

ARE you one of those people who are not sick, yet seldom feel your best? Are you frequently tired and so dragged out life hardly seems worth living? Are you inclined to feel nervous and irritable; appetite poor? If the reason is that you're not getting enough iron and Vitamin B_1 and G, here's thrilling news.

One of the foremost laboratories of the country has developed a tonic called Pursin for people in such condition. A remarkable preparation which works two basic ways to help nature build up strength and energy.

First, Pursin is rich in iron. And you know how important it is for your system to get sufficient iron. Second, Pursin contains precious Vitamins B_1 and G. These vitamins help stimulate appetite—aid digestion—promote better assimilation. That's why you eat more and get more good from the foods you eat.

If you are feeling below par because your system may lack sufficient iron or Vitamins B_1 and G, do this. Go to your drug store today and ask for Pursin. Take it regularly and see if it doesn't help you feel joyfully alert again. A McKesson Product.

U. S. PURCHASING PRIVATE PLANES TO GIVE BRITAIN

50 Big Oil Tankers Also Made Ready to Go.

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—In response to a request by President Roosevelt commercial air lines and private citizens tonight placed a "substantial number" of transport type aircraft at the service of Britain in her struggle against the axis powers.

This move followed by a few hours a government announcement that 50 big American tankers were being made ready to carry oil supplies vital to the British. The tankers total about 500,000 tons. Under tentative plans they will carry oil from South American countries to New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore for transfer to British ships.

President Roosevelt announced Tuesday he had requested Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones to determine how many planes in the ranks of private American concerns and individuals could be bought.

Jones Makes His Report.

Today Jones wrote the President: "I have your letter of the 29th, requesting that I arrange to secure from the air transport industry and from private owners a substantial number of planes of transport type for allocation by you to the democracies under the lease-lend act.

"I am pleased to advise that we have contacted the principal air line officials and owners of private planes, and, without exception, they have indicated a willingness to comply with your request.

"A substantial number of planes will be delivered within the next three days."

Jones gave no figures, but one of his assistants estimated that the number of planes to be turned over in the next three days would be about 20 to 30. The air lines could not spare any more at this time without curtailment of service, this official said.

Speculate on Use of Planes.

Whether the transports would be used to reinforce British empire troop concentrations in the Mediterranean area was not known.

There was some speculation that a number of the planes might be pressed into service carrying pilots from Britain to Newfoundland. Warplanes newly made on this side of the Atlantic are being flown from Newfoundland to Britain, and the pilots who ferry them across frequently return by boat.

If they could return in transport planes the time saved would be a considerable help to the British war effort, it was thought.

YACHT KENKORA BEING PREPARED FOR USE BY NAVY

Workmen were busy yesterday preparing the yacht Kenkora II., which has been turned over to the government by Kenneth G. Smith, president of the Pepsodent company, for delivery May 24 at the Boston navy yard. It is expected that the Kenkora, powered by two 550 horse power Diesel motors, will be used for patrol duty. It has a cruising range of 6,000 miles. Smith said the yacht, built at a cost of $680,000, was sold to the government for $127,500. It was launched in 1931 on the coast of Maine.

It was a fortunate accident, said the gossips, when Dale Jerningham's first wife lost her life in a mysterious way. He needed money to keep up his ancestral estate. Now he needed money again. Was Lisle, his young American bride, going to have an "accident," too? Lisle couldn't tell who was friend and who was enemy in her dismal new home.

Patricia Wentworth has written a thrilling murder mystery in an English country setting. Don't miss this new Sunday serial!

IN THE Balance

by PATRICIA WENTWORTH

Begin it here:

Miss Silver looked at the watch which she wore and confirmed an impression that the train was due to start.

A whistle blew, the train gave a premonitory jerk. Some one shouted. Miss Silver looked up and saw the door beside her wrenched open. The train gave a second jerk. A tall girl in gray came stumbling up the step into the carriage. A third and heavier jerk threw her against Miss Silver, who was at her best in an emergency. The girl was steadied. The door, which had swung loose, was caught and slammed. Lisle Jerningham found herself being pressed into a corner seat by some one who looked like a retired governess, while a voice strongly reminiscent of the schoolroom informed her that it was extremely dangerous to endeavor to enter a moving train—"and quite against the company's regulations."

The voice came from a long way off from the other side of that gulf which lay between her and every living soul. On that other side there had once been a schoolroom and a voice like that. "Don't bang the door when you come into a room, Lisle. Sit up, my dear—don't slump in your chair like that. O, my dear Lisle, do please attend when I speak." All these things—long ago and far away—on the safe side of the gulf.

"Not at all safe," said Miss Silver in earnest admonition.

Lisle stared at her. She said, "No." And then, "It doesn't matter, does it?" She saw Miss Silver quite plainly and distinctly, a little old-fashioned governessy woman sitting up prim and straight in the opposite corner with frumpy clothes and the sort of hat that nobody had worn for years. With the least possible movement she could have touched her, and yet Miss Silver, like her voice, seemed a long way off. She said in a flat, exhausted voice, "It doesn't matter," and leaned back into her corner.

Miss Silver made no reply. Instead she observed the girl attentively. A tall girl, very slight and graceful, with the ash-blonde hair and milky skin which belong more to the Scandinavian than to the English type.

Miss Silver thought she had never seen a living person look so pale. The very white skin made the effect more startling. Everything she had on was perfectly simple, but the simplicity was of the kind which cannot be achieved without money. Her eye passed to the ungloved hands, noted a platinum wedding ring, and dropped to her own drab lap. Her practiced mind summed up its impressions in three words—shock—money—married.

She took up the magazine which Ethel had so kindly provided and began to turn the pages. When she had turned three in rapid succession she went no farther. Her gaze, at first fixed and intent, became abstracted.

After a little she closed the magazine and leaned forward.

"Do you care to read? Would this interest you?"

The gray eyes came slowly to her face. She thought there was a resolute attempt to focus them. They had not really been seeing the flat green fields with their chessboard pattern of hedgerows—all the same size, all slipping by faster and faster as the train gained speed. She was not really seeing Miss Silver now, but she was making an effort.

Miss Silver abandoned the magazine as a gambit and said directly:

"Something is the matter, it is not? Can I be of any assistance?"

The voice, kind and authoritative, reached Lisle Jerningham—the voice, not the words. She heard the words, of course, as she heard the clanking of the train, but one meant no more than the other. The voice reached her. Some of the blankness went out of her eyes. She looked at Miss Silver and said:

"You are very kind."

"You have had a shock."

This was a statement, not a question.

Lisle said, "Yes"; and then, "How did you know?"

"You came away in a hurry."

"Yes." She repeated her question rather piteously. "How did you know?"

"This is a London train. You would not be going to London without any gloves if you had not come away in a hurry. And they are not in your bag. That flat envelope shape would not close upon a pair of gloves without bulging."

Again it was the kind, decisive voice which reached Lisle and steadied her. There was something about it which made her feel safe. She said like a distressed echo:

"I came away in a hurry."

"Why?" said Miss Silver.

"They said he was trying to kill me," said Lisle Jerningham.

Who was trying to kill Lisle Jerningham? Why? Read "In the Balance," starting Sunday in The Chicago Sunday Tribune.

CITY FIGHTS MOVE TO REOPEN GANG RULED CLEANERS

Plant Defects and Murder Cited in Hodes Brief.

Gangster control and insanitary and unsafe conditions in the plant of the Klever-Shampay Cleaners at 4631-41 Cottage Grove avenue caused the city to close the establishment, it was asserted in a legal brief filed yesterday by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes with the clerk of the Superior court.

At the same time Hodes announced that customers of the firm could get back their clothing and other articles by calling at the plant. He said permission had been given officers of the company to use their own trucks for delivery and to take garments from vats and dry them, but that no efforts along these lines had been made.

Patrons Given Consideration.

"The city is inconveniencing patrans of the company as little as possible," Hodes added. "We are insistent, however, that the plant shall not operate."

The city's brief was an answer to a plea for an injunction filed against the city by the Klever-Shampay management, which is dominated by Murray Humphreys, old Capone gangster. Among those who signed the answer are Mayor Kelly, State's Attorney Courtney, Police Commissioner Allman, Robert Knight, deputy building commissioner; John Plant, chief fire prevention engineer, and Dr. Herman Bundesen, president of the board of health.

Hodes related in the brief that the murder of Anton Gorczak, a driver for a rival concern, was attributed to his activities in soliciting customers of other firms, including Klever-Shampay. Gorczak was beaten to death by goons in a small south side cleaning establishment last week.

Plant Failed to Get License.

The city's answer asserted that the plant had no license, altho it had deposited a fee for one with the city. Among alleged violations of city ordinances governing safety and health requirements were:

Since the original plans of the plant were examined new openings had been made in firewalls and fire doors removed, without permit from the city.

Lack of Ventilation Charged.

It lacks ventilation to such an extent that some employés had complained of nausea.

Wiring is defective and there are no fire extinguishers, exit signs, or exit lights.

The answer stated that the dry cleaning industry has been attended by violence and crime since 1928 and referred to Humphreys as an ex-convict and a gangster.

Thomas Shampay Jr. of A. Shampay & Sons, dry cleaners, at 1523 East 55th street, said yesterday no member of the family had been connected with the plant on Cottage Grove avenue since 1925.

Funds Asked for Panama Highway

President Roosevelt has asked congress for funds to complete a road to link the United States and Panama (broken line). The ultimate goal is a highway to Argentina, and three-fourths of the South American link has been finished.

ASKS U.S. FOR 20 MILLION TO FINISH ROAD TO PANAMA

F.D.R. Tells Congress Its Defense Project.

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Congress was asked by President Roosevelt today to provide funds for completing a 1,550 mile stretch of the inter-American highway—a western hemisphere "Burma road" to link, by land, the United States and its strategic Panama canal zone.

The highway, like its counterpart in China, would cut thru the thick jungle and over the rugged mountains of six nations—Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama.

Defense of Caribbean Area.

The President asked congress to authorized a 20 million dollar appropriation for completing the road from the southern Mexican border to the canal and sent with his message a report by Secretary of State Cordell Hull which said, among other things, that the war and navy departments believed the highway would be of "real value from the standpoint of the defense of the Caribbean area."

Such an all-year highway, Hull said, also would give the governments of the countries thru which it passed "materially more effective control over any attempted subversive activities within their borders."

Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.] of house foreign affairs committee told reporters:

"There is no question but that it should be done as quickly as possible. It will show that we of the United States are willing to do everything possible to establish closer relations with those nations."

Spend 4 Million Annually.

Hull said this government had reached the conclusion that the highway could not be completed "in the foreseeable future" unless this country assumed a substantial part of the cost. He recommended that the United States spend $5,400,000 in the first year and slightly less than 4 million dollars yearly for the next four years.

The 1,550 miles of construction which would be undertaken would represent about half of the mileage from the United States to Panama, the remainder existing in comparatively short but unconnected stretches of existing highway.

The ultimate goal is a 12,000 mile route from the United States to Argentina. Three-fourths of the South American section of the projected two-continent highway is completed.

MOVE TO MAKE STATE PAY $255,000 IN COURT COSTS

Assistant State's Attorney William Tuohy was instructed at a meeting of judges and court officials yesterday to institute legal action to obtain payment of $255,000 owed the Circuit and Superior courts by the state department of finance as costs for the trial of sales tax cases.

Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Superior court, who called the meeting, told Tuohy to determine whether the costs had been pocketed by an individual, and, if so, to sue him for payment. If the state is found to have withheld the costs Tuohy is to bring action in the Court of Claims at Springfield.

Clerk John Conroy of the Circuit court, who said that $155,000 in costs had been unpaid in that court during the last seven years, and Clerk August Kowalski of the Superior court, who estimated that $100,000 was unpaid in that court, said the state department always insisted on defendants paying costs when judgment was returned against them.

Cyclist Breaks Girl's Leg, Takes Her Home and Flees

A school boy whose bicycle yesterday struck and injured Helen Silverstein, 11 years old, on the playground of the Holland elementary school at 16th street and Spaulding avenue, carried the girl to her home at 1629 North Spaulding avenue on the bicyle. Then, apparently panic stricken, the boy pedaled away without giving his name. The girl's left leg was broken.

AERIAL TOURIST TAKES A PEEK AT ROOFLESS TOWN

Africans Need None, with Rains 5 Years Apart.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt [By Mail].—The last leg of our flying boat journey from Cape Town, South Africa, to Cairo was over desert country, a land where houses often have no roofs because a light rain falls only once in five years.

We took off on this lap from Khartoum, capital of Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. There the White and Blue Niles converge about 1,345 miles south of Cairo. Khartoum proper is on a point between the two rivers. Close by are Khartoum North and Omdurman.

Mud Houses for Natives.

The natives, who comprise most of the population, live in mud houses, but there are many substantial structures of concrete, brick, and frame, including a hotel.

The Imperial Airways landing wharf and station is nine miles up the river from the town, altho planes could pust as easily land at a spot facing the city. Passengers were called at 4:30 a. m. to take off at 6:30. A 15 minute car ride down to the wharf disclosed that the Sudanese are early risers. The road was filled with pedestrians and travelers astride. burros. The conventional dress was a white gown and a turban.

Several army camps lie about the town, but the tents were empty, the troops having departed for Ethiopia, 150 miles to the east.

The big flying boat cleared the river after a run of 19 seconds. The course of the river between Khartoum and Cairo forms two large S's that join at Wadi Halfa, half-way point and our only stop. Because of the river's curves, the air route leaves the channel and heads north across the desert.

Buckets Do the Irrigating.

Since the light showers are spaced five years apart, the only vegetation is near the river, where ancient irrigation methods still are practiced.

In areas where the land is actively cultivated, one could see the irrigation system in operation every 100 yards or so along the river. A long pole hinged in the middle is joined to the top of another pole planted vertically. The balancing pole has a bucket or tin can tied to one end and a weight to the other. When water is needed, the farmer raises the weight, letting the bucket down in the river. The water is then raised and dumped into a small trench leading from the top of the bank to the cultivated plots. The cultivated strip along the river gets wider as one progresses downstream.

We came down at Wadi Halfa at 9:35 a. m. for a 40 minute gas stop. The town is scattered along the river bank amid many coconut palms and flowers. The Egyptian railroads operate a first class hotel here.

Most of the innumerable single story native huts made of mud have square rooms with upright walls and no roofs. The number and the size of the rooms vary according to the energy of the family. Walls are needed as protection against wind and prowlers, but the sun doesn't bother the natives and a roof is not needed as protection against rain.

Wadi Halfa, then called Gateway, was the jumping off place to the south and trouble in the days when England was annexing, or in modern war langauge establishing protection for, the large Sudan territory.

Nile Like a Blue Snake.

In the air again, we headed across the desert to the north. The Nile wound out of sight to the northeast like a great, lazy, blue snake. The rest of the country was void again. While the sky was cloudless and the sun hot, there seemed always to be a haze over the desert.

Eventually a broad green strip appeared and irrigation canals began to show up. The various shades of green, indicating different crops and their maturity, made a pretty picture.

Nearing Cairo, the first of the many ancient pyramids were seen to the left. We landed at Cairo at 2 p. m., the trip from London by way of Cape Town having taken 56 days, with no missed connections or intentional stopovers.

YOU GET LOWER PRICES AT A&P BECAUSE—
We're Popular with Your Neighbors

Your A&P is certainly a busy place. About everybody you know drops in from day to day to browse 'round and gather a basketful of bargains. And it's just because A&P Super Markets are patronized so thoroughly that prices can be so low. For the more that's bought, the more items there are to share one fixed store-keeping expense and the less is added to the price of each. You see, it's A&P policy, since 1859, to share all savings with customers in the form of lower prices. So, the more, the merrier—our popularity pays you real dividends.

BRIBERY BEHIND SLAYING BARED BY POLICEMAN

Mrs. Martin bought out the office and practice of Dr. Josephine Gabler at 190 North State street, I was put on the pay roll at a regular rate of $100 a month."

Monthly payments in that sum credited to "M" were found in the detailed records seized by Capt. Thomas Duffy at Central station last February at a hideaway office at 127 North Dearborn street. Moriarity yesterday admitted that he was the "M."

Moriarity said Mrs. Martin usually met him each month in a La Salle street tavern and slipped him a $100 note. During this period, he said, her family and his became friendly and frequently exchanged visits.

"I always managed to keep the heat off of her pretty well until this latest investigation," Moriarity said. "A month ago, when Mrs. Martin realized that Courtney's investigation meant business, she gave me the $3,000 and said I had to approach certain people and fix the case. I spent $60 or $70 on myself, but had no success getting the money around. I kept the roll hidden in my home."

Threat of Prison Told.

Last Saturday night, Moriarity continued, Mrs. Martin voiced the threat that if she went to prison, "some one else" would go with her. He began to brood, and after three sleepless nights reached the decision that led to the murder of Mrs. Martin's daughter.

Mrs. Martin, told of Moriarity's statement, said:

"It doesn't make any difference what he says now. It won't bring Jennie back. He must have been out of his mind and must still be out of his mind to say the things he's saying. I don't hold any grudge against him and I hope he's able to get back to his family and support them. They'll need him."

Mrs. Martin was preparing for the funeral of her daughter, which will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in St. Ambrose's church, 47th street and Ellis avenue, with burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

At the Moriarity home, a well kept two story brick building at 6105 South California avenue, standing on a 75 foot lot, Moriarity's 16 year old daughter said her mother had had a nervous breakdown and was under the care of a physician. There are two other girls, 7 and 14 years old.

"Terrible Shock" to Family.

"All this has come as a terrible shock to the family," the daughter said. "Dad was always considerate and self-sacrificing. We never thought he had any more money than would be expected from his salary."

Moriarity's pay as a policeman is slightly less than $2,500 a year. He stood fourth on the eligible list for promotion to the rank of sergeant.

The investigation of the abortion ring, which Dr. Millstone termed a "million dollar syndicate" in his suicide note, began last August, after Capt. Thomas Duffy, transferred to Central station, received a letter from Commissioner Allman expressing suspicion of activities in room 604 at 190 North State street. This was Mrs. Martin's office.

"I sent two policewomen up to say that they wanted an operation for a sister of one of them," the captain said. "An agreement to do the work for $50 was reached. I went back with them when the money was paid, and we arrested Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Kuder, as well as four girls who were in the office for surgical attention. When the case came up in Felony court, the defendants won acquittal by default when their lawyer charged police entrapment.

Coroner Offers to Help.

"Later Coroner A. L. Brodie called me and offered to coöperate in running down abortionists, but I told him I was going to work with the state's attorney's office.

"Last February we heard that Mrs. Martin's office was running again. Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's office and I went up there and seized Mrs. Martin and Louis Piquett, an attorney who was disbarred for harboring John Dillinger. He is to be arraigned soon in Felony court on four charges of conspiracy to commit abortion. The charge is that he was acting as a business solicitor for the office.

"We heard of the hideaway office Mrs. Martin rented at 127 North Dearborn street and went over there and drilled open a safe. We found 200 index books listing thousands of cases since 1934. It was the most complete set of records I ever saw. It showed all the patients, their payments, the doctors, nurses, druggists, or former patients who had sent them to the office, and the commissions these people received—usually about $15.

Records Show Big Payments.

"There were other records showing large payments. These were apparently to surgeons who did the work for Mrs. Martin, as she is neither a doctor nor nurse. There was a copy of an income tax report showing that a woman doctor formerly associated with the office had paid federal taxes on an income of $88,000 in 1938 and on even more in 1939. That shows the profit in this racket.

"Later in February we heard that the State street office was running again, despite Mrs. Martin's arrest. We sent a couple of girls over there to say they wanted an operation. A couple of nurses took them in an automobile out to Dr. Millstone's office at 7502 Cottage Grove avenue. I followed in another car, and that's how we got Dr. Millstone and his wife."

A sample of more than 100 of the Martin records, which were photostated by Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papánek, who is directing the investigation, and which were seized by federal authorities, shows a number of printed lines on a large envelope. The form of one envelope was:

Name .... Mildred.
Address .... North Dayton street.
Telephone ....
Date Introduced .... 12-4-39.
Date Taken .... 12-28-39.
Reference .... Friend.
Age .... 29.
Number of Children 2, 7, and 9 years.
Fees.....$65. Deposit.....Owes.....

A numbering stamp in the right hand corner had marked the key number 1807-K, corresponding to a ledger account.

Card Addressed to Doctor.

Inside the envelope was a card reading, "Dr.——, State and Lake building: I recommend this party to you." It was signed by a woman on Wellington avenue.

During the day a coroner's jury reported a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane in the death of Mrs. Millstone, who swallowed poison in the Cottage Grove avenue office. No testimony connecting Mrs. Millstone with the abortion ring was submitted at the inquest.

Confesses

Policeman Daniel Moriarity as he appeared in hospital yesterday after confessing he had been on pay roll of woman indicted as head of city-wide abortion ring.

New York Ferry Employes Strike; Ask Wage Raise

New York, May 2, Friday [Special]. —A strike was called last midnight by 110 employés of Electric Ferries, Inc., operating eight boats on three routes between 23d street, Manhattan, and Weehawken [N. J.]; from 69th street, Brooklyn, to St. George, Staten Island, and from Port Richmond, Staten Island, to Bayonne, N. J. Clarence H. Walker, vice president in charge of operations, said that with the expiration of an old contract representatives of local 33 of the United Marine division of the International Longshoremen's association, an AFL affiliate, had demanded $15 a month wage increase and overtime for Sundays and holidays.

U. S. SHIP SAILS; LEAVES STRIKING CIO MEN BEHIND

Departs for Lisbon During Union Squabble.

Jersey City, N. J., May 1 (AP).—The liner Siboney, tied up since Saturday by a CIO strike, steamed out of New York harbor tonight for Bermuda and Lisbon, leaving behind a group of striking engineers and a wordy dispute between two CIO unions.

The American Export lines passenger vessel was able to sail after the National Maritime union withdrew support of the strike by the Marine Engineers Beneficial association and 158 NMU seamen signed aboard. Eight engineers from the Brotherhood of Marine Officers, an independent union, replaced the MEBA men.

The ship sailed a few hours after shipping sources disclosed they had been asked to rush all vessels possible to Lisbon.

LABOR DISPUTE IN SWITCHBOARD PLANT SETTLED

Settlement of a labor dispute at the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, 6650 South Cicero avenue, was announced last night in Washington, D. C., by the national defense mediation board. A strike call at the plant, where 580 employés are engaged in the production of about one million dollars worth of equipment for the army signal corps, was pending April 22 when the dispute was certified to the board.

Details of the settlement, which union members will vote on Tuesday, were not made public. The unions, local 17 of the Electrical Workers union and district lodge 8 of the Machinists union, both AFL affiliates, have been negotiating for a year. A 14 week strike last summer failed to end the dispute.

The unions sought a 20 per cent wage increase, a closed shop, and vacations with pay. They asserted they won collective bargaining rights a year ago in an election, and said the company had not abided by the results of the election.

WOMAN DRIVER GETS 10 DAYS IN BACKING MELEE

Miss Marie Lucille Nadon, 28 years old, who refused to give an address, was sentenced to 10 days in County jail for drunken driving yesterday by Judge Jay Schiller in Safety court. On Wednesday she was arrested while driving the car of Claude Devinger, 53, of 3264 California avenue, who was with her. She attempted to make a U-turn in front of 6154 Broadway.

Police said that Miss Nadon, who admitted she had no driver's license and had not driven for eight years, backed over the curb into a vacant lot, hit a parked truck, ran into a freshly laid concrete foundation, and struck a brick building.

A sentence of 15 days for drunken driving was imposed on Elmer Wagner, 44, of 664 Melrose street, a cab driver. He took a cab from a garage April 3 and went joy riding. After striking two young women at Belmont avenue and Clark street he failed to stop. They are recovering from their injuries. The sentence is in addition to 29 days Wagner has already spent in jail. He said that for 10 years prior to 1933 he was city passenger agent for a railroad, but lost his position because of drinking.

PEDESTRIAN HIT BY AN AUTO DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Charles Friedman, 73 years old, retired, died yesterday in the Garfield Park hospital of injuries suffered April 27 when he was struck by an automobile at Polk street and Central Park avenue. He lived at 1237 South Springfield avenue. The driver was Morris Breclaw, 315 South Central Park avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 276 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 210 were killed in Chicago, where 7,158 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

REPORTS THEFT OF JEWELRY.

Mrs. Frank Woods, 10 East Schiller street, reported that rings and other jewelry valued at $4,175 had been stolen from her home recently. She had not seen the articles, she said, since April 16 and did not miss them until yesterday.

HOT SEATS GONE FOREVER; TAXIS PUT UP AWNINGS

More than 2,500 taxicabs, both Yellow and Checker, ranged Chicago's streets yesterday decked out with gaily colored awnings over the rear seat. The awning colors plus the blushes of the drivers made the cabs a pretty sight.

M. M. Sokoll, president of the Checker company, explained the awnings in the following way: "With the tops down, the sun had an open shot at the seat of the cabs. A customer would get in, sit down and—well, we bought the awnings."

Save Our Republic

MRS. ROOSEVELT DISPUTES THE RECORD.

Mr. Roosevelt, as interpreted by Mrs. Roosevelt, has not told the American people that he would keep them out of war. "He hasn't made any such promise," Mrs. Roosevelt replied to a question at a Los Angeles meeting at which she spoke. "He has said he wants peace. If it is possible to stay at peace he will do so, but the ultimate decision rests with the people." Mrs. Roosevelt added that any American who will not fight any place his country asks him to fight is not an American.

When Mrs. Roosevelt's version of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign promises was circulated thruout the country Senator Nye retorted with five quotations from various campaign speeches. In one there was an assurance to the mothers and fathers: "Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars." In another the candidate said that we will not "participate in any foreign wars and will not send our army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside the Americas except in case of attack."

Some observers thought that Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt might be in a bit of domestic teamwork, in which Mrs. Roosevelt was preparing the way for the sensational speech Mr. Roosevelt is expected to make about May 12. We first learned from London of this speech, and there we were told that the speech "virtually will be a declaration of war on Germany and Italy. It will, however, leave to Germany the onus of taking the first warlike act against the United States." London is much better informed of the intentions and acts of our government than the American people.

Mrs. Roosevelt may interpret Mr. Roosevelt's campaign promises by seeking for certain qualifications in what seemed to be unqualified declarations. "Except in case of attack" is one loophole which might enable the third term President to escape from the commitments of the third term candidate. If the onus of making an attack is shifted to Germany, Mr. Roosevelt would say that he had been forced to war in spite of his desire to prevent it. Then he would say that "your boys" were not being sent into any foreign war, because this was a war forced on the United States and was its own.

Mr. Roosevelt, having thus brought about a war, would fight it wherever he could find the enemy, which might be in Egypt, off the British coast, in the far Pacific, or any place he could land on a battlefield. Then he would say that he had broken no promise whatever to the American people. He has made it almost certain that Germany will have everything to gain and nothing to lose by attacking the first American naval vessel encountered by one of its sea raiding expeditions. The Germans won't restrain themselves much longer, because it's no longer to their advantage to do so.

If this draws Japan into the war, as it probably will, the American fleet will be engaged in two oceans, and the supply lines of the British empire will be still more precarious.

THE AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE.

Capt. Wenzell Habel, master of the American liner Siboney, submitted charges to the bureau of marine investigation against nine seamen in his crew. He said their misconduct amounted to mutiny. He reported that the men refused to man their positions at the port of Lisbon and delayed the sailing for New York, and that some of the crew were unable to obey orders because they were under the influence of liquor.

Later when the government owned liner President Madison docked at Hoboken, N. J., after a four month voyage around the world, the skipper, Capt. Vladimar Nielson, explained the ship's rusty and unpainted condition by saying there had been a slowdown strike among 26 members of the deck crew. The men, members of the West Coast Seamen's union, had been taken on in San Francisco. The captain said they could not be charged with mutiny; they merely dawdled and didn't do their work. He also said that the union delegate representing the deck crew visited him and told him the men would not take orders from the first officer because they did not like him.

These two instances of the last few days add corroborative material to the stories of William Fulton, who investigated conditions in the American merchant marine for THE TRIBUNE and reported them to be a scandal to discipline and seamanship. He noted instances of drunkenness, surliness, discourtesy to passengers, and disobedience of orders. It is notorious that communist activists got into the marine unions, sabotaged the discipline, and controled the behavior of the seamen. The American people are told that they must build up a great merchant marine and do it at once. Their government is telling them that the safety of their world order depends upon this. The same government has permitted the crews, upon which the safety of the vessels depends, to be mutinous, unruly, and disobedient. The officers have little control.

The United States undertook years ago to remedy abuses in the American merchant marine. Some of the reforms went to extremes, but the men were given the best working conditions in the world. The pendulum has swung from extreme discipline and severity to lack of control and to disorder. Even if there were no emergency this would be a shame. Many Americans would like to travel under their own flag and feel at home on an American ship. It is probably a small matter that passengers are being driven away from the ships, but it isn't a small matter that the American merchant marine should be found in such a rotten shape when it is said to be most needed.

In the Voice of the People in this issue appears a letter from an advertising agent of one of the ship lines, referring to letters from passengers who were satisfied with the service and heartily commended it. Mr. Fulton's reports are reinforced by current incidents. If there are exceptions the company which enjoys them is fortunate.

It is to be noted that when the Siboney, mentioned above, undertook to sail for Europe it was held up by a CIO engineers' strike and a new crew refused to sign on.

THE PROFITS OF WAR.

In his thoughtful address before the Chicago Association of Commerce the other day Mr. Walter Lichtenstein, vice president of the First National bank, observed that "it may be questioned as a practical political fact whether our government is likely to be willing to tax very heavily the laboring classes. . . ."

That sentence furnishes a convenient text. It doesn't make much difference whether or not this administration wants to impose hardships on the laboring classes; it is going to do so. So large a share of the national income goes to farmers and to industrial labor that unless this resource is tapped the only other method of financing the war effort must be some kind of inflation. In short, the laboring classes in one way or another are going to pay a large share of the cost of the present effort. Men of good will must regret that fact, but it is a fact, and no real friends of labor will seek to disguise it.

It is bad enough to seek to conceal the truth from the laboring man, but what the administration is doing is a good deal worse. There is much evidence to suggest that a deliberate attempt is under way to bribe both farmers and industrial labor to give their sons to Mr. Roosevelt's war.

The price of hogs, dairy products, and other farm commodities is being raised by government fiat. The men who devised that scheme are for the most part the same men who said that we got into the last war thru greed for war profits. Mr. Roosevelt himself said as much in his speech in 1936 at Chautauqua in praise of the neutrality law. Now the neutrality law has been repealed and the principle he then denounced is being put to work.

The cynical attempt to bribe the farmers into war has its parallel in the attempt to bribe industrial labor with higher wages. There has, as yet, been very little increase in the cost of living. Living costs were, on the whole, higher in 1937 than they are today, and weekly incomes today are higher than they were then. This newspaper does not believe in low wages and has consistently advocated that labor receive its full share of the benefits of increased production, but the increased production of today is in war goods and there is therefore no increase in the sum of goods for consumers to share. Higher wages today can mean only that the government must pay more for its war materials than it otherwise would have to.

The officials in Washington know that. Mr. Lichtenstein observes a tenderness toward industrial labor in Washington, but something more than that is observable: It is a desire to buy labor support for a war which the vast majority of working men and women oppose.

More than 80 per cent of the people of this country have indicated thru the various unofficial polls that they don't want to join in the European war. Every citizen who voted for the Republican or Democratic ticket voted against sending the army or navy to Europe; that is what both platforms and both candidates said. It is in the belief that the popular will can be overcome by bribery that this administration is raising farm prices and wage rates. The bribe isn't even an honest one, because, as has been noted before, what is being given will be snatched back in taxation or inflation or both.

SWITZERLAND NEXT.

The familiar Nazi formula is now being applied to Switzerland, the small oasis of free people on the European continent, The German foreign office has issued some comments on what is termed the wholly incomprehensible attitude toward Germany, and the newspaper fire has been opened on "the last European democracy unfriendly to the third reich's new order in Europe."

Switzerland is about the last goldfish which can provoke Herr Hitler by threatening to bite him. The Swiss must have been in apprehension that they would not be left undisturbed in the new order which is being set up all around them. The warning that they are intransigeant and hostile will be taken as a premonition of early application of the familiar tactics of bringing them into line.

A threat to the little country comes also from Italy. There newspapers are used to raise the question whether that neutral country should be allowed to exist in its present form in an axis dominated Europe. When Mussolini makes threats it means that he is going home to call out the bigger bully.

Editorial of the Day

RESPECT FOR THE UNIFORM.
[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

We are informed by Congressman Everett M. Dirksen that on April 7 a bill was introduced in the United States senate which bears the title: "An act to protect the dignity and honor of the uniform of the United States." The measure, in substance, says that no railroad, hotel, theater, restaurant, or place of amusement or entertainment shall deny to any person who wears the uniform of the military or naval services of this country the equal and full privileges of such places. Any person in uniform who may be debarred from such privileges can institute court action to collect actual damages plus $100. It also makes unlawful the casting of contempt on any person in military or naval uniform, and makes such an offense punishable by a fine not to exceed $500.

The Peoria congressman says the bill came into being because a sergeant, in uniform, took his girl friend into a prominent hotel dining room for dinner. The sergeant claimed the waiter not only refused to serve them but also heaped abuse upon them and freely asserted that men in uniform were not wanted as patrons of the hotel's fancy dining room. The soldier reported the affair to Gen. Record of Maryland. The general was furious, demanded and secured apologies, and suggested the bill.

It is, of course, ridiculous that such a law should be necessary. It is ridiculous that any public place in a democracy should attempt to bar even the humblest private or the humblest gob in the service of the nation. The measure should pass. But it is tragic that any need for it should exist. The attitude that makes such a law necessary is aid and comfort to Adolf Hitler.

"So I took the matter up with Washington," said the Big Talker, as he tipped the ash from the large cigar. "And what did he say?" asked the fed-up listener in the Pullman washroom.—Detroit News.

TALE OF A COPPER.

What does a Chicago policeman do when he retires after 27 of the wildest years in the city's criminal history? Well, most of them behave like ordinary citizens and go fishin', but Lieut. Tom McGrath tackled another hard job and became a writer. He had a lot of stuff that he wanted to get off his chest.

During the last six or seven years hammering a typewriter, like all the police reporters he used to know, from John Kelley to Jim Doherty, has been his hobby. In the daytime he is a business man in Logansport, Ind., but at night he tries to put on paper impressions and memories of the years he served as leader of the raiders called "Cermak's Cossacks." He believes, incidentally, that Mayor Cermak was assassinated by the connivance of Chicago gangsters. His own squad, he says, was "framed" four times for killing.

Lieut. McGrath is, at this moment, in the happy mood of an author contemplating his first work in published form. It's a nice looking book, with a good drawing of a grim young Chicago policeman, modern style, on its jacket. Many a pale literary guy who never earned his living by shooting it out with gangsters would like to be the father of this piece of printing.

The title is "Copper" and it is fiction, even to the point of changing all the street names. The fly-leaf bears the conventional inscription, "Any resemblance to any persons living or dead is purely accidental." The publishers, Bruce Humphries & Co. of Boston, advised the lieutenant to tell his story in this vein. Nevertheless it contains the "low-down" on much of Chicago's recent police station history.

Ghost-written? We think not. It smacks much less of the tricks of the trade than Jan Valtin's "Out of the Night." The style is direct and effective, and the squad cars roar in pursuit thru every chapter.

THE LONE EAGLE.

Waves rolled high, storm filled the sky and rocked the solo plane;
Lightning flashed, wild thunder crashed, and clouds shook out their rain;
The wind swept up the cruelest gales and threw them, filled with hail
That clattered on the cockpit of the plane that wouldn't fail.
Amid all this the pilot sat, secured in bravery's shroud,
And brought the plane to victory, fame, and bravos of the crowd.
Today he stands, alone and sad; his plane has failed to span

Helen La Monte.

So You're a Genius, Are You?

"So-and-So's Such-and-Such, presented by So-and-So under So-and-So's direction, could be dismissed in a paragraph if it weren't that a number of people previously accused of intelligence have hailed So-and-So as the great original genius of this century's drama. That makes it necessary, I suppose, to go into detail concerning a play so stupid, asinine, and incompetent that the task of reviewing it is almost an insult to an adult mind."

Good Old Days? Boo!

A year ago today the war clouds were not so dark and the spring poets were singing merrily, but—the temperature was 33, there was a snowstorm, we caught a heavy cold which ran into a sinus infection and kept us completely flabbergasted for a month. In consideration of these facts we are not yearning for the good old days of May, 1940.

Linking Up the Generations.

John Kelley, veteran Tribune reporter [retired], aged somewhere in the seventies, testifies to a meeting about 40 years ago with Alexander Beaubien, the first white child born in Chicago after the Fort Dearborn massacre. They met at State and Madison streets, often called "the world's busiest street corner," and the First White Child said:

"My dad killed more than one bear right where we are standing, and I helped to eat them. I myself never killed a bear on State street, but the last one shot within the city limits was my quarry. I shot it on the east bank of the river, near the present Jackson boulevard, in 1832."

AS APRIL TURNS TO MAY.

O, men there are, and men of worth,
Who have not seen the dawn unfold;
They are the poorest of the earth—
They sold their dreams for gold.

Their feet have trod the orient,
Rich island realms they hold in fee,
But all in vain their days are spent—
They have no eyes to see.

Poor victims of the lust to hold,
How must they envy me today,
Who search for springtime's newest gold
As April turns to May.

WHEN DRIVING, KEEP ELBOWS INSIDE THE CAR.

MOTORISTS are subjected to so many warnings that some may become calloused to admonitions. But safety on our highways may well be a matter of nationwide concern. Every few years we accumulate a total of deaths and mishaps that stuns us into inaction. No other attitude can account for public indifference to the tragic happenings which take place daily on our streets and roads.

This discussion has to do with the importance of keeping the extremities inside the moving car. It is not wise to rest an arm on the window ledge. Under the caption, "Car Window Elbows," numerous cases of shattered bones have been described. The victims mainly are drivers who have formed the habit of keeping the left elbow in this position.

Physicians have long been familiar with fractures of the legs caused by bumpers or damage to knees, hips, and faces. These latter casualties may follow sudden stops and are due to contact with the dashboard or the windshield. But cracked elbows, by all odds, constitute the most disabling type encountered.

A series of 32 cases recently reported by H. B. Shorbe calls attention to the frequency of accidents of this sort, many of which occurred so quickly that the affected person was unable to act for his own protection. An individual at the wheel, with his left arm leaning on the frame, may pass a truck or other conveyance too closely, whereupon he experiences a stinging pain in the area. He is astonished to find that he has a badly mutilated arm. Surgical shock may ensue promptly and, occasionally, he will lose control of the car and thus sustain additional serious, if not fatal, injuries.

Of the group cited above, the left side was involved in 25 and the right in seven. Many complained that they had been sideswiped by a passing vehicle, altho all admitted that they would not have been injured had not the part projected beyond the body of the car. Twelve suffered because of proximity to a wide truck, and two because they were driving too near a bridge rail.

To the question—were the injuries severe, the answer is what we would expect—yes, in every instance. As we can realize, the force of the blow is tremendous. In fact, X-rays revealed a true explosion of the bones. Sometimes the structures could scarcely be recognized as the fragments were reduced to powder.

Even with the most expert care, eight of the patients emerged with practically useless arms. After healing, the upper limb could not be flexed and the tearing of nerves and blood vessels was so great that the loss of function was practically complete.

Fortunately, in these cases, we have recourse to sulfanilamide which—in the form of powdered crystals—can be sifted into the tissues, thus guarding against infection. A sequel of grave danger, however, arises because of severed nerves, and here skilled surgery will be required to sew the delicate ends together. This gives the fibers an opportunity to regenerate if the bones are sufficiently intact to hold the muscles.

But the victim may have more urgent needs than immediate repair. In fact, the trip to the operating room may well be delayed until recovery has occurred from the cyclonelike trauma to the nervous system. The first effect may be profound collapse. Such episodes are characterized by a cold, clammy skin, a feeble pulse, and an attitude of indifference.

The patient must be bundled up at once, regardless of the outside temperature, and put to bed. Whisky is of no value. Hot coffee, on the other hand, if it can be provided promptly, will be helpful. All unnecessary movements, other than placing the sufferer in as comfortable a position as possible, should be avoided.

PERFORATED DRUM.

Mrs. B. writes: My husband was examined for military service and was told he had a perforated eardrum. What does this mean?

REPLY.

At some time—perhaps years ago—he suffered from an abscess within the middle ear, which ruptured and drained to the outside. The exit failed to heal, leaving a small opening. This is not considered a serious defect altho there is slightly more likelihood of trouble later on. There may be no hearing loss whatsoever.

FURROWED FACE.

G. H. writes: What is the cause of deep lines from nose to mouth in a man of 50?

REPLY.

We all have them. With some persons they are more pronounced. We acquire wrinkles as the fat beneath the skin absorbs. Subsequent to a wasting illness the countenance may appear gaunt and resemble the map of China.

CHILDREN ON STREETS AT NIGHT.

Chicago, April 28.—We are writing this letter to the Voice of the People at the request of a correspondent who says that on several occasions he and a friend have been stopped in the loop by boys begging and selling flowers or other small articles, that these boys are from 8 to 12 years of age, in the loop after 10 p. m., especially on Fridays and Saturdays. He asks if there is a curfew law in Chicago, if children are permitted to roam the streets until midnight or later without their parents.

We wish to say to our correspondent thru your columns that this is an example of the city's neglect of its children and an example of the lack of enforcement of law.

The Juvenile Protective association has had long experience with this type of exploitation of children and in many instances they are being exploited by adults, sometimes if they are small—by older brothers. While we know how difficult it is for many families to exist normally on relief, we also know that the money brought in by these begging children is gained at the cost of a childhood experience that often leads straight to delinquency. In many instances the selling is only a camouflaged begging. The children develop a technique of approach to appeal to the public pity.

There are laws to protect children from these detrimental activities. Usually we have found excellent coöperation from the police in enforcing these laws, but apparently from our source's letter, the watchfulness of the police has lapsed.

There is a curfew law, but as far as we know no attempt has ever been made to enforce it. It prohibits minors under 18 years of age from being on the streets or in public places between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. unless accompanied by a guardian over 21 years of age. In our opinion this law could never be enforced and should be repealed.

Chicago also has a law prohibiting begging or peddling by minors under 14 years of age.

The street trades ordinance prohibits girls under 18 years of age from selling anything on the streets at any time, and boys under 14 from selling after 8 p. m.

If any of these ordinances was carefully enforced the unpleasant experience of being approached in the streets at night by pathetic children begging or selling would never occur, and what is of far greater importance, the children themselves would be protected from a disintegrating experience.

Executive Director Juvenile Protective Association of Chicago.

HOW TO SOLVE MURDER MYSTERIES.

Chicago, April 29.—President Mellinger of the Chicago Association of Commerce could obtain a solution of the Anton Gorczak murder mystery if he followed the procedure adopted so successfully by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in the Walsh and Lingle shootings. First, offer a sizable reward. Second, engage competent private detectives. Third, employ special prosecutors. Other wealthy public spirited citizens could help with personal offers of additional rewards to those persons who would disclose pertinent information leading to the apprehension and eventual conviction of the guilty goons.

It was remarkable to see how quickly the three men were taken from the flaming boat to safety. L. C.

A CROATIAN POINT OF VIEW.

Chicago, April 27.—There is an impression made upon the American public thru some news commentators that the government of the new Croatian independent state is a group of terrorists. This does injustice to the Croatian people.

Recalling some of the actions of the former Jugo-Slav government will help to decide who may be branded as terrorists.

Back from 1918 until August, 1939, the Jugo-Slav government proceeded to force the Croatians into submission by acts of brutality and savagery. All hopes, legal efforts, and struggles of the Croatians that their rights be recognized were met with failure. Even the league of nations ignored their complaints. In June, 1928, three Croatian deputies were killed in the parliament. Because they raised their voices in protest against persecution, Dr. Ante Pavelich and 79 other patriots were sentenced to death. Eleven of these escaped the execution by fleeing from the country on time.

On May 9, 1937, in Senj, seven Croatian boys and girls were killed on the spot by the police because they dared to carry Croatian flags and sing Croatian songs. To kill them, dumdum bullets were used and the families of the dead had to pay for the bullets. This is only one example of such inhumanity which the Jugo-Slav government dealt out to the Croatians. If, then, Dr. Pavelich and his associates fought against this brutishness, would they be called terrorists?

If Pavelich is a terrorist then our George Washington was one. Supposing a refugee Jew would organize a gang to threaten Hitler, I wonder if these same news commentators would call him a terrorist. Or if the Jews would refuse to fight for Hitler, would they call them traitors?

Let us be fair with everybody!

DENIES A RADIO REPORT.

Chicago, April 27.—I have just returned from an America First meeting. I have just heard over the radio—station WBBM at 7:55 p. m.—that the audience at this meeting yelled "Down with Britain." This is untrue and just some more propaganda. I arrived at the Arena at 1:30 and remained until the Arena was practically vacant and I swear this is a lie and should be repudiated. It is about time a check was put on this type of news commenting. M. F. B.

THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

Champaign, Ill., April 26.—I noticed in your paper of this date that there is a suggestion in Washington that certain postal rates be increased so as to take care of certain postal deficits.

May I suggest that if the franking privilege extended to members of congress and many bureaus of the administration was done away with, or at least limited, it would take care of a large portion of the deficit. WALTER B. RILEY.

SERVICE ON U. S. SHIPS.

New York, April 23.—In THE TRIBUNE of April 13 there appeared an article by William Fulton entitled "Passengers See CIO Crew Get Drunk on Liner."

The article made specific reference to the steamer Monterey, one of two ships in the Mexican service of the Cuba Mail line, one of our clients, revived the Morro Castle ghost, and in general criticized the safety and service aboard the ship.

While every writer is entitled to his opinion and the free expression thereof, the attached article is submitted for your consideration as a different viewpoint of travel aboard the same ship. Perhaps you will find it possible, in the interest of fairness, to use it in your columns. It is in no way a rebuttal, but simply the expression of the "other fellow's viewpoint."

JOHN P. LEE.

[Attached to Mr. Lee's letter was a quotation from a passenger on the Monterey ship during a cruise to Mexico and back. This passenger expressed full satisfaction with and praise for the service rendered during the voyage.]

URGES A CURFEW LAW.

Chicago, April 27.—Daylight saving is a fine thing. I hope you keep pegging away at it until we have it the year 'round. Now here is another thing: A curfew keeping children and adolescents off the street after dark unless accompanied by an adult. That sounds drastic, but think of the appalling number of young people who are going wrong. Observation has convinced me that most of them get their start running uncurbed on the streets, destroying public and private property, progressing by easy stages to snatching purses, stealing cars and breaking into houses. Unfortunately, in a gang, it is the unprincipled who rule because a boy is afraid of being called that most terrible of all names, "sissy." Why he thinks it more manly to imitate a hoodlum than a respectable business or professional man I have never been able to figure out. Why let irresponsible youngsters run wild until they learn to be criminals? H. M.

5. Which one of these is most often made into pies? Potato Tomato Pea Soy Bean.
6. A certain Englishman heard a clever riddle while visiting in America. Upon his return to London, he invited all his friends to a banquet, at the conclusion of which he arose to make a brief speech.

"My friends," he began, "I have a confession to make. The happiest moments of my life were spent in the arms of another man's wife!"

His guests instantly showed their horror and distaste, as he had hoped they would, but when he hastened to clear himself in their eyes, he found that he had forgotten the point of the riddle.

"By Jove," he stammered, "I can't remember who she was."

But his American friend, seated at his elbow, instantly came to his rescue and whispered her name, so the Englishman was saved from social ostracism and shame. Who was the woman?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

WORKMEN BEGIN DOUBLING SIZE OF CHICAGO AIRPORT

Mile Square Field Will Be Ready June 1.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

By June 1 Chicago should be ready to dedicate a new, enlarged airport, double the size of the landing area now used by commercial, military, and private airplanes, it was announced yesterday by Mayor Kelly as he took part in ceremonies that started a work crew on the job of removing the last physical obstacle to the field's completion.

Within four weeks, the mayor said, this obstacle—the old Chicago and Western Indiana railroad right of way that bisects the airport tract—will have been removed. The double line of tracks will be gone. The embankment supporting them will be leveled, and where it stood a new concrete runway will be poured. As soon as this runway is dry the new field, a mile square, will be ready for use.

Crew Starts Removing Rails.

The mayor's words started 200 men on a C. & W. I. wrecking train to pulling out rails from the old right of way bisecting the field along the line of 59th street. M. F. Stokes, president of the railroad, who was present, said his crew should finish this part of the job within five or six days. After that the city will put several thousand men to work completing the demolition of the embankment and reconstruction of the field.

The mayor and Stokes took turns driving a gold plated steel spike into a cross tie on the new right of way north of the field to which the C. & W. I. was moved.

"We have coöperated in this enterprise to make Chicago airport the greatest air field in the country," the mayor told Stokes. "The city is particularly thankful to you for your help because we realize that the railroads and the air lines are competitors.

"However, I believe, and I am sure that most other citizens believe that the railroads and the air lines can work together in making this city not only the railroad center of the world, but also the air line center as well."

Field's Growth Reviewed.

The growth of Chicago airport, which is bounded by 55th and 63d streets and Cicero and Central avenues, was reviewed by the mayor during a luncheon served to 150 guests aboard a private train on tracks near the field. The airport, he said, now is 14 years old, and in that short time has grown from a swampy lowland studded with patches of truck gardens to the most up to date air terminal in the world.

Since 1934, he said, $7,586,063 has been spent on the field, largely from federal funds.

There are now 15 large hangars on the airport including two army hangars and a huge National Guard hangar. These are utilized by eight major air lines, the largest number of air transport operators to use any airport in the world. These lines are: American Airlines, Inc., Braniff Airways, Inc., Chicago & Southern Air Lines, Eastern Air Lines, Northwest Airlines, Inc., Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, Transcontinental & Western Air, and United Air Lines.

The mayor said several of these companies already have begun negotiations with Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt for land leases for still larger hangar and repair shop facilities.

Schedules Up 227 Per Cent.

During the early period of the airport's history no record of plane landings, departures, or passengers carried were kept. Since 1932, however, these records are available, and they show that there has been a 227 per cent increase in schedules in the nine year period.

Passenger traffic has shown an increase of more than 600 per cent. Even these reports, however, do not convey the increase in business at the airport, where there now is a daily arrival and departure of more than 145 commercial air line planes.

Thousands of military, itinerant, and private planes also use the field weekly. This traffic has increased more than 1,000 per cent over 1932, but accurate figures for it are not available.

Scheduled air line arrivals and departures and passenger traffic carried by these lines for the nine years since 1932 are:

Year.	Planes.	Passengers.
1933	23,666	117,593
1934	22,130	125,944
1935	27,299	176,246
1936	32,431	240,677
1937	31,108	262,590
1938	32,561	307,860
1939	38,023	408,893
1940	51,199	621,524

"The next step on the program for this airport," the mayor concluded, "is the construction of a new administration and terminal building."

4 Held to Grand Jury as Operators of Still

Four men were held to the federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of operating a 900 gallon illicit still. They are Frank Pitchman, 44 years old, tenant on a farm on U. S. highway 45 near Grand avenue; Herman Much, 43, a farm hand; Anthony Palmeri, 51, of 1511 Taylor street, and Fred Schifano, 31, of 460 North Carpenter street.

ZionChamber of Commerce Backs Extra Daylight Plan

The Zion Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday it favors the proposal now before the city council which would extend daylight saving time thru October. John D. Luce, secretary of the organization, said the executive committee indorsed the extension because Zion adheres to the daylight saving ordinance of Chicago.

RUSSELL PETERS GETS LYONS' JOB IN STATE RELIEF

Russell L. Peters, chief auditor of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission since its creation in 1932, will take office as executive secretary next Wednesday, succeeding Leo M. Lyons. The appointment was announced yesterday by Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the IERC.

R. L. Peters.

Lyons has been both executive secretary of the state administration and commissioner of the Chicago Relief administration since July, 1936, when administrative responsibility was transferred from the state commission to local units. He will remain as Chicago relief commissioner at $5,000 a year, and Mayor Kelly is to discuss raising the salary with Lyons.

Peters, who lives in Des Plaines, is a native of Illinois, a graduate of the Illinois State Normal college in 1925, and served in the navy during the world war. He became a certified public accountant in 1927. He is married, and the father of four daughters.

File Suit to Validate Dry Vote Victory in 2 Precincts

Residents of the 1st and 2d precincts of the 39th ward yesterday brought suit in the Superior court to expunge a decision by Judge Paul H. Reis in County court last February declaring illegal the results of a vote last Nov. 5 which barred the sale of liquor in the precincts. Judge Reis held that persons not living in the two precincts were permitted to vote. Reversal of his ruling is asked on the ground that he returned his judgment from St. Clair county, where he is county judge.

PUSH UNION DRIVE TO OUST REDS IN AIRCRAFT PLANTS

AFL Chiefs at Seattle Expel 45 Mechanics.

Seattle, Wash., May 1 [Special].—The ouster of communists from the AFL mechanics union whose members are employed in the aircraft industry today occupied the attention of the executive council of the federation's International Association of Machinists who moved here from Washington, D. C., for that purpose.

The council already has expelled 28 members of its Aeronautical Mechanics' union. Eleven were ousted before the council came west and 17 have been expelled in the first two days of hearing charges here.

Each of the latter group also was fined $1,000. These members, who were employés of the Boeing Aircraft company, immediately lost their jobs there under a closed shop contract between the AFL and Boeing which provides that all mechanics must remain in good standing with the union.

Now in New CIO Union.

Among those expelled were John B. Bader, former president of the Aeronautical Mechanics' union, and Hugo A. Lundquist, former business agent. They now are president and business agent of a new CIO union seeking to gain recognition at the Boeing plant.

The entire membership of the AFL mechanics' union has been suspended by order of Harvey W. Brown, president of the machinists international union. No meetings are permitted and officers may expend funds and conduct other official activities only upon approval from Brown.

Tension has been high here as a result of the hearings and efforts of the CIO to obtain members at the Boeing plants. The police department has been holding 100 reserves ready for quick assignment to Boeing factories if a CIO picket line appears.

CIO members and the wives of expelled AFL unionists have been picketing the Hungerford hotel where the council has been holding hearings in an eighth floor suite for two days, but no disorders have been reported.

Workers Boo and Cheer.

Richard T. Frankensteen, airecraft organizer for the CIO, arrived here today to speed organization efforts at Boeing. He addressed workers at the Clipper plant this noon and was booed and applauded. CIO sound trucks cruised about the plants at shift changes and leaflets were scattered.

Brown, IAM president, charged that the CIO has broken faith with a national rearmament program agreement by trying to raid AFL membership during the drive to cleanse it of communists.

"The joint AFL and CIO advisory committee to the national defense commission agreed at a recent meeting which I attended as a member," Brown said, "that either organization could discipline its members for communistic activity and the other organization would not take advantage of the occasion to wean away members. Frankensteen is now trying to take advantage here of our house cleaning of communists."

U. S. INDICTS FOUR BROKERAGE FIRM HEADS FOR FRAUD

Four officials of Konsberg & Co., a brokerage firm at 53 West Jackson boulevard, were charged with mail fraud and violation of the Securities and Exchange commission antifraud laws in an indictment returned yesterday in federal District court before Judge Charles E. Woodward.

Edgar T. Konsberg.

J. Albert Woll, United States district attorney, and his assistant, Francis McGreal, said examination of the company records showed it to be insolvent to the extent of $190,000, with losses to more than 100 customers. The company was closed on April 1 after complaints were issued by the SEC against the four officials.

Officers of Firm Indicted.

Those named in the indictment are Edgar T. Konsberg, president, 277 Ridge avenue, Winnetka; Frank C. Scheid, vice president, 6442 North Bosworth avenue; Clarence A. Hilquist, secretary, 8225 Ingleside avenue, and Rudolph H. Breseman, treasurer, of 704 Forest avenue, Oak Park.

Government prosecutors charged that in many instances customer funds were diverted to company use instead of being used to purchase securities as directed. They also alleged that customers' securities were often sold without the customer's knowledge and the funds used by the concern.

Woll said the company had operated since 1908 as a corporation but in 1935 became insolvent and reorganized as a partnership. The company's present situation, Woll said, was discovered several weeks ago when an SEC bookkeeper made a surprise examination of the concern's books.

Bankruptcy Proceedings Pending.

Eight of the counts in the indictment charge the officials with SEC violations, 13 with mail fraud, and one with conspiracy. Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings brought by Miss Margaret Schwitzner, a Postal Telegraph employé who invested $7,000 with the brokerage firm, also are pending against the company.

Woll and McGreal said 35 persons who lost their savings in investments with the concern, appeared before the grand jury. Victims were said to include Michael McMahon, 73 years old, and his wife, Mary, of 8352 South Throop street, whose loss was placed at $10,000.

Other investors in the firm were listed as Dr. Oscar H. Kraft, 1518 North Dearborn street; Mrs. Ada Sempill, 725 North Lotus avenue; Henry R. Johnson, 3300 Lake Shore drive; Dr. A. F. Gutting, 25 East Washington street; Neal S. Mackie, 228 North La Salle Street; Melville F. Hegler, 175 West Washington street; Dr. Harlan MacMullen, Manistee, Mich.; Harry Sugar, 225 North Union avenue; William C. and Josephine Gyspers, Momence, Ill., and Richard A. Seymour, 2072 North Western avenue.

U. S. TO IMPANEL JURY TUESDAY IN FOOD PRICE QUIZ

A federal grand jury will be called next Tuesday to hear evidence of alleged price fixing and other monopolistic practices in the food industries of Chicago, it was learned yesterday. The investigation later will be expanded to include industries supplying vital defense materials, it is said.

The antitrust division of the department of justice will conduct the inquiry. Investigators have been working in Chicago's food markets for several weeks. Subpenas to testify before the grand jury already have been served on several men engaged in the meat packing industry.

Similar investigations have resulted in indictments in Denver and in Kansas City, Mo., recently.

FEINN ABANDONS 24TH WARD RACE FOR ALDERMAN

Louis S. Feinn, 1648 South Springfield avenue, withdrew yesterday as a candidate for 24th ward alderman. His withdrawal leaves no opposition for the other candidate, County Commissioner Fred J. Fischmann. Election board officials said that because of the withdrawal it will not be necessary to have all precinct polling places in the ward open June 3, when an aldermanic election will be held in the 24th and 37th wards. They said that those which will be open will be convenient to all voters. The vacancy was created in the 24th ward by the resignation of Ald. J. M. Arvey who is now a lieutenant colonel in the army. There are four candidates for the vacancy in the 37th ward.

Americans! Stop Being Afraid!

That's Wendell Willkie's Advice in Collier's

Could America live happily alone in a Hitler world?

Wendell L. Willkie believes that question is the net of all the hotly-debated issues in the world conflict—should we convoy? is it our war? can Britain win? is Lindbergh right? are we already in it? can Hitler be stopped? And Willkie sums it all up in these words:

"The capital of the world of tomorrow will be Berlin or Washington. I want it to be Washington."

Back from his fact-finding trip to the other side, and having pondered deeply the issues of the tragic conflict, Willkie has written his considered message to the American people. In this article, the first he has written since the election, Willkie defines the position of the United States as he sees it—without bias, without fear and with no axe to grind.

Read "Americans! Stop Being Afraid!" in Collier's—out today.

IN COLLIER'S, OF COURSE!

It is typical of Collier's conception of its editorial duty to its millions of active, thinking American readers that we present the Willkie diagnosis and prescription in the same pages that recently contained the Lindbergh warning. An informed public thinks more clearly, acts more wisely.

We believe that Collier's has a greater Reader Response than any other multimillion weekly magazine because of that concept of editorial direction.

Husband Not Father, Court Told by Physician.

After a husband and wife had agreed to be bound by a blood test to determine the disputed parentage of a child 14 months old, the mother's attorney repudiated the finding of the physician who conducted the test yesterday in the court of Judge Robert Jerome Dunne. The doctor determined that the husband is not the father.

A further hearing was set for May 6 at which medical testimony will be heard for and against the scientific value of such tests. Dr. Samuel Hoffman, who was delegated by Judge Dunne to make the test, will explain his findings in detail.

Both Bring Suits.

The test was ordered April 11 in the case of Mrs. Elsie Emry, 25 years old, 9614 South Sangamon street, who has brought a separate maintenance suit, and her husband, Charles, 26, of 4900 Princeton avenue. Emry has filed a cross-bill for annulment, charging fraud in the marriage, and asserting that he is not the father of the child, Charles.

Judge Dunne appointed Dr. Hoffman to make the test after Norman Becker, attorney for Mrs. Emry, and Daniel Covelli, Emry's counsel, agreed in behalf of their clients. Emry said he would drop his bill and become reconciled to his wife if the test showed him to be the father. Mrs. Emry said she would consent to the annulment if the finding were otherwise.

Yesterday, before Dr. Hoffman read his report, Judge Dunne again asked the couple whether they would abide by the finding. Both repeated their willingness to do so. Dr. Hoffman then reported that "it is impossible for this man to have been the father of this child."

Altho the physician did not elaborate, it was learned that the mother was of the so-called "M" blood type and her husband of the "N" type, while the child fell into the "O" blood group. It was said that this finding excluded Emry from the possibility of having been the parent.

Refuses to Be Bound.

When Dr. Hoffman read his decision, Attorney Becker said that, altho Mrs. Emry agreed to be bound by the report, he did not feel it incumbent on him to be committed to her agreement.

"The legitimacy of the child is at stake," he said, "and I feel myself obliged to dispute this finding in his interests, if not in those of my client. The accepted theory in law is that a child born in wedlock is the legitimate issue of the married couple. There is much medical evidence to show the fallibility of blood tests in attempting to determine parentage."

Judge Dunne granted Becker leave to produce medical experts at the coming hearing. Covelli then said that he also would produce additional doctors in support of the authenticity of the tests.

Illinois Debt

Comparison of the per capita public debt in Illinois for 1932 and 1940.

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Illinois gross public debt—state and local—was $986,845,000 on June 30, 1940, or $124.96 per capita.

For the years 1940, 1932, and 1922, respectively, the commerce department gave out these public debt figures—gross, state, and local [amounts in thousands of dollars]:

State	168,106	222,737	13,880
Local	818,739	1,079,281	353,924

It listed the per capita gross debt for 1940 and 1932, respectively, and the percentage of change as follows:

	1940.	1932.	Change.
Gross	$124.96	$168.07	—25.7
State	21.29	28.75	—26.0
Local	103.67	139.32	—25.6

Only four states were listed with a per capita debt of less than $50. They were Kentucky, $47.81; Wisconsin, $48.22; Georgia, $48.39, and Indiana, $48.88.

Those with more than $200 per capita debt were: New York, $391.91; New Jersey, $292.37; Rhode Island, $251.92; Florida, $223.03, and California, $222.76.

The state and local government debt for the 48 states and the District of Columbia was estimated at 20 billion 225 million dollars, not including $21,021,000 in state loans to local subdivisions.

The total public debt, including federal, was reported as $63,196,000,000 on last June 30. Of this total the federal debt constituted 68 per cent; the state, 5.5 per cent, and the local, 26.5 per cent.

CO-EDS TO SPEND DATES HELPING U. OF C. AID FUND

One hundred of the "most datable" women students at the University of Chicago began to sign cards yesterday pledging themselves to attend only functions contributing to the university's 50th anniversary campaign fund the week-end of May 9 and 10. Joe Molkup, chairman of the student fund drive, said that anybody dating the hundred will have to take them to a student production of "Our Town," a student "Show of Shows," or a campus dance. Receipts of all these affairs will be turned over to the anniversary fund.

MUTUAL CHAIN, ASCAP REACH PEACE TERMS

Expect End of Music War in Ten Days.

W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system expect to be back on the air with the music of ASCAP — the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers — within 10 days.

The Mutual copyright committee, which has been negotiating with ASCAP since March 21, announced yesterday that an agreement had been reached under which ASCAP's million and a quarter songs will be available to the network and its affiliates for the first time since Jan. 1.

Terms of Agreement.

Network members and 170 affiliated stations were told of the agreement by mail and telephone. Since the network is on a coöperative basis, each station is free to make its own licensing deal with ASCAP. If a majority of the affiliates approve, ASCAP music will be available in 10 days.

E. M. Antrim, W-G-N executive and a member of Mutual's negotiating committee, explained that stations may accept either a "blanket" or a "per program" plan. The blanket agreement, recommended by Mutual stockholders, provides that a station pay ASCAP 3 per cent of its net revenue for the first four years of the deal, and 3½ per cent thereafter until the agreement terminates Jan. 1, 1950.

Thru last year payments were 5 per cent. ASCAP's original demand when new contract negotiations began was for 7½ per cent from the largest stations.

Five Kinds of Programs.

On the "per program" basis, five categories of programs are set up. Charges would be made only on two categories classified as "musical" programs. Under the old agreements broadcasters paid on all types of programs. If, during any year, charges on the "per program" plan run less than 2 per cent of a station's net revenue, ASCAP is entitled to collect on the blanket plan. On the other hand, if charges run over 5 per cent, the station may elect to pay on the blanket plan.

A new monthly payment plan for sustaining [nonsponsored] programs, based on a station's advertising rates, insures a reduction in the fees for this type of broadcast.

W-G-N recently renewed its agreement with Broadcast Music, Inc., set up last year to provide a rival pool of music to ASCAP's collection. CBS and NBC, which were instrumental in forming BMI, are continuing their negotiations with ASCAP.

LEGISLATORS SET FOR 2 DAY RELIEF INQUIRY IN CITY

Officials of the principal private charities of Chicago, authorities on relief administration, and spokesmen for unemployed and relief groups will appear as witnesses today before the joint legislative committee on relief and public assistance when it convenes in the county board room of the County building.

The committee, after holding hearings in three downstate towns, will inquire into policies of relief administration here. The group was appointed to report to Gov. Green on the desirability of centralized control of relief administration as opposed to a decentralized plan.

Tomorrow's hearing, which will end the two day session, probably will be devoted entirely to testimony by Chicago members of the Illinois Emergency Relief committee and officials of the Chicago Relief administration, including Commissioner Leo M. Lyons, a committee member said. Senator T. MacDowning [R., Macomb] is chairman of the committee, and Representative Robert M. Woodward [R., Chicago], vice chairman.

Will Hays, Czar of Movies, Patient in Chicago Hospital

Will H. Hays, czar of the movies, is in St. Luke's hospital undergoing a physical checkup following an attack of pneumonia earlier this spring, it was learned yesterday. He is expected to leave the hospital in about a week. Hays' wife, who was at the Blackstone hotel yesterday, said she has been staying at the family home in Sullivan, Ind., where her husband is expected to take a brief rest before returning to Hollywood.

W-G-N TO SALUTE VIRGINIA AND THE LEES TOMORROW

Ode to Hail Mother State of Presidents.

W-G-N will salute the old dominion state with an "Ode to Virginia" as part of the Chicagoland hour from 9 to 10 p. m. tomorrow. The special dramatic and musical tribute to the "Mother [state] of Presidents" will be broadcast from W-G-N's main studio over the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak on the settlement and early history of Virginia. "Ode to Virginia," woven about the deeds of the famous Lee family, will begin with the revolutionary war period and continue thru the civil war era.

Proposed American Independence.

The first scene will show how Richard Henry Lee, a delegate from Virginia to the Continental congress at Philadelphia, proposed the independence of the American colonies.

Then will follow high moments in the careers of Col. Light Horse Harry Lee, revolutionary war hero, and Gen. Robert E. Lee, military leader of the Confederate states in the civil war. "The story of the Lees is presented as an epic of service beyond duty, of courage beyond selfishness."

Traditional southern melodies, including "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," will be presented by the W-G-N Concert orchestra and W-G-N chorus. Henry Weber, who directs the orchestra, and Kenneth Churchill are collaborating on the music. Robert Trendler directs the chorus.

W-G-N Players to Star.

The dramatic portions of the "Ode to Virginia" will be presented by the W-G-N players. William A. Bacher will be in charge of the entire production. This will be the fourth in a series of W-G-N salutes to cities and states. Previously tribute has been paid to Chicago, New York and Oklahoma.

One hundred members of the new W-G-N club, members of their families and friends, are to be among the studio guests tomorrow evening. Membership in this club is limited to persons with the initials W. G. N. This will be the club's second meeting.

Dr. C.H. Eye, Aid in Setting Trap for Dillinger, Dies

Dr. Charles Harold Eye, physician residing at 6655 Sauganash avenue, Lincolnwood, died yesterday. Dr. Eye reputedly aided police in November, 1933, in setting a trap for John Dillinger at his office at 4175 Irving Park road. Police had been informed that the outlaw was to receive treatment at the office, but Dillinger shot his way out of the trap. Dr. Eye leaves his widow, Helen; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Eye; a son, Charles Jr.; a daughter, Joanne, and a brother, Loyal. Services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue.

Wandering Bluejay.

A BLUEJAY trapped in Highland Park last Aug. 24 and released in Chicago that same day was caught in one of the farm traps this week. It gave us one of the most interesting bird banding records that we've recorded on the farm since the traps were installed there several years ago.

The wandering bluejay was taken in one of the fence post traps on the farm. This is a successful type which has several compartments in it. As soon as we saw the band on the leg of the bird we assumed that it was one that we had trapped last summer or fall. When we examined our records we were surprised to find that it was not a farm bird. Investigation soon revealed that this jay rated the title of "champion suburban traveler."

Case History of Bird.

James Mooney, who operates a busy banding station west of Highland Park, was able to give us the "case history" on the bird. Mooney has been testing the homing instinct of bluejays for some time. He catches them, bands them, and then transports the birds to different places around Chicago to see if they can find their way back to his yard.

The bluejay which we caught was released by Mooney in front of the North Western station in Chicago about eight months ago. Ever since then he has been wondering where it went. If this bird should walk into one of our farm traps again we are going to bring it to Chicago and release it again near the North Western station to see if it can find its way back to Wheaton.

Cowbird Is Prize "Homer."

All the tests made so far with bluejays to determine how strong their homing instincts are have proved that this species isn't in the same class with the cowbird. The despicable cowbird, which lays its eggs in the nests of other species and has them hatch out the young cowbirds, is a prize "homer." The late William Lyon of Waukegan conducted many experiments with this species and the way it streaks for home after being released is amazing. The bluejay lacks this finely developed instinct, judging by the experiments which Mooney has conducted. Late last summer he brought four jays, which he trapped in Highland Park, to the Wheaton farm and released them. Only one returned to Higland Park.

One other bluejay and one field sparrow also made interesting contributions to our "return" banding records this week. The jay was caught June 4, 1940. It walked into one of our traps April 25. The field sparrow we trapped this week was banded before it migrated last September. This week it was right back at its old home and even in the same woodlot where we trapped it last year.

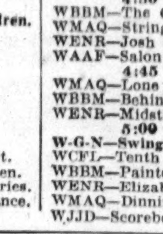
DR. COMPTON SAYS U. OF C. RESEARCH GUIDES REARMING

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, physicist, asserted yesterday in a speech that 25 per cent of the research now being done in physical sciences at the University of Chicago is of direct benefit in the rearmament program of the United States.



Dr. A. H. Compton.

The talk was made at a meeting in the Chicago club of the citizens' board of sponsors, which is aiding the university in its 50th anniversary campaign to raise 12 million dollars. George A. Ranney, chairman, said that the board's quota of $1,500,000 had already been subscribed.

Even more important for defense, Dr. Compton said, than the direct contributions of the institution, was its training of meteorologists, physicians, and economists.

Dr. G. A. Borgese, professor of Italian literature who left Italy in protest against the Fascist régime, asserted that the United States is now the center of civilization and must exercise all its vision and power to maintain its standards.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Good Connection

Good Cuts Wear Tempting Price Tags Now.

BY MARY MEADE.

If good thick beef steaks aren't usually on your budget, this is the week to break down and have one. Beef is one of the best meat buys on the market. One chain of stores is letting you take your pick—round, club, or porterhouse steaks—all for the same very low price.

Steaks are not the only beef cuts that are wearing tempting price tags. You'll find yourself looking with longing eyes at reasonably priced rib roasts, chuck and other pot roasts. There are some good veal buys, too, and an occasional special on pork. Lamb gets little attention. There's very little lamb available in the first place; genuine native spring lambs haven't come to market yet.

Fish Prices "Extra Cheap."

You'll find good fish buys at the meat market, too. There has been small demand for fish so prices are extra cheap. Bargains include lake trout, whitefish, lake herring, yellow perch and pike, salt water halibut, flounders and fillets, shad, cod and haddock. Salmon is available, tho still a little high. Shrimp prices are slipping and should be cheaper soon. Fresh oysters, alas, are out of the picture.

Run, get your market basket, and get to the store early to pick out your bundle of fresh Illinois asparagus. That vegetable has everything in it's favor—the price is very reasonable, the quality much improved and generally good and it's tending to run to the small stalks Chicago housewives prefer. [In New York, so they say, the women like 'em thick thru the middle.]

Rhubarb Very Special Now.

Rhubarb is another hot special these days. Like asparagus, quite a little of it hails from our own fair state. Some also comes from California and the bright red stalks from Michigan hothouses are still available. Most of the local crop is a little paler than hothouse growths. The experts say it's impossible to get that some bright red in field grown rhubarb—sun bleached, maybe. That very fat, dark red rhubarb comes from California. Cherry-barb is the quaint name for it. Rhubarb in general is of an improved quality this week. The home grown stuff is also cheaper.

Potatoes continue to be the cheapest vegetable on the market. New potatoes bring slightly higher prices than old ones. Don't scorn potatoes in your diet; their minerals and vitamins make them good for your health as well as your budget.

Vegetable Prices Decline.

Vegetables, as predicted, are getting cheaper. Green beans are now moderately priced. Lettuce is down to a moderate price and for the first time all winter it's all showing up in very good condition. Peas are cheaper, but many of them are of somewhat inferior quality—they tend to be tough. Radishes also have skidded in price.

Cucumbers, usually considered a luxury in wintertime, are now moderately priced. Both field and hothouse cukes are available. Their salad bowl companion, the tomato, is still high and rather scarce, and as was reported last week, probably will continue to be high and scarce until the middle of May.

Beets and celery are no cheaper this week, but both are quite reasonable. Celery quality is better than it was last week. Cabbage from a number of southern states is a good buy. Poor neglected broccoli is getting cheaper right along and begging for buyers. New dry onions are available, but at about double the price of the old crop which still makes up the bulk of the market.

California Cherries Arrive.

The first sweet cherries are here from California. Of course, they're pretty fancily priced, but if you find them as hard to resist as do certain people [including this bargain reporter] you'll have a few in your fruit bowl or topping a dish of ice cream.

The contrary and unpredictable strawberry has been going up in price again, all week. Berries are still in the moderate range, however.

Oranges are cheaper and grapefruits are higher this week. The grapefruit is still a pretty good buy and the lower orange prices just cancel last week's price upswing. Apple prices show no change.

Honeydew melons from Chile and Argentine Grapes are available again this week.

Corned Beef in Sherry Wine Glaze

This corned beef looks pretty swank, coming to the table in its sherry wine glaze. To prepare it cook 6 or 7 pounds of the beef as usual in simmering water for 4½ to 5 hours, or until tender. Then drain and place on baking rack in an open roasting pan. Pour ¾ cup sherry wine over the surface of the meat and sprinkle ½ cup sugar all over. Stick with 10 or 12 cloves and bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for half an hour, basting occasionally. Serve garnished with spiced peaches and watercress.

Canned Soup Makes This Beef Stew Easy Recipe

For an easy beef stew with vegetables: Try stewing the meat in plain water. Then thicken with flour and add a couple of cans of condensed vegetable soup. Drop dumplings on top of the stew, if you like.

AN EASY RECIPE FOR A HURRY-UP SUPPER FOR SIX

When the working girl plans a supper party it's usually a hurry-up affair. But with an easy recipe like this one her timing problem should be solved.

CHICKEN A LA KING WITH FRIZZLED HAM.
[Serves six.]

1 can cream of mushroom soup
3 tablespoons flour
12 thin slices boiled ham
1 can chicken a la king
6 buns

Combine ½ cup soup with flour and stir until smooth. Heat remaining soup and chicken à la king to boiling; gradually stir in flour mixture and continue to cook over low heat for 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Meanwhile broil the ham slices or sauté in bacon fat. Slice buns in half and toast. Serve a slice of ham on each half bun and pour chicken mixture over all. Garnish with parsley and serve.

GRAPE NUTS USED IN FRUIT BREAD FOR BREAKFAST

GRAPE NUTS FRUIT BREAD.

2 cups milk, scalded
1 cup grape nuts
3 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
⅓ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
3 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
1 cup currants or chopped raisins

Pour milk over grape nuts; cool. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar and sift again. Add egg and shortening to grape nuts mixture and stir well. Add currents or chopped raisins. Add flour mixture, stirring only enough to dampen all flour. Turn into greased loaf pan, 9x4x3 inches; let stand 20 minutes. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 1 hour, and 20 minutes, or until done.

Keeping Beater Cold.

Both the bowl and the beater for whipping cream should be cold. They may be rinsed in cold water just before using and need not be dried.

CABBAGE FRUIT SLAW MAKES A HEALTHFUL AND TEMPTING SALAD

For a healthful, tempting salad combination try this cabbage fruit slaw, served in a salad bowl, or in individual lettuce cups.

CABBAGE FRUIT SLAW.
[Serves six.]

1½ cups shredded cabbage
⅓ cup diced celery
1 cup diced apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup diced peaches, pears or cherries
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup mayonnaise

Sprinkle lemon juice over the diced apples, add other ingredients, and chill. Add a dash of paprika to the salad just before serving.

Hard Case

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1941: By Luke Short.]

SYNOPSIS.

A letter, whose address shows that Dave Coyle, notorious outlaw, is expected in Yellow Jacket, turns the town into an armed force, headed by Sheriff Beal and Deputy Ernie See. But Dave cleverly evades the force, gets his letter, and goes to a room in the hotel to read it. The letter is from Carol McFee, and Carol follows Dave to the hotel to explain why she has written him. Her father is about to lose his ranch because Wallace has forged a deed and claims McFee sold the ranch to him. He is bringing Sholto to the trial to testify as witness to the sale. When Carol leaves, Dave's enemy, Will Usher, calls on Dave and proposes a truce and a partnership in kidnaping Sholto, making Wallace pay ransom. Thinking it will help Carol, Dave agrees, kidnaps Sholto, and when he turns him over to Usher he finds that Usher has double-crossed him and he escapes just in time to save his life, but leaves Sholto with Usher. Sheriff Beal arrests McFee for kidnaping, and when Dave learns this he brazenly walks into jail and announces he is going to get McFee out. When Usher demands ransom for Sholto, Wallace refuses, knowing if Sholto is murdered McFee will hang.

INSTALMENT XVII.
ESCAPE PLANNED.

Beal, cursing Dave, walked out, taking Ernie with him. Dave dropped his cigaret, stepped on it, then looked over at McFee. He was sitting on the cot, face in hands, utterly still.

"I told the truth," Dave said.

McFee's hands fell away. He said, "I know you did. I don't know how I know, but I feel you did."

"You're in here till you rot."

"Nonsense!" McFee said sharply. "If you didn't kill Sholto and Will Usher took him from you, then Usher will get the ransom money from Wallace. Wallace will buy him back."

Dave didn't say anything for a moment, then he came over to the connecting bars of their two cells and looked pityingly at McFee.

"Beal was right about you, I reckon," he drawled insolently.

McFee looked up. "Right in what way?"

McFee looked blankly at him, too surprised to be angry.

"Listen, McFee," Dave said savagely. "Where are you now?"

"Where am I now? Why, in jail, of course!"

"Who stands to gain most if you stay here on the charge you're being held on?"

McFee thought a moment, then said "Wallace."

Dave said jeeringly, "Then don't tell me you think Wallace is going to buy Sholto back, so you can go free of a murder charge."

McFee wasn't slow now. He bounded up off the cot and faced Dave. "What did you say?"

"I didn't say it, but I will now," Dave murmured coldly. "Wallace don't want Sholto back. He'll kill him before he'll let him come back!"

The two men stood there, staring at each other between the bars. On Dave's face was a look of alert arrogance. On McFee's face was a look of consternation, of the earth dropping out from under his feet. He said in a sick way, "Let me alone," and walked back to his cot. Dave went over to his cot, sat on it, drew up his knees, leaned against the wall and watched McFee.

For 15 minutes, the older man sat there staring at the floor, clasping and unclasping his hands.

Then McFee looked up and his eyes were bleak. He said bitterly, "You started this, Coyle. I hope they hang you."

Dave said, "When was your lawyer supposed to begin in Santa Fe?"

"Today."

"It ain't goin' on, is it?" he said arrogantly, triumphantly.

"No. Because I'm in jail; because I'll stay here!"

"Not unless you want to," Dave said. He came off his cot and went up to the bars. "McFee, you ain't a fighter, that's all. Not the kind of a fighter I am, anyways. What's a jail? The jail hasn't been built that will hold me. You think I give myself up last night because I was sorry for you?"

"Why did you?"

"To get you out of here, if you got the guts to come!"

For a moment, neither of them spoke. There was a challenge in Dave's eyes, and in McFee's was a moment of wild speculation. Dave seized on that, and said wickedly.

"You're an old man. Maybe you can't stand the ridin', the sleepin' every two days, the fightin', the bein' hunted."

McFee said swiftly, "I can stand anything a runt like you can!"

"Then maybe you're scared of bein' named an outlaw," Dave jeered. "Nice people won't speak to you."

"I can take that, too!"

Dave shrugged. "Then I reckon you just don't give a damn about your spread, what you leave your girl, or what happens to you."

McFee's face looked grim as death. He came off the cot slowly, and said, just as slowly, "Coyle, I don't like you. Next to Wallace, I'd rather look at you swingin' from a cottonwood tree than anybody I know. But you're shrewd. I'll give you credit for that. You've got gall—enough for 100 men. And you've got a queer kind of reckless guts that I don't rightly understand. Some day, when this is over, I hope I get the chance to even up with you for getting me in this. But right now, I need you. I'll go with you."

"McFee," Dave said gently. "I don't like you either. You're a hard headed Scotchman without anything but money and a temper. Somewhere along the line, you wrote your own Bible, and I reckon you live up to it. You're not as shrewd as I am. You're dumb. You're bullheaded, and you're tough. But you're the wrong kind of tough, McFee. You're tough on the little people—the people that can't help themselves, like Lacey Thornton. I'll throw in with you, too. Not because I need you. I'll throw in with you and help you because your girl is human, and she's in trouble and you're too damn dumb to get her out of it."

"If you ever touch that girl of mine I'll kill you!" McFee said softly.

"I wouldn't try," Dave said tonelessly. "She's too good for me, and I know it." He looked wickedly at McFee. "She's too good for you, too."

"I know it."

They glared at each other a moment, hating each other, and then McFee said grimly, "If we do get out—and I said 'if'—what can we do, outside of hide? It won't help Carol if I live in a cave in the Corazon."

"I said you were dumb," Dave jeered.

"I'm askin' you," McFee said stubbornly, "What can we do?"

"The first thing we can do is get Sholto's wife and hide her," Dave said calmly. "Then we take Sholto away from Usher."

"But I don't want Sholto!" McFee burst out.

"You do! You got to prove you didn't kill him! And after we've got him safe, then we're goin' to find out who's behind Wallace!"

McFee started. He said slowly, "Have you talked to Carol?"

"Lots of times," Dave said, puzzled.

"You think there ain't any one?" Dave asked drily. "And him a tinhorn gambler three years ago?"

"I don't know."

"I do," Dave said. "When we find out who it is, then we'll put Wallace away and him away." He smiled faintly. "Then you can go back to your spread and put another $3,000 reward on my head."

McFee smiled, too. "I reckon I will," he said grimly. "But right now, we might as well shake hands, hadn't we?"

"No. Just keep your mouth shut and let me think."

He walked back to his cot and lay down, his hands under his head. Sooner than McFee expected, Dave said, "Is Carol comin' to see you this mornin'?"

"She's Miss McFee to a saddle bum like you!" McFee said shortly.

"Is she?" Dave asked, ignoring him.

"Yes. Pretty soon."

"You and me will stage a fist fight thru the bars when she gets here," Dave said quietly. "Make it good, but don't bloody my nose. I'll save that till later. You got that?"

"I don't see——"

"Nobody asked you to," Dave said shortly. "I'm bossin' this."

He turned over and went to sleep, and McFee nursed his anger in silence.

An Inexpensive Dessert, Strong on Color, Flavor

CHERRY SNOW.

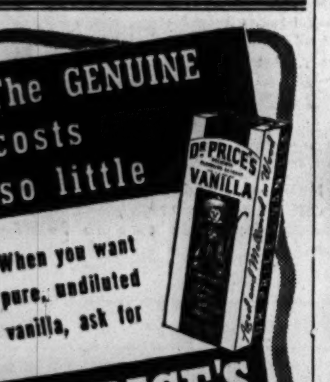
[Serves six.]

1 No. 2 can sour pitted cherries
2 egg whites
Sugar to taste
1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Drain cherries, chop and sweeten to taste. Add lemon juice. Beat egg whites to a stiff fine froth and then whip in the chopped cherries. Serve very cold in sherbet glasses. Use the juice as sauce [sweeten it to taste] or serve with a custard sauce.

Figs Among the First Fruits Grown by Man

One of the earliest fruits to be cultivated by man was the fig. Mentioned frequently in the Bible, figs were transported into the Mediterranean colonies Semites before the 2d century B. C.



EGG, KING OF WEEK, ATTAINS GLORY IN A JELLY ROLL

Handling Is the Secret of This Fine Cake.

While eggs have been designated the food of the week, they should have the honor every week in the year.

Nutritionists say that we should have them in some form 3 or 4 times a week, and every day if possible. Eggs contain a high quality protein, large amounts of iron and phosphorus, and are a good source of vitamins A, B-1, D, and G.

All of one's weekly share of eggs need not be eaten at breakfast, or in a luncheon or supper dish; some may go into delicious custardy desserts or rich cakes.

The Baking Part Is Easy.

One ever popular egg cake is the jelly roll. The cake itself usually isn't hard to bake; it's the rolling of the finished cake that requires deft handling. And here is a brand new method to take all the work out of the rolling. When you attempt this recipe, make sure you have the directions well in mind and the proper equipment at hand.

This cake shouldn't be attempted unless you have a jelly roll pan. The pan is about 16 by 11 and has sides 1 inch high. It also is useful as a cookie sheet, for biscuit baking, and so on.

Handling Requires Care.

The unusual part of the method used in handling this cake comes after the cake is removed from the oven. Loosen the cake from the edges. Turn out on long strip of waxed paper and peel the waxed paper [with which the pan was lined] from the cake immediately. Cool a few moments. The waxed paper onto which the cake is turned out should be dusted generously with confectioners' sugar.

Starting at the end nearest you, fold the extended waxed paper well over the edge of the cake. Then roll up cake and paper together. When finished, see that the seam is on the bottom side of the roll to prevent it from unwinding. Cool on a rack for half an hour. The roll may be left as it is overnight without being filled. If you like, cut it in half and fill part with one filling, saving the remainder to be filled differently for tomorrow's meal. There will be less soaking of the roll if it is completely cooled before the filling is put in. When ready to use, unroll, spread with filling and reroll.

CREAM JELLY ROLL.

¼ teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon vanilla extract.
1 cup sugar.
1 cup sifted cake flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
5 tablespoons water.
2 tablespoons butter.

Add salt to eggs, beat until light and fluffy. Add sugar in two tablespoon portions, beating after each addition. Add vanilla. Blend. Add flour in which the baking powder has been thoroly sifted. Fold in carefully and quickly. Stir in water and butter heated together until the butter is melted. Line jelly roll pan with waxed paper cut to fit bottom of pan exactly. Pour batter into lined pan and bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven about 18 minutes, or until nicely risen and delicately browned over surface. Cool a few seconds. Loosen from sides of pan. Cut wax paper the width of cake and 7 or 8 inches longer than cake, and dust this generously with confectioners' sugar. Turn the cake out on this prepared paper. Fold paper at nearest end of the cake up over the end of the cake. Roll paper and cake up together. Let stand, seam side down, on a cake rack until cooled. When ready to serve, unroll, spread with filling and reroll.

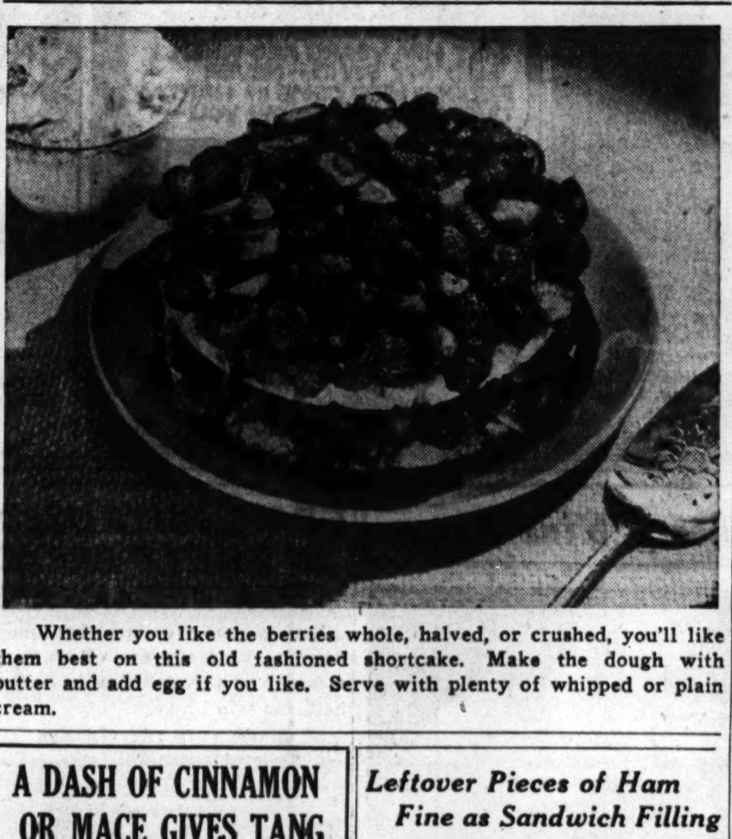
It's Strawberry Shortcake Time



Whether you like the berries whole, halved, or crushed, you'll like them best on this old fashioned shortcake. Make the dough with butter and add egg if you like. Serve with plenty of whipped or plain cream.

A DASH OF CINNAMON OR MACE GIVES TANG TO RHUBARB SAUCE

Rosy red rhubarb sauce is better than ever when it's backed with just a dash of cinnamon or mace for extra flavor. Try this recipe for hot rhubarb sauce, or serve it chilled if you like.

HOT RHUBARB SAUCE.

[Serves 6.]

4 cups diced rhubarb
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1⅔ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon or mace

Combine ingredients and pour into baking dish. Cover and bake at 300 degrees for about 35 minutes or until soft. Stir with a fork occasionally during baking.

Leftover Pieces of Ham Fine as Sandwich Filling

Leftover pieces of ham that are too small for slicing make tasty sandwich fillings. Grind the cooked ham, and to one cup of it add a little vinegar, one tablespoon peanut butter, and some chopped celery. Spread between slices of buttered bread.

BEEF BRISKET AND ONION SAUCE TO GO WITH IT

BEEF BRISKET.

3 or 4 pounds beef brisket
1 carrot, diced
1 onion, diced
Peppercorns
Salt
1 egg
Bread crumbs
Few cloves

Cover brisket with boiling water, add diced vegetables, cloves, salt, and peppercorns. Simmer gently, until tender, about 3 hours. Remove from liquid and place in shallow baking dish. Beat egg slightly, spread over brisket and sprinkle with crumbs. Brown in hot oven. Serve with onion sauce.

ONION SAUCE.

1 tablespoon lard
2 tablespoons sugar
2 onions, sliced fine
Salt
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup brisket broth
1 tablespoon vinegar

Brown the sugar in the lard. Add onions and cook, then add flour and brown a little more. Add broth, vinegar, and salt. Cook until a smooth, creamy brown sauce results. Put thru a strainer and serve with brisket.

For a Sunday Breakfast Try These Apple Waffles

For a Sunday morning breakfast specialty try apple waffles. Use your favorite waffle recipe and add 1 teaspoon cinnamon to the dry ingredients and stir in 2 cups diced apple before baking. They're delicious with generous helpings of grape jelly.

HAROLD TEEN—A LAD FORLORN

EFFICIENT COOK KEEPS GADGETS IN HANDY PLACES

Disarray Slows Work in Kitchen.

Often as not, it isn't the equipment but poor organization of it that lowers your kitchen batting average.

Of course you can't minimize the importance of a good range, refrigerator, and other equipment. It's the small kitchen tools that are up for discussion here. Even the handiest gadget isn't much use if you have to pull down half the stuff in the cupboard to bring it out from it's hiding place.

This is moving time for many, and there could be no better time to put your kitchen in real working order. The first rule in efficient arrangement of small kitchen equipment is to put each piece near the working surface where it will be used. There's not much sense in putting the pots and pans over by your refrigerator or in hanging the ice pick over the stove.

Keep the Utensils Handy.

It's true that a kitchen looks neater when everything is tucked out of sight, but unless you have a well designed kitchen, with plenty of convenient storage space, you'll be better off to bring out to the light of day the articles most often used. If your stove has ample storage place for pots, pans, and skillets so they needn't be piled on top of each other or placed so far back that you can't reach them, keep them in that storage place by all means. But, lacking such convenience, why not hang the most used items on hooks behind the stove?

It's a good idea to be able to reach any much-used piece of equipment with one hand.

If some member of the family is handy with hammer and saw, or if you yourself can fasten a few hooks, you can do much to improve the workability of your kitchen with little investment. For not much money you'll find many helpful shelves, and equipment racks, ready to be fastened on the wall or inside a cabinet door, at the household sections of the department stores and in the 10 cent stores.

Some Storage Devices.

Some storage devices you'll find handy are:

Small shelves—Put your spices on the smaller ones and place them near or over your work table. A heavier, larger shelf might be used to hold your cannister set leaving more working space on top the work table.

Knife racks—There are all varieties and sizes of these. They not only put your knives out where you can use them, but also help prevent the nicking of sharp blades. One small entirely enclosed container, holds five knives of varied sizes. Another slotted, wooden knife rack has a sharpener attached to one end. This style is large enough to hold all the knives any one could want. It might be permanently fastened inside the cutlery drawer of your cabinet. These should be placed in easy reach of the work table, of course. Paring knives used in the preparation of vegetables should be close to the sink.

Cutlery racks—One of these is slotted to hold the egg beaters, wooden spoons, and other pieces which cannot be hung from a hook. You might like a second one of these over the sink to hold can and bottle openers, plate scraper, and vegetable brushes.

Swinging racks—There are all kinds and varieties of these—some big enough to hold kitchen towels and wash cloths, which can be swung wide apart to permit quick drying and pushed against hte wall to be out of the way. Have them near the sink for all the small hangable pieces you use there, near the range for potholders, cake tester, large cooking spoons and forks, vegetable tongs and slotted spoons; near your work table for skewers, measuring spoons and cups, pastry wisks, and similar items. Wooden racks, not swinging, but with hooks attached, might carry several of the same items.

Here Is Excellent Advice to Older Women About Makeup

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

We aren't sure whether it is because the young girl can get away with almost anything because of her glowing youth or whether older women are just naturally heavy handed with their rouge, that one sees the worst rouged cheeks on the older group.

Our opinion is that the young girl practices more with her cosmetic colors. Those we know personally do, and are becoming clever in color detection. They know, to a shade, many of them, what's wrong with an unflattering color and they try out each other's tints, just to see. The older woman often doesn't know what she should have. She is persuaded into any color with a line of sales talk, or because some other woman says such and such shade is good.

Some of the mothers, we do know, take over their daughters' colors, forgetful of the skin changes that occur with the years. In any event, the really startling cheek paintings one sees today are found invariably on the older woman, sometimes gray haired, sometimes bleached or dyed. And invariably you'll find, with the poor cheek rouge job, a poor powdering job, too.

Better if the older woman didn't use either powder or cheek rouge than to put it on with a reckless, lavish hand, still performing the art in circles of painful dimensions. We would urge this faulty older group to put the rouge on in three dots only over an area that's been treated to a fine film of cream. Then, with fingers, blend that color in well, always on the up and out turn of the fingers, never down on the cheeks. And always let it be done in a strong light, not behind the door as some appear to have worked their so-called cosmetic magic.

The powdering, too, should be done with a puff lightly coated, and for good measure we'd urge the use of a fine bit of linen or tissue to rub the powder off again. Especially if the skin is dry, let the powder be applied with the lightest touch. A little shine on the skin of the older woman often is better than the powdered look.

Basic Dress, Accessories

MISS' FROCK AND ACCESSORIES.

Accessories make the costume, fashion seers are saying these days, and it's certainly true. Of course the costume must begin with a good basic dress. Today's two patterns provide both the foundation and the "trimming." The tailored frock has its own bolero, and the accessories consist of hat, bag, belt, and gloves.

Style No. 3399 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Each patterns costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Parents Can Do Only Their Best for Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

A baby isn't a doll but a very human bundle of energy with an inherent right to grow, develop, and express himself, a very vital necessity if he's to attain ultimately the splendid manhood which is your goal for him.

Everybody makes mistakes, and you'll make them also, but don't worry too much. Just do your best to correct and not to repeat them.

Here, then, is a whole flock of "do's" and "don'ts":

Handle each phase day by day as it comes along. Proceed with as little friction as possible. Correct quietly, without harsh words or punishment.

Don't let your sense of humor be drowned in a torrent of rules and regulations. Don't compare your child with another child. You wouldn't actually want him to be exactly like that other boy, anyway, and comparisons are always odious.

Get as much enjoyment out of your little son or daughter as you possibly can, for the years pass all too quickly. Be gentle but firm, kind and sympathetic.

Don't smother him with too much affection or domination, and let him have as much freedom as is commensurate with common sense and his growing ability to handle himself.

You'll have to put your foot down and stand against some of the things he does, or wants to do, but if it's for his good don't hesitate. Hold your ground. It's best in the long run.

A child upon whom everything is lavished in his home finds it doubly difficult to adjust himself when he dces have to conform to the demands or desires of other people, and very often he finds it a hard road to travel, because he's been so spoiled and protected he doesn't know how to take the impact of the jolts and jars he's bound to meet in the world at large.

In other words, parents can't regulate every facet of their children's lives, nor prevent them from being influenced by their playmates, friends, teachers, etc. They only can help them by teaching them to be courteous, trustworthy, considerate of other people. If you do all of these things you'll find invariably that your children will live up to your highest hopes for them.

Clara Abbott Estate Gives Lying-In Hospital $50,000

A gift of $50,000 to the Chicago Lying-in hospital and dispensary was announced yesterday by trustees of the estate of Clara A. Abbott. The trustees, Alfred W. Bays and Henry B. Shattuck, also announced that distribution of the estate of the widow of Dr. Wallace C. Abbott, founder of Abbott Laboratories, has been completed. Several million dollars in money and land has been given to Northwestern university, the University of Chicago, and Knox college, and to the Evanston and Ravenswood hospitals, and Victory Memorial hospital of Waukegan. Funds also were given to the Abbott Foundation, which is run for the benefit of employés of the laboratories.

Shantung Silk Daytime Dress

Shantung silk daytime dress for street, office, or town wear features a new streamline with a deftly shirred bodice, short tailored sleeves, and a turn over collar. A front flare in the smart skirt is anchored with a narrow belt of the silk. The color is especially flattering, a warm cocoa color to match the cocoanut straw brimmed hat.

Swishy Capes of Taffeta Are May Offering

BY REA SEEGER.

Fashions, new for spring and new for May, include such fascinating ideas as party capes to wear over the full skirted party and dance dresses. And they're not the long shapeless affairs you think. Gay new models have the dash and swing of a toreador's shoulder cape.

There is one inky black number in swishy taffeta that is cut in a perfect circle, thereby achieving the flare. Rows and rows of double ruched fringe-edge taffeta bands go from east to west downward from the shoulders. It's flirtatious and provocative.

Shimmering white taffeta finds, slightly longer than this black arrival, have quilted patterns and a thin padded thickness. These are particularly ideal evening gown capes as they'll swing close around the kneeline. White wool capes, unlined or lined, are other light summer comforts. Coolie type evening coats are also new, medium length models with wide straight loose sleeves, deep pockets on each hip and nearly every model deliberately collarless.

Glazed and printed chintz is another summer coat fabric destined for fashion success. A coat of chintz is most effective with airy cottons and can be used for daytime as well as dancing dresses. Some cleverly designed evening ensembles feature the dress trimmed with glazed print used in the companion coolie coat . . . the dress of cool white sheer.

ENGAGEMENTS

Girl Leaders Told 'Beware of Propaganda'

Dr. Eduard Lindeman, professor of social philosophy at the New York School of Social Work, yesterday urged Girl Scout leaders "not to be pushed around by propagandists." He spoke in the Stevens hotel at the first general session of the 17th annual conference of Girl Scout leaders of the Great Lakes region.

The purpose of the conference is to adjust the organization's program to the day's needs, with emphasis on national preparedness.

Dr. Lindeman, who said the odds favor a complete Fascist victory, said he nevertheless believed "the American people have decided not to use either communism or Fascism in solving their problem."

"Take any position you will," he continued, "but be sure you are not being pushed around by propagandists. Be honest, and when you have made your decisions, go into your communities and resume your great program."

Mrs. Arthur O. Choate, honorary vice president of the Girl Scout organization, told the conference that the Girl Scouts have sent an ambulance, a mobile canteen unit, and other equipment to British Girl Guides, and relief material to Chinese Girl Scouts.

Dr. Horace Bridges, president of the Chicago Ethical society, spoke at the night session. He repeated the late Lord Robert Baden-Powell's advice to Boy Scout leaders in England that their charges should be "trained for the greater tasks of peace," and urged also that full support be given the national government.

Dr. H. H. Giles of Ohio State university, a member of the Progressive Education society, will be the principal speaker at the general session at 4 o'clock today. His topic will be the responsibilities of the community to the young people. The annual election of regional officers will precede his talk.

At 7:30 o'clock tonight a pageant, "The Girls Speak," will be given in the Stevens by 100 Girl Scouts from Chicago and Appleton, Wis.

Betrothal of Janet Davis Is Announced

BY JUDITH CASS.

TODAY'S romantic news concerns two young Chicagoans whose names have been linked frequently in the last few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart R. Plattenburg of Lake Shore drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Elizabeth Davis, to Sangston Hettler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hettler of Hawthorne place.

Miss Davis was graduated from the Sacred Heart convent and attended the Suffern school in New York. Since her school days she has been interested in the work of the Emerson house and Madonna center boards. Her fiancé studied at the Chicago Latin and the Choate schools and chose a business career in preference to college.

The Plattenburgs will give a family dinner party shortly to celebrate the engagement. No date has been set for the wedding, as "Sock" Hettler expects to be called for army service in June or September.

Warrenton, Va., Having Its Big Day Tomorrow.

From Warrenton in the heart of Virginia's hunting country, comes news of the part Chicagoans will play in the gayety there this coming week end. Tomorrow is Gold Cup day, THE day of the year. Our correspondent there advises us that entries for the races are greater than ever before in the history of the steeplechase classic and that the week-end promises to be the most brilliant of the season.

Thomas Leiter will entertain a luncheon party before the races, and tomorrow night he will give a dinner-dance. The S. Prentice Porters, who moved from Lake Forest to Warrenton last winter, gave a large dinner party Wednesday night. The Porters have leased the "Bobby" Young place and next season Mr. Porter will be joint M. F. H. of the Cobbler Hunt with Dr. Edmond Horgan. Mr. Porter's cousin, Amory S. Carhart, is master of the Warrenton Hunt.

Canterbury Farm on the Fauquier Springs road has been sold by Col. Albert E. Peirce, former Chicagoan, to Mrs. Leon Cotnareanu of New York. The estate is one of the best known and most beautiful in Virginia. It has a handsome mansion, many outbuildings, a swimming pool, kennels, and lovely grounds. The place was once owned by the late J. Temple Gwathmey of New York, and later by the late Joshua Cosden. Mrs. Cotnareanu, whose husband is a Rumanian, is the daughter of Coti, famous French perfumer.

Mrs. James Garard Giving "White Elephant" Tea Today.

Mrs. James Garard, president of the board of Grove House for Convalescents, is giving a tea today at her home in Winnetka for the board members. Each has been asked to bring her choicest "white elephant" to be sold next Thursday at the annual rummage sale for the benefit of the institution. The sale will be held at 833 Main street, Evanston.

Mrs. Arthur W. Rogers is general chairman of the sale committee. Mrs. Robert H. Gardner is first vice president of the board; Mrs. Stuyvesant Butler, second vice president; Mrs. Howard R. Stone, treasurer; Mrs. Carleton Blunt, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Paul Starr, recording secretary, and Mrs. Edwin E. Sheridan, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Howard Linn, who has spent the winter in Virginia and Florida, is now in Washington, and will return to her north shore home early next week.

A "liquidating" party for Snow Chasers will be held at the University club this afternoon from 5 until 7. Members only are invited to make merry on what remains in the club's bank of dues for this season. "Wheel

On Wedding Trip in South

[Koehne Photo.]

Mrs. A. Loring Rowe, who until her marriage last Saturday was Miss Barbara Bastien. She and Mr. Rowe, son of the Edgar C. Rowes of Tryon, N. C., former Chicagoans, have gone south on a wedding trip and will be at home next month in Wayne. They were married in a quiet ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Bastien, in Hubbard Woods.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

It's a smart fashion now to give cosmetic showers for brides-to-be. All the hostess need do is find the name of the preparations the guest of honor likes best, and ask her friends to bring something in that particular line. Brides are mad about the idea.

Just think of the possibilities. In almost every line there are any number of items a girl would love to own but hesitates to buy for herself. There are sachets, for example, and beautiful bath preparations, and perfumes and fitted cases—all extra trimmings to round out her possessions in the way of creams and lotions and powders.

There is one lovely family of bath things that is a natural for the bride. The whole fragrance series is built around an eau de toilette in an enchanting bottle of angel design. It's exactly the decorative kind of bottle a bride would like, and the fragrance is wonderful. The soaps in the same fragrance are shaped like puffy pink clouds with raised angels in the surface.

The other packages in this family are equally beautiful. All pink and blue and decorated with white, winged angels. Dusting powder, bath oil, the soap cakes and toilet water bottles are all in the same lovely motif—perfect accessories for the dressing table of a bride.

OpenReception Here Today for Lith President

President Antanas Smetona of Lithuania, who fled from his country at the time of the Russian invasion, will arrive at the La Salle street station at 8:40 a. m. today for a three day reception.

Antanas Smetona.

Mr. Smetona became the first president of Lithuania when the republic was declared in 1918. He was again serving as head of the country when the soviets invaded it.

Mayor Kelly will receive Mr. Smetona and his wife at 11 a. m. prior to a luncheon in the Palmer House. During the afternoon, they will visit Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch at the chancery and participate in a memorial service at the monument of the Lithuanian flyers, Darius and Girenas, in Marquette park at 4:30 p. m.

Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross will be host to the presidential party at a luncheon to be given by the Springfield Midday Luncheon club in the Leland hotel in Springfield tomorrow. Mr. Smetona will lay a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln in the afternoon.

Sunday morning he will attend high mass in St. George's church, 33d street and Lithuanica avenue, after which he will dine with the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael L. Kruszas, in the rectory.

The reception will reach a climax at a banquet for 1,000 persons in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House Sunday evening. Among the speakers will be Mayor Kelly, Justin Mackiewich, chairman of the Chicago Lithuanian committee; Petras Dauzvardis, Lithuanian consul; Judge John T. Zuris of the Municipal court, and Anthony A. Olis, arrangements chairman.

Mr. Smetona's address at the banquet will be broadcast over a national network. He will display Lithuania's first flag, which he carried with him on his escape and will receive a silk American flag which has been made by members of the Chicago Lithuanian Women's club. Mrs. Anna Biezis, president of the club, will make the presentation.

$56,000 Cabled British Noncombatant Blind Fund

A gift of $56,000 to help noncombatant men, women, and children whose air raid injuries have resulted in blindness has been cabled to England by the British War Relief society, it was announced by Charles F. Glore, Illinois chairman, yesterday. The fund, which will be used to establish a hospital for the blind at Torquay, England, will be part of the $1,000,000 sought by the civilian aid campaign, Mr. Glore stated.

Missing.

Weight: About 12 pounds.

Name: Ernie.

Requirement.

An employment agency sent a cook to the south side where she was interviewed by a prospective employer. The two had what seemed to be a satisfactory interview, but at the close of it the woman said hesitatingly: "I like you very much, but we don't seem to vibrate."

The cook returned to the agency. "What do you think?" she demanded of the employment manager at the cooks' desk: "Not only do I have to cook, I have to vibrate, too."

PUNS ON PLANTS.

The shrubs in my garden
  Have all spiny turned
But of gorse it's all right
  As furze I'm concerned.

For it seems they're fabaceous,
  If you know what I mean,
So I guess the poor things
  Have just gone off their bean.

Birthday Being Observed by Harold F. McCormick.

Harold F. McCormick's friends will stop in at the Drake at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon to wish him a happy birthday. Mr. and Mrs. McCormick are planning to remain in Chicago until the middle of June, when they will go to Sun Valley.

Mrs. James Ward Thorne is celebrating her birthday anniversary today also. The Thornes had guests for dinner last night.

The rhumba, conga, and polka will be featured at a dance to be given tonight in the auditorium of Christ church parish house, Winnetka, for the benefit of the Church Home for Aged Persons. There will be many cocktail and dinner parties before the dance, among them those to be given by the Sidney Dates and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Magie II., who live directly across from the parish house. The Daniel Leonards, the junior Philip Edward Coyles, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harkness, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Gundlach, and the Preston Holidays are others giving parties. The John I. Dennehys are entertaining for the Charles MacLeods of Wisconsin, formerly of Winnetka, who will be the Dennehys' week-end guests.

Spring Dinner-Dance at Woman's Athletic Club.

The ballroom of the Woman's Athletic club will be filled with blossoms for a spring dinner-dance tonight. Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr., the new president, and Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, whom she succeeded, are giving dinner parties. Mrs. John Dern is entertaining with her mother, Mrs. MacLeish. Others who have reserved tables are Mrs. Walter G. Smith, Mrs. Eugene P. Kealy, Mrs. Lawrence Nelson Jr., Mrs. Arthur W. Wakely, Mrs. John L. Clarkson, Mrs. George Schulz, and Mrs. Robert Wallace, who is coming from her home in La Porte, Ind., for the party.

The same sort of a dance contest that has been so popular at resorts north and south will be held at the last of this season's Fortnightlies tonight. The young people who subscribe to this course of bimonthly dances will be further entertained by some professional dancers.

A campaign to raise $20,000 for Sweet Briar college will be launched by Chicago and north shore alumnae with two showings of colored movies of the college. The first will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of Mrs. Dwight Green in Winnetka. The second will be held next Tuesday night at the home of Miss Louise Lutz in Harper avenue.

Mrs. James G. Shakman is returning this week-end from a visit with the Eugene McDonalds in Miami Beach. Mrs. McDonald is a new member of the Woman's Symphony orchestra board, of which Mrs. Shakman is president. Commander and Mrs. McDonald will remain in the south until about May 15.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

There is one conventional bid in the Culbertson system which is not generally known but which is exceptionally valuable because of its exceptional precision. I refer to a three no trump response to an opening suit bid of one. Consider the following deal:

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH
♠ A K 7 5 4
♥ 8 3
♦ 7 6 2
♣ A 4 3

WEST
♠ Q 10
♥ J 9 7
♦ J 10 8 5
♣ J 8 6 2

EAST
♠ 9 8 3
♥ K 10 5 2
♦ Q 4 3

SOUTH
♠ J 6 2
♥ A Q 6 4
♦ A K 9
♣ K 9 5

When this hand was actually played, a fair-to-middling player held the South cards and the bidding proceeded as follows:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	*4 no trump	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	6 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

*Blackwood convention.

Despite the excellent lay of cards [spade queen dropping, producing five spade tricks, and the heart finesse "on"] declarer found it impossible to make his contract.

Many readers will [I hope] curl their lips at South's hop, skip, and jump bidding that led to the atrocious contract, but the fact remains that this identical bidding is produced daily by thousands of other Souths.

The essential error lies in the first response to the opening spade bid. The average player deliberately selects the underbid of two no trump with the unalterable intention of showing the rest of his values on a later round. He is fully aware that two no trump is an underbid, hence reserves for himself [as a sort of reward!] the privilege of overbidding on his next turn. I suppose he figures that these two actions balance each other, but he is dead wrong! His four no trump bid is conventional, hence forces the bidding to at least the five level, and his own "human nature" accounts for the final push to a slam.

The entire difficulty is overcome by making the correct response originally. The proper bidding of North-South hands such as these is supremely simple, to wit:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Now South has shown all his values and his distribution in one fell swoop, and need not worry about something left unsaid. His three no trump response announces precisely four honor tricks with 4-3-3-3 distribution. Now it is up to North to carry on, if his holding warrants it. He mentally "fits in" South's values with his own. If his own hand requires only about four [five at most] quick winners from South in order to produce a slam, he bids again, otherwise he passes.

With the actual hand, above, North would see that more than five winners would be needed from South, hence would accept the three no trump call as a final contract.

Youth's Chief Virtue Today Is Frankness

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

She lied to him to save his feelings, and now he stands up and tells her he never will trust her again. T'was over a simple thing, too. The girl wanted to see a certain movie at one of the downtown houses which require an entrance fee greater than that of the neighborhood houses. She knew the fellow was short of money, so to spare him she lined up a couple of girl pals, went to the show, and there was the man himself in person, the guest of some older neighbor. That put a slightly ironic twist to the scene, and revealed the young man as a demon for stirring up trouble for himself by quarreling with the girl instead of accepting the incident as humorous.

But the ways of a jealous suitor with a girl are sometimes hard to decipher. He says that he bet she tried to get some fellow to take her first before she lined up the girls, which is drawing on the imagination, to put it mildly. Basically, what was wrong with the chap, no doubt, was the fact that he was being spared financially. He really wanted to be the girl's escort and felt his manhood unflattered by inability to play the escort rôle.

So, if the man continues to accuse, we'd laugh him out of his embarrassment. That failing, we'd tell him to go take up his knitting from the last dropped stitch. But first we'd try to appreciate that a man hates terribly to have his financial status exposed when he hasn't any money.

Youngster's Crocheted Coat

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A light weight, crocheted summer coat for the youngster 2 or 3 years old will prove an essential and highly attractive addition to her wardrobe. The yoke is done in single crochet, and the body of the coat is worked in double crochet, with a band of single crochet around the bottom. Good quality knitting worsted is an ideal choice, but a fairly heavy pompadour also may be used.

For instructions in crocheting the coat for the 2 or 3 year old, No. X-459, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

May Is Designated by Archbishop for Peace Devotions

In a letter to all Catholic clergy of the archdiocese of Chicago, Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch yesterday set the month of May for special peace devotions in every chapel and church. Referring to the Christmas peace appeal of Pope Pius XII. with its five points, the archbishop said the pontiff recalls that "peace is the tranquility of order, and unless it is a thing of justice and charity it is not peace, but only an empty species of peace."

"In our prayers for peace," the letter continued, "we shall have in mind that peace is not always the consequence of conquest and even tho martial victories be achieved peace must rest on virtue. Soundly patriotic and mindful that we are living under a government by representation, we shall ask our Blessed Lady to give light and strength to our civil authorities that they may courageously lead us in justice and truth and protect our free institutions against all dangers."

Scientific Aids Take Work Out of Housework

Time was in grandmother's day when housekeeping was an art and the greatest compliment that could be given a home manager was to pay tribute to her neatness and domestic prowess. Such a reputation was the highest badge of distinction bestowed by neighbor or sewing circle fellow member.

Today such a mark of merit is shared almost universally because of the advances of home economics and the scientific aids available to the housewife of even moderate means. In other words, keeping up a home or even an apartment no longer is a special career or an art; no longer a drudgery because of the appliances and conveniences which have been introduced in the last decade or two.

No longer do overbaked specials bubble over and gum up the grill or drip pan. Pastries, puddings, roasts, and such dishes are cooked to perfection with the scientific aid of a rheostat, which controls the temperature and allows the lady of the house to finish her telephone conversation with truly feminine leisure.

In the refrigeration field the designer and scientist have been equally helpful. The refrigerator is kept automatically neat and tidy by such an advance as the conservador, a shelf lined inner door, brought out by Philco, which provides more quickly useable space and prevents the unit from becoming crammed and disorderly.

Linoleum baseboards, which extend up in unbroken line from the floor covering, make it unnecessary to dig into corners in back breaking manner to clean out the accumulated dust and débris.

Even milady with little mind for figures is assisted in keeping her accounts straight by kitchen furniture designers who have perfected a combination work table and desk where accounts may be tabulated and filed and where food may be prepared.

No longer is it necessary to send a frantic summons for the plumber or struggle with a plunger trying to unclog the drain in the sink. Stoppers and drain covers come to the aid of the modern housewife and keep things "flowing smoothly."

May 2, 1941.

Universal day—Put things in order today—your thoughts or your clothes, or your house. Be orderly and logical.

May—This month promises to be a highly important one for the world at large. In general it might prove a memorable one with highly significant action being highlighted in the news. Some of the action taken is going to seem overidealistic, impractical, and on the dreamy side. Some of the ideas afloat might even seem irrational. The moves made may not seem clear-cut and direct but look as if the longest way round to arrive at a decision was taken. Inspirational schemes will be in the air but they will have a nebulous quality and burst like balloons.

Evanston to Join in Paying Tribute to Frances Willard

Civic leaders of Chicago and Evanston will participate in the christening of a new Pullman car named for Frances E. Willard, 19th century worker for temperance and women's rights, at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the La Salle street station. Mrs. Elizabeth Hahn, an employé at the National WCTU headquarters in Evanston, who originated the idea, will perform the christening.

Mayor Kelly and Mayor S. G. Ingraham of Evanston will attend. A huge white ribbon bow, emblematic of the temperance organization, will be placed on the car and water from Miss Willard's home in Evanston, Rest cottage, will be used for the christening.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, president of the National WCTU, the mayors and other civic leaders will speak. The Rev. Ernest Fremont Tittle, pastor of the Evanston First Methodist church, Miss Willard's church, will give the closing prayer. According to New York Central officials, the combination lounge-parlor car will be placed in service immediately as a part of train No. 609, a daytime train on the Chicago-Cleveland run.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., May 1.—Frank Capra is dickering with Charlie Chaplin to play the title rôle in "The Flying Yorkshireman." If Chaplain makes the deal it will be the first time in many years that he has worked for any one but himself.

"The Flying Yorkshireman," fantasy about a man who discovers he can fly and upsets everybody quite a lot, was bought by Frank Lloyd. Lloyd intended it as a vehicle for Will Fyffe, noted singer of Yorkshire songs. When the war made Fyffe's engagement impossible Lloyd made several casting ventures and decided on Charles Laughton. Laughton was willing to make the picture—but only if Lloyd would direct it. But Lloyd had two pictures on his schedule—the recently released "Lady from Cheyenne" and the currently preparing "I, James Lewis"—and couldn't reach "Yorkshireman" till 1942, so he sold his screer rights to Capra. The Hollywood consensus is that Chaplin is the perfect man for the rôle.

"The Last Mile," which was produced 11 years ago on Broadway by Herman Shumlin, has had considerable influence on the movies. It was the New York production of this play that brought Spencer Tracy, who had the rôle of Killer Mears, to the attention of Hollywood. It was the Los Angeles production which brought one Clark Gable, also in the rôle of Killer Mears, to the attention of the movies. Now a third Killer Mears gets his chance. He is Terry Frost, who played in the midwestern company. Frost is making his film debut in a Tim Holt western, "Cyclone on Horseback."

Dorothy Comingore, who played the singer in "Citizen Kane," gets a principal rôle in Bud Kelland's "Valley of the Sun" at RKO. It will be her first picture since "Kane" and her first since the birth of a daughter three months ago. . . . MGM has quite a delegation arriving in New York on Monday—Lana Turner, the William Powells and Myrna Loy. Paramount will be represented by Miss Loy's husband, Arthur Hornblow Jr. . . . Adeline De Walt Reynolds, old lady who made her screen debut in "Come Live with Me," has her second assignment. She'll play Ma Forrester in Metro's "The Yearling." And Tully Marshall, who dates from "The Covered Wagon" and who wouldn't have been a bad Jeeter Lester, will be Pa Forrester. . . . It isn't true that Judy Garland will go into "As Thousands Cheer." This Broadway musical, which has been on the MGM list for a long time, is pretty well dated by now and no production is planned. . . . Rise Stevens, Metropolitan opera singer, has had her first screen tests and it is reported that she has whoof. Her first screen assignment will be "The Chocolate Soldier." . . . Patrick O'Moore, who was so good on Broadway in "Ladies in Retirement," gets a screen chance as Jeannette MacDonald's unsuccessful suitor in "Smilin' Through."

Title change department: Twentieth-Fox has retitled "Sun Valley" to "Sun Valley Serenade," "The Man with the Shovel" to "Accent on Love," and "Miami" to "Moon Over Miami."

Tyrone Power can count ahead farther than most actors can count on their fingers. His studio has set Rafael Sabatini's pirate yarn, "The Black Swan," for him, and this means he's seven pictures ahead and all dated up for 1942. He's just finished "Blood and Sand" and has begun on "A Yank in the RAF." Next in order will come "Benjamin Blake," "Confirm or Deny" [a wartime newspaper story by Hank Wales], "Down to the Sea in Ships," "Brooklyn Bridge," and "Black Swan." If he can wangle it, Ty wants three months off right after his current assignment so that he and Annabella can go to Alaska.

I give you Alexis Smith. She's a very pretty girl and she has been working in a small rôle in the Warners' "Navy Blues." Now she's been pulled out of that picture and given the one feminine rôle in Errol Flynn's "Dive Bomber." This picture, three-quarters shot now, started as an all-male affair, but the studio decided it needed a little sex and Miss Smith gets the break. I give you Alexis because she won't change her name, and so far as anybody can recall she's the screen's only Smith. The only beautiful Lady Smith, anyway. There was a Gladys Smith once, but she changed her name to Mary Pickford.

H. Bruce [Lucky] Humberstone got a broken nose and other injuries in a car smashup the other day, so Mal St. Clair has taken over his directorial duties on "Sun Valley Serenade." . . . There are two or three girls around who got their first chance when George Cukor tested them for the Scarlett O'Hara rôle. One was Susan Hayward; another is Mary Anderson, now 19, who did well in "Cheers for Miss Bishop." Now she's to play Stirling Hayden's wife in "Dildo Cay."

Pediatricians to Meet in Chicago on May 15

Leading child specialists of the midwest will attend the midwestern regional meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics in the Palmer House from Thursday, May 15, thru Saturday, May 17. Modern medical and surgical methods used during and after childbirth will be discussed in a variety of papers to be given by professors from Northwestern university, Rush Medical school, and the University of Illinois, and by medical authorities from several hospitals.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

After picking up a load of five straight triumphs the White Sox stumbled over the pitching of Emil Dutch Leonard yesterday and the winning streak was shattered as Washington's Senators carried off a 7 to 0 decision in the series final in Comiskey park.

The Senators not only put a crimp in the Sox splurge but also deflated, for the time being, one Bill Dietrich, the lad who on opening day began a campaign that netted him three consecutive victories. The enemy needed only seven innings to anchor Dietrich on the losing side and then gave a fancy touch to the party by blasting Pete Appleton in the last two.

Travis Isn't Fooling.

Both Dietrich and Appleton learned to their sorrow that Cecil Travis really is hitting the ball. With what he did on this occasion, and it was plenty, the Senators' shortstop boosted his 1941 average to a modest .571.

Travis, a prospective rookie in Uncle Sam's draft army, was up in the second inning. He doubled and scored the first run. He was back again in the fourth and made the complete trip, unassisted, by landing a homer in the right field seats. His next appearance was in the sixth when he was held to a fly ball, but it sent a mate home from third. In his fourth effort he doubled off Pete Appleton in the eighth, driving in another run.

Dutch Good in Pinches.

Leonard wasn't especially tough to hit while he was spinning his season's first success but he was a tartar in the pinches. The only fellows he couldn't handle consistently were Luke Appling with two safeties, Dario Lodigiani with three and Mike Tresh with two. But he was the complete boss of the job against Bill Knickerbocker, Joe Kuhel, Julius Solters, and Larry Rosenthal. Solters, for instance, fanned twice, fouled out once and once flied to the outfield to prolong the baffling slump that may soon cause him to be moved to the bench for a rest.

The first inning indicated that the extra base pitch was included in Dietrich's répertoire for the day. Cramer slammed a triple to right center with one out but Vernon's roller to Kuhel and Lewis' foul to the same gentleman left Cramer on third. Appling also tripled in the first with one out but received credit only for a double. He arrived at third in time to have a foot on the bag before being tagged by Lewis but Umpire Ernest Stewart noted the happenings in reverse order.

It's That Cecil Again.

Travis selected an extra base pitch at the opening of the second and plastered it into right for a double. Dietrich made a little more trouble for himself by passing Myer. After the two boys had been bunted along by West, an intentional ticket was handed to Ferrell. Leonard squeezed Travis home on a bunt to Kuhel. The next safety off Dietrich also was contributed by Travis. It was his fourth inning homer into the right field second story.

The first time the Sox had a man on base with none out was in the fourth. Appling singled to left, but Kuhel flied out. Solters fanned for the second time and Lodigiani

MOON MULLINS—BACK PAY

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1.—Well, anyway, the Kentucky Derby of 1941 is different from those of 1939 and 1940. . . . There's no 3 to 5 Johnstown or 2 to 5 Bimelech for the betters to worry about this year. . . . With the heaviest support divided between Our Boots and Porter's Cap, and with Whirlaway, Blue Pair, Dispose, Robert Morris, Market Wise, and Little Beans each getting some kind of a play, it seems that the wagering will be pretty well spread out this time. . . . If you're the type that likes to have a bet on long shots, don't let the opinions of the so-called experts dissuade you. . . . The three longest shots in the history of the Derby—Donerail at 91 to 1, Exterminator at 30 to 1, and Gallahadion, which rewarded its backers at 35 to 1 last May, didn't receive a kind word until they showed their hooves to the field in their victorious flights down the stretch. . . . Royce G. Martin, Toledo business man who owns Our Boots, traces the origin of the name to a particularly tenacious bulldog called Boots, which was owned by his daughter. . . . "That dog picked hundreds of fights, but he was always beaten," Mr. Martin says. . . . "I used to remark that if I ever had a horse with a heart like that I'd name him after the dog. When we got this colt my daughter reminded me of that promise, and I think she'll see her bulldog's namesake prove that he has a competitive heart in that Derby stretch run." . . . Matt J. Winn, who, like Connie Mack and A. A. Stagg, refuses to grow old, will be presiding over his 39th running of the Derby since he took control of Churchill Downs in 1903. . . . He has seen them all, however, since Aristides won the inaugural race in 1875. . . .

Louisville, as usual, is crowded with merrymakers, most of whom assemble under hotel windows obviously for the purpose of making sure nobody gets any sleep. . . . Last night's frivolities at 4th and Broadway started with a song set to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland," but the words went like this: "Whirlaway, O Whirlaway, whir'll you be on Derby day?" . . . This promptly brought up a discussion between a Kentuckian and an Englishman as to whether it was pronounced the Derby or the Darby. . . . A gentleman from the other side of the Brooklyn bridge stepped in and settled it: "You're both wrong. It's the Doiby." . . . The record of Earl Sande and Isaac Murphy in riding three Kentucky Derby winners each is safe for this year at least. . . . None of the boys in Saturday's race has had more than one previous winner. . . . The riders who have accomplished this feat are Carroll Bierman, who is no relation to that fellow in Minneapolis who has had several winners, and Eddie Arcaro. . . . Bierman, who will handle Dispose, won with Gallahadion last year; Arcaro, who will ride Whirlaway, scored with Lawrin in 1938. . . .

Don Ameche and Robert Young, first of the Hollywood delegation to arrive, were moving around the Downs this afternoon with Commissioner Elmer Layden of the National Football league, who was a distinguished horseman at Notre Dame in 1924. . . . This will be the first Derby field which has been sent away from an electric starting gate. . . . It would have been done last year, but Bimelech's handlers objected so strenuously that the stall gates were left open. . . . The device now has been perfected to a point where it is considered dependable in the opinion of Track Superintendent Tom Young and other officials. . . . E. R. Bradley, whose record of four Derby winners stands unmatched, has asked that his box be turned over to friends this year. . . . His health, or lack thereof, precludes the trip from his Idle Hour farm. . . . Joe Stevens, who has charge of concessions, has ordered 90,000 hot dogs, 140,000 soft drinks, and is prepared to serve 30,000 mint juleps to the Derby throng. . . . To Derby visitors may we drop this hint: "Wager a lot of money on the horses that win and nothing at all on those that lose."

31 TEAMS AWAIT BELOIT COLLEGE RELAYS TONIGHT

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Thirty-one colleges from nine states will compete tonight in the fifth annual relay carnival in the Beloit, Wis., college stadium. Preliminaries in four of the six field events and in the quarter mile and half mile relays will be held this afternoon, starting at 4:30 central time.

Weather permitting, a capacity crowd of 5,000 is expected by Louis E. Means, director of the meet. Participation in the relays is limited to colleges with enrollment of less than 1,000. However, two special events have been added. Greg Rice, formerly of Notre Dame, and world record holder indoors at two and three miles, will compete in an invitation two mile run against Mel Trutt, former Indiana star, Ralph Schwarzkopf, and Ray Mahannah.

Gil Dodds of Ashland [O.] college and Lyn Schendel of North Central, both of whom have marks better than 4:20 this year, are entered in the special one mile race.

Three Team Title Threats.

Grinnell college, winner of the team championship in 1938, has entered a well balanced squad of 29 and is favored to take the team title. Coe college, team champion in 1937, 1939, and 1940, also has a strong team. Another contender is Carleton, which has its best team in eight years.

The entry of 445 athletes makes preliminaries imperative this afternoon and if more than 14 report for the 100 yard dash that event also will be included. Semi-finals will be held in the evening in the dash.

A new record is anticipated in the mile and Harry Barker of Grinnell should have no great difficulty bettering his own meet record of 181 feet 9¼ inches in the javelin. Barker threw the javelin 187 feet 9 inches for third place in the Drake relays.

Alderdice vs. Bacon.

Jack Alderdice of St. Ambrose may set a new record in the high jump in which Chuck Bacon of Beloit will defend his title and all-time mark of 6 feet 3 inches. Last year Bacon bettered the 30 year old college record of his father, Dr. Charles M. Bacon of Chicago. Another defending champion, Vince Jones of Lawrence college, will return in the shotput. He holds the current record of 47 feet and has bettered this repeatedly this spring.

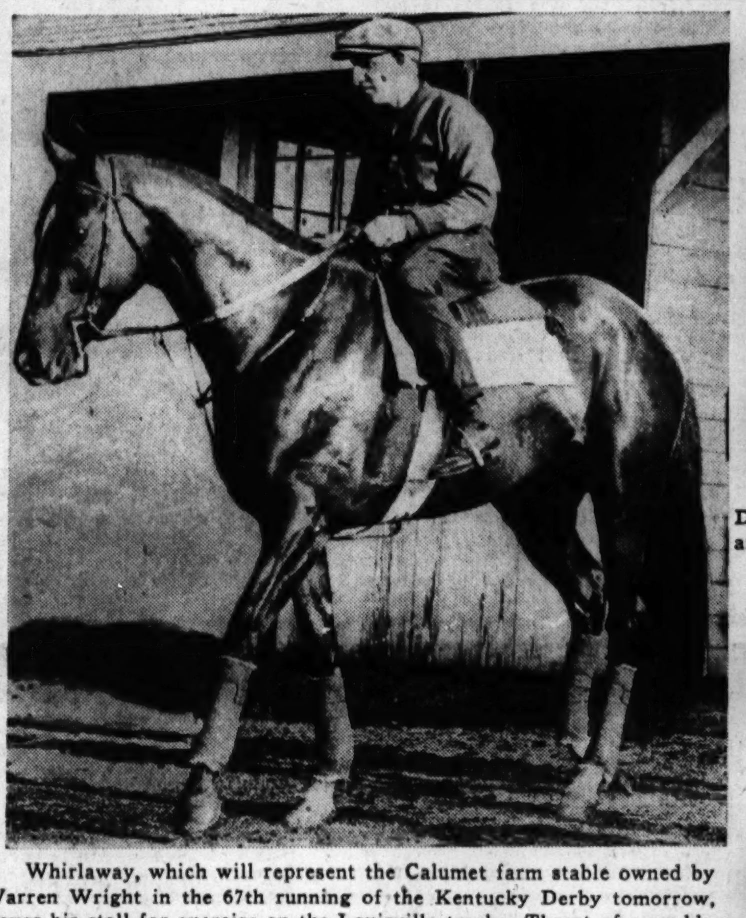
The evening program will start at 7:15 o'clock [central time] with a fireworks display.

Many of the colleges competing in the Beloit relays are entered in the ninth annual Elmhurst college intercollegiate invitational meet a week from tomorrow afternoon.

Michigan at Notre Dame.

Outstanding dual track meet of the season brings Michigan to Notre Dame's Cartier field tomorrow afternoon. This will be the only home meet of the season for the Irish. The result may be decided by the mile relay which the Irish won in 3:15.9 at the recent Drake relays. The fight for the individual championship in the quarter mile brings together the stars of both the mile relay teams. Ray Roy, who ran the anchor quarter for Notre Dame in the Drake mile relay in approximately 47 seconds, and George Schiewe, will compete against Jack Leutritz, Bob Barnard, and Bob Ufer of Michigan.

Two Derby Choices and a Longshot



Whirlaway, which will represent the Calumet farm stable owned by Warren Wright in the 67th running of the Kentucky Derby tomorrow, leaves his stall for exercise on the Louisville track. Threat of a muddy track has not hurt Whirlaway's chances, for the colt can go in any kind of footing.

Porter's Cap, favorite in the Derby betting, enjoys a cool drink after finishing a workout.

A Champion's Progress

[This is the first of a series of articles on golf by Lawson Little, National Open champion, who, before turning professional, was the only golfer in history to win the British and American amateur championships in consecutive years.]

BY LAWSON LITTLE.

LIKE most American boys, my best pal in the preteen years was my father, and it was he who first introduced me to golf. When he was stationed at Fort Monroe, Va., from 1914 to 1917, we had an understanding that I would always wait for him when he came home to dinner, and that before going into the house, we would play together. Usually, we tossed a baseball back and forth, but one evening he came home with an odd looking sack, with a number of clubs sticking out of one end. Since he was in the habit of bringing me gifts, I thought it was intended for me, but he said that it was a new game for himself. It was called golf.

Little From a Line of Military Ancestors.

I asked him what golf was. He told me you took the ball and a club and tried to knock it in a hole over yonder. He permitted me to have a try at it. Since baseball was then my favorite game, I threw the ball in the air and struck it baseball style. That was my first swing in the game that is now my life's profession. I must have figured that such a pastime was too stationary, and returned to baseball, the only game I knew where you could hit a moving object, for my interest in golf waned then and there for several years.

I was born June 23, 1910, in Fort

Both of my parents were from Shelbyville, Tenn., all of their folks having fought in the confederate army in the civil war, and before that in the revolutionary army. Both families originated from a combination of English, Irish, and Scotch stock. My father was graduated from Vanderbilt university and took his medical degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

We left Fort Adams when I was nine months old, and I didn't see my birthplace again until nearly two years ago. A sentry then stopped me at the post gate, but I was so determined to see where I had been born, that I created something of a commotion before officers who had known the family calmed me down and took me on a tour of the post.

Little's Interest in Golf Revives.

Following a stretch at Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, N. Y., of which I recall very little, my father was transferred to Fort Monroe. There I became mascot of the post baseball team. I had my own glove and bat, and my first complete suit of any kind was a miniature baseball uniform. Dad had become a major by

Boston Rain Lets Cubs Visit Dodgers Early

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 1.—The Cubs got here six hours earlier than expected today, thanks to a lovely, cold rain in Boston. It is just as well they arrived in time for a full night of slumber, for tomorrow they are scheduled to open a two game series with the rampant Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bill Lee, who has pitched one great game and one not so good since he ended his holdout campaign on April 11, will pitch tomorrow. On the basis of alternating good and not so good games, Bill is due for a good one tomorrow. He is expected to oppose Whitlow Wyatt of the Dodgers.

Support Is a Question.

What kind of offensive and defensive support the Cubs will accord Louisiana Bill is something else again. Except for two victories in St. Louis, the Chicagoans have shown little class, offensively or defensively, apparently having exhausted their talents in the spring exhibition series with the White Sox.

It is known, on the other hand, that the Cubs are not in harmony with the Dodgers' obvious plot to settle the National league race by July 4. This Cub apathy toward the Dodgers' success dreams may cause our lads to play baseball better than they know how tomorrow and Saturday.

After their two day run-in with the Dodgers the Cubs will have three days with the Giants, another team against which they usually bestir themselves.

Dallessandro to Return.

The day of rest enabled Doc Lotshaw to get some extra time at healing. Dom Dallessandro, who retired from yesterday's game after pulling a muscle in his right leg, responded to treatment and will be able to get back in the lineup tomorrow.

A new first baseman's glove has been purchased for Hank Leiber, but there has been no indication when he'll use it in competition. Phil Cavarretta has been doing all right since he was rediscovered on the roster list following the playing collapse of Rip Russell, now with Tulsa.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 1.—A threat of mud on Derby day developed this afternoon as murky clouds drifted over Louisville. When horse racing fans from all parts of the country began moving into town, the weather man greeted them with a prediction of showers for tomorrow. Beyond that, he hesitated to commit himself. This switched the discussion to the mud running ability of the more popular contenders in Saturday's 67th running of the Kentucky Derby.

Most observers were agreed that a hard rain would increase the chances of Charles S. Howard's Porter's Cap, for this colt loves to come slogging up thru the stretch splattering mud in all directions while less amphibious rivals flounder in the slippery going. He came out of a heavy rainstorm to win the Washington Park Futurity last summer and he scored by four lengths in the Santa Anita Derby on a heavy track. His move of a mile and a quarter in 2:04 4/5 last Sunday, the fastest Derby workout within memory, demonstrated that he has the speed and is in condition.

Can Run in Any Going.

Trainer Tom Smith really doesn't care particularly whether it rains or not, because Porter's Cap has shown that he can run in any kind of going.

Royce G. Martin's Our Boots will be able to accept the issue in dust or mud. If the track is dry, it is considered to be a toss-up as to whether he or Porter's Cap will be the post time favorite. In the event of rain, the balance probably will shift to the Howard representative because of the popular association of Porter's Cap with victory in the mud.

Odds on Porter's Cap today dropped to 9 to 5 in the advance speculation due to the possibility of mud on Derby day.

Warren Wright's Whirlaway can go on any kind of a track, too. In case of mud, it's a problem for his followers to figure out whether he would be less likely to run out on the turns because he would gather less momentum in the slower footing or whether he would be more likely to do so because it would be harder for Jockey Eddie Arcaro to hold him together.

Blue Pair a Mudder, Too.

Mrs. Vera S. Bragg's Blue Pair can run in the mud also. Thus there seems little likelihood that the size or quality of the field would be affected much in case of rain as it might have been in other recent seasons. The outstanding favorites of the last two years, Bimelech and Johnstown, were strictly fast track performers.

There has been no serious mud on Derby day since Clyde Van Dusen scored in 1929. Gallant Fox, Brokers Tip and Omaha scored on tracks that had been dulled by rain a short time previously.

The probable starting field of 11 remained intact today, but there was a switch in riders on two horses.

Johnny Adams to Ride Swain.

John Gilbert, who was scheduled to handle Swain, was suspended in Maryland, so Johnny Adams was substituted. Don Meade, who was to have been aboard Little Beans, sent word that he would be unable to ride in the Derby because he was unable to get a release for that day from his contract with George Odom at Jamaica. Gus Moore will pilot Little Beans instead.

LOUIS TO FIGHT CONN ON JUNE 18 IN POLO GROUNDS

New York, May 1 (AP).—Promoter Mike Jacobs announced today that Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis will defend his title against Billy Conn of Pittsburgh in the Polo grounds June 18—provided Louis still is the titleholder after he meets Buddy Baer in Washington, D. C., May 23.

James Johnston, Abe Simon's manager, immediately said Jacobs was running out on a Louis-Simon rematch which first had been set for May 9, then May 26, then for June. Now it probably will be Simon in with Louis in July, and Louis against Lou Nova in September.

WALKER, FORMER CUB PRESIDENT, IS DEAD AT 69

William M. Telfer Walker, retired Chicago business man and former president of the Cubs, died last night in his home at 5430 Sheridan road. He was 69 years old.

Walker came to Chicago from New Jersey in 1879, and in 1900 he established W. M. Walker, Inc., wholesale fish dealers. He headed the company until his retirement last January. In 1914 he became connected with baseball as a backer of the Chicago Feds. Later he became one of the largest Cub stockholders, and was vice president of the north side club for several years. In 1934 he was elected president, but he resigned a year later.

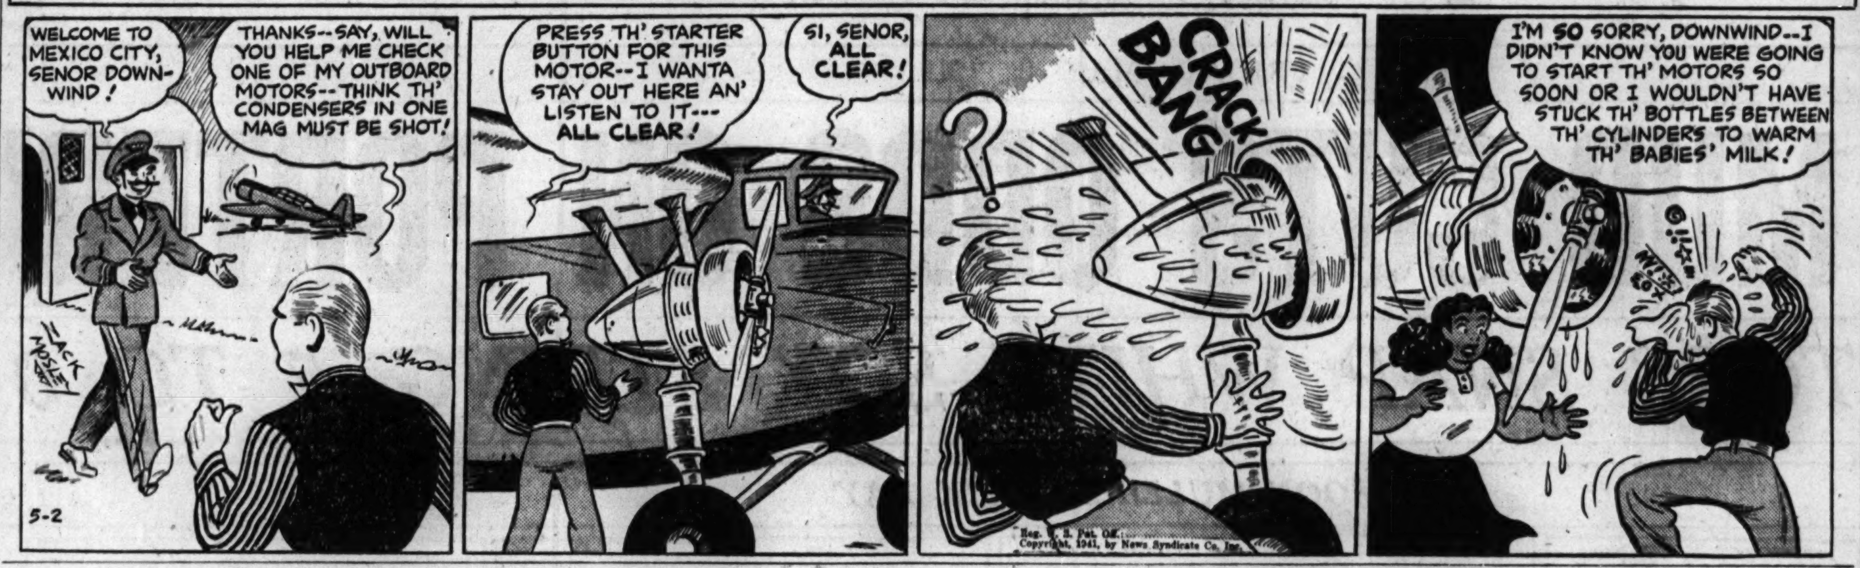
He leaves his widow, Theresa; two sons, William Jr., and Robert G., a brother and two sisters. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Church of the Atonement, 5749 Kenmore avenue. Burial will be private.

PREP ATHLETES RUN TONIGHT IN PROVISO RELAYS

The fourth annual Proviso High school relays will be held tonight in Proviso stadium, Maywood. Preliminary events will start at 6:30 o'clock. Finals are expected to begin at 8:30. Three Chicago Public School league teams—Sullivan, Lane Tech, and Crane Tech—are entered in the class A competition.

Other schools in class A include Decatur, Evanston, Highland Park, Joliet, La Grange, Maine, Morton, New Trier, Oak Park, Proviso, Sullivan, Urbana, Waukegan, and York. Approximately 400 athletes representing 35 schools in classes A and B will compete.

SMILIN' JACK—PASTEURIZING DOWNWIND



Season Is Open On an Old Pal, the Pickerel

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois fishermen started yesterday to catch pickerel or northern pike in all Illinois lakes and streams. March and April are closed months for pickerel fishing, the only two months so designated. But beginning May 1 this fish is on the open list. The state game code says that a pickerel must be 16 inches long to be legal, and one may take not more than 10 in a day. The bass season in the northern part of Illinois doesn't open until June 16.

Of all the fish that inhabit the fresh waters of America none has received as much attention in recent years as the pickerel—or northern pike as it is called in northern Wisconsin, Minnesota, and other parts of the middle west. Most of the publicity that the fish has received has been unfavorable, for Ducks Unlimited and its field force in the Canadian provinces have discovered that old Esox lucius, the pickerel or northern pike, is so abundant in some lakes that it is feeding on ducklings.

The shortage of food which the pickerel face in some lakes causes them to strike at most anything that moves on or in the water. The biologists working for Ducks Unlimited have examined hundreds of these greedy pickerel or northern pike from Canadian lakes in the duck country and, much to their surprise, they found that the finny predators are no small factor in decimating the duck population.

In several fishing areas of Ontario which we have visited, the so-called pickerel or northern pike isn't considered a game fish, altho most fishermen with much bait casting experience can see little difference between the fight of a muskie or a pickerel of even weight. One of either species that weighs 10, 15, or 20 pounds can put up a pretty strong fight, mainly because of its weight.

N. U. FOOTBALL CLINICTOMORROW DRAWS COACHES

More than 300 high school football coaches from Chicago and vicinity will attend the annual Northwestern university football clinic in Dyche stadium which opens tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with a discussion of the T-formation by Ralph Jones of Lake Forest college, former Chicago Bears coach.

The clinic will be interrupted at 1:15 for the Notre Dame-Northwestern baseball game on Northwestern field and will resume at 3 o'clock when the Wildcats conclude spring practice with a regulation intrasquad game. Luncheon will be served in the stadium and dinner in Scott hall, followed by movies of important 1940 games.

A Champion's Progress

this time, and when war was declared in 1917, he became the division surgeon of the 18th division, assigned to Fort Bliss at El Paso, Tex., wherefrom we went to Camp Travis at San Antonio.

Here it was, in 1919, that my interest in golf was revived a bit. I used to caddy for my father, who by this time had become quite a student of the game, even to reading such books as James Braid's "Advanced Golf," out of which he could quote at great length. I recall one line in particular, one that Tommy Armour later stressed to me. It was "There should be a slight suggestion of a pause at the top of the backswing."

I caddied for my father at the San Antonio Country club, where he was able, after the war, to get in more play. The arrangement was that I was to get 25 cents for 18 holes, with all of my savings out of this sum being doubled by him at the end of the week. I confess that this reached a tidy sum by the end of each week, for I never hesitated to call upon my mother or grandmother for any sodas or movies I wanted to enjoy during the week.

My father gave me an old putter with which I whacked old balls around the camp parade ground. To this were added a mashie and a brassie, gifts of a leading woman golfer. I used these clubs for the next five years, until I was 14. Here it was that my father and I became partners in crime. He would let me play 3 or 4 holes, but only after we were out on the course and out of sight of course officials.

One of the first things I learned in the game was that the grip is the key that opens the door to a good golf game. My father had started me out on the overlapping type, which the vast majority of golfers use today. Because the hands are the only contact you have with the club, and because it's the clubhead that hits the ball, all expressions of power and control must come to it thru the medium of the two hands. Remember that the left hand is the master hand for guiding and controlling the club, and the right hand is the all important hitting hand.

1. It's of the utmost importance for the player to retain a firm grip on the club, yet to achieve a relaxed wrist.

3. Because of the angle at which the left arm meets the ground in normal golfing position, the left hand grip by necessity is a combination palm and finger one, with the club lying across the base of the first two fingers and running diagonally across the palm of the hand extending from the base of the first two fingers to half an inch in back of the base of the little finger.

4. The palm of the right hand should face the line of play squarely when the fingers are extended. Close the fingers without changing the line on the palm, and the right thumb then goes slightly to the left of the top of the shaft, contacting the tip of the right index finger. Both inverted Vs then point toward the right shoulder. The life line of the right hand then covers the left thumb, and the little finger of the right is placed on top of the left index finger or between the little finger and its nearest neighbor.

Chicago AA Fighters and Milwaukee Tie

The first amateur boxing team to represent the Chicago Athletic association in its 51 years of existence held fighters from the Milwaukee Athletic club to a 4 to 4 draw decision in a series of bouts in the CAA gymnasium last night.

Seven contests were held, Pete Gaglio, MAC welterweight, being given the eighth by default by Edwin Parkes, Central A. A. U. inspector.

A three round battle between Herbie Hay, CAA middleweight, and Danny Spies of the MAC was the best on the program. Hay was awarded a split decision, Referee Frank McAdams voting 59-58 and Judge James McManus Jr., 57-55 for Hay while Ed Hintz, the other judge, scored for Spies, 60-57.

Dr. G. William Christoph, member of the CAA boxing committee, said the shows would be resumed next fall in further efforts to develop a powerful squad to fight under the club's colors in the Golden Gloves tournament.

Results:
112 POUNDS—Al Noto, CAA, beat Justin Fountaine, MAC [3].
126 POUNDS—Tony Bausone, CAA, beat Robert Waterman, MAC [3].
135 POUNDS—Tommy Lemmonn, MAC, beat John Kuratnik, CAA.

Sammy Angott, recognized as lightweight champion by the NBA, will fight Dave Castilloux, Canadian lightweight, in a 12 round nontitle bout in Louisville tonight.

GAMES TODAY.
Iowa at Minnesota.
Illinois at Chicago.
Indiana at Purdue.
Northwestern at Notre Dame.

Michigan and Iowa, undefeated leaders in the Big Ten baseball race with two victories each, swing into action today and tomorrow, with the Wolverines apparently having the tougher assignment.

Michigan invades Ohio State to meet a Buckeye team that has won three of its four conference games, while Iowa travels to Minneapolis for two games with Minnesota, beaten in three of its four conference games. Northwestern, tied with Ohio State for third place, plays at Notre Dame today in a nonconference game and returns home to tackle the Irish in Evanston tomorrow.

Illinois comes to Chicago for games today and tomorrow with the Maroons on Greenwood field, 60th street and Greenwood avenue. Today's game starts at 3:30 o'clock and tomorrow's at 2:30.

Indiana, which has broken even in six conference games, meets Purdue today and tomorrow on the Boilermakers' field. Purdue has won one out of four, Don Blanken holding Illinois to four hits last Saturday to upset the Illini, 4 to 1.

You needn't expect any fancy words in this! I'm just a Regal Shoe salesman—not a professional ad-writer! But I'd like to get a few things off my chest.

For instance, I've known for a long time that a lot of well-dressed men were going around wearing brutally misfitted shoes! The funny thing was, most of them didn't even know it! They didn't realize that a lot of these aches and pains they felt came from cramming their feet into shoes that were too short, or too narrow, or both. They didn't stop to think that a poorly fitted shoe can't possibly hold its shape.

Anyway, I knew it, but I didn't have proof. So the Regal Shoe Company went after the facts—with an X-RAY MACHINE! In office buildings and industrial plants, they X-rayed hundreds of feet of men with their shoes on. Showed the position of the bones right in the shoes! And according to nationally famous foot specialists, those X-ray photographs clearly indicated that—

1 MAN OUT OF 3 is wearing shoes which, on account of improper fitting, may result in serious physical and nervous ailments—even though they seem to cause only slight discomfort!

And that's why Regal has spent more than $100,000, and 40 years of research, to develop "PRESCRIPTION FIT"—the exclusive fitting system that measures and records the length and width of BOTH feet at once, in SITTING, STANDING and STEPPING POSITIONS! . . . The world's most nearly perfect fitting system.

There's more to Regal Shoes than fit and comfort! There's authentic style! There's quality of leather and workmanship! And there's world-beating value—because Regal sells only through 83 Regal Shoe Stores at one coast-to-coast price, $5.95. And remember—because Regal standards of quality are never lowered, the Regal price—always as low as possible—has always been subject to change based on cost of materials.

Why don't you come in—say tonight or tomorrow? I may not be much of an ad-writer—but I can sure make you shoe-happy!

WALTERS HALTS DODGER STREAK; REDS WIN, 2 TO 1

Bucky Scores Deciding Run in 11th Inning.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 1 (AP).—After hitting a double in the first half of the 11th and scoring the winning run on Eddie Joost's single, Bucky Walters struck out two Brooklyn pinch hitters with the bases loaded to give the Cincinnati Reds a 2 to 1 victory over the Dodgers today. Thus Walters stopped a Dodger winning streak at nine straight for the second year in a row. Score:

CARDS SWEEP GIANTS, 5-0.

New York, May 1 (AP).—The first place St. Louis Cardinals swept their three game series with the Giants today as veteran Lonnie Warneke pitched a nine hit shutout and, with home runs by Martin Marion and Jimmy Brown to help him along, gained a 5 to 0 decision. The homers accounted for four of the Cardinal runs. Brown hit his in the third off Carl Hubbell after Marion had singled, and Marion got one off Walter Brown in the eighth with Gus Mancuso on base. singled to send Appling to third. This bid for a run fell apart when Rosenthal gave the wink to a third strike. The next outbreak came from the enemy. Vernon singled to start the sixth and went to third on Lewis' single. This time Travis furnished nothing more potent than a fly to Solters. But it gave Vernon time to score after the catch.

More Wasted Hits.

The Sox came up with another pair of hits in the seventh, this time with only one out. Lodigiani singled for the third time and, after Rosenthal had been retired, Kreevich also singled. Tresh fanned and Taft Wright, the two-time flu victim, then made his maiden appearance. He batted for Dietrich and tapped to Vernon.

The Senators' eighth inning run followed a pass awarded by Appleton. Travis made the pass produce by doubling to left center. In the ninth West walked, Ferrell doubled and a wild pitch let West skip home. After two were out, Appleton plunked Cramer on the pants and Vernon tripled to center to register the last two Washington runs.

Ruffing, Yanks Face Sox and Lyons Today

The Yankees, who thru some oversight aren't carrying the title of champions, will be in Comiskey park today for the opener of a two game series with the White Sox. Pitchers for the ladies' day battle will be Red Ruffing and Ted Lyons.

When Cecil Travis hit his homer in the fourth his left foot was six inches or more outside the rear line of the batter's box. Nobody appeared to notice the illegal stance.

Lee [Buck] Ross, the pitcher purchased from the Athletics, reported as scheduled yesterday and immediately asked Manager James Dykes to enlighten him on the club's rules and regulations. The young man was much surprised when he learned only two rules must be observed—keep in shape and midnight curfew.

Outfielder Myril Hoag, the other player involved in Wednesday's spending spree, didn't arrive for his scheduled debut as a Sox. He had to move an automobile as well as himself from St. Louis to Chicago, hence the tardiness.

Johnny Rigney yesterday practiced with the happy thought that he may be able to pitch one or more games before being inducted into the army. Rigney received word that his selective service board in River Forest may not call a May quota. Rigney, recently classified as 1-A, was scheduled for induction late this month.

Roseland Kiwanians Hold Community Swim Tonight

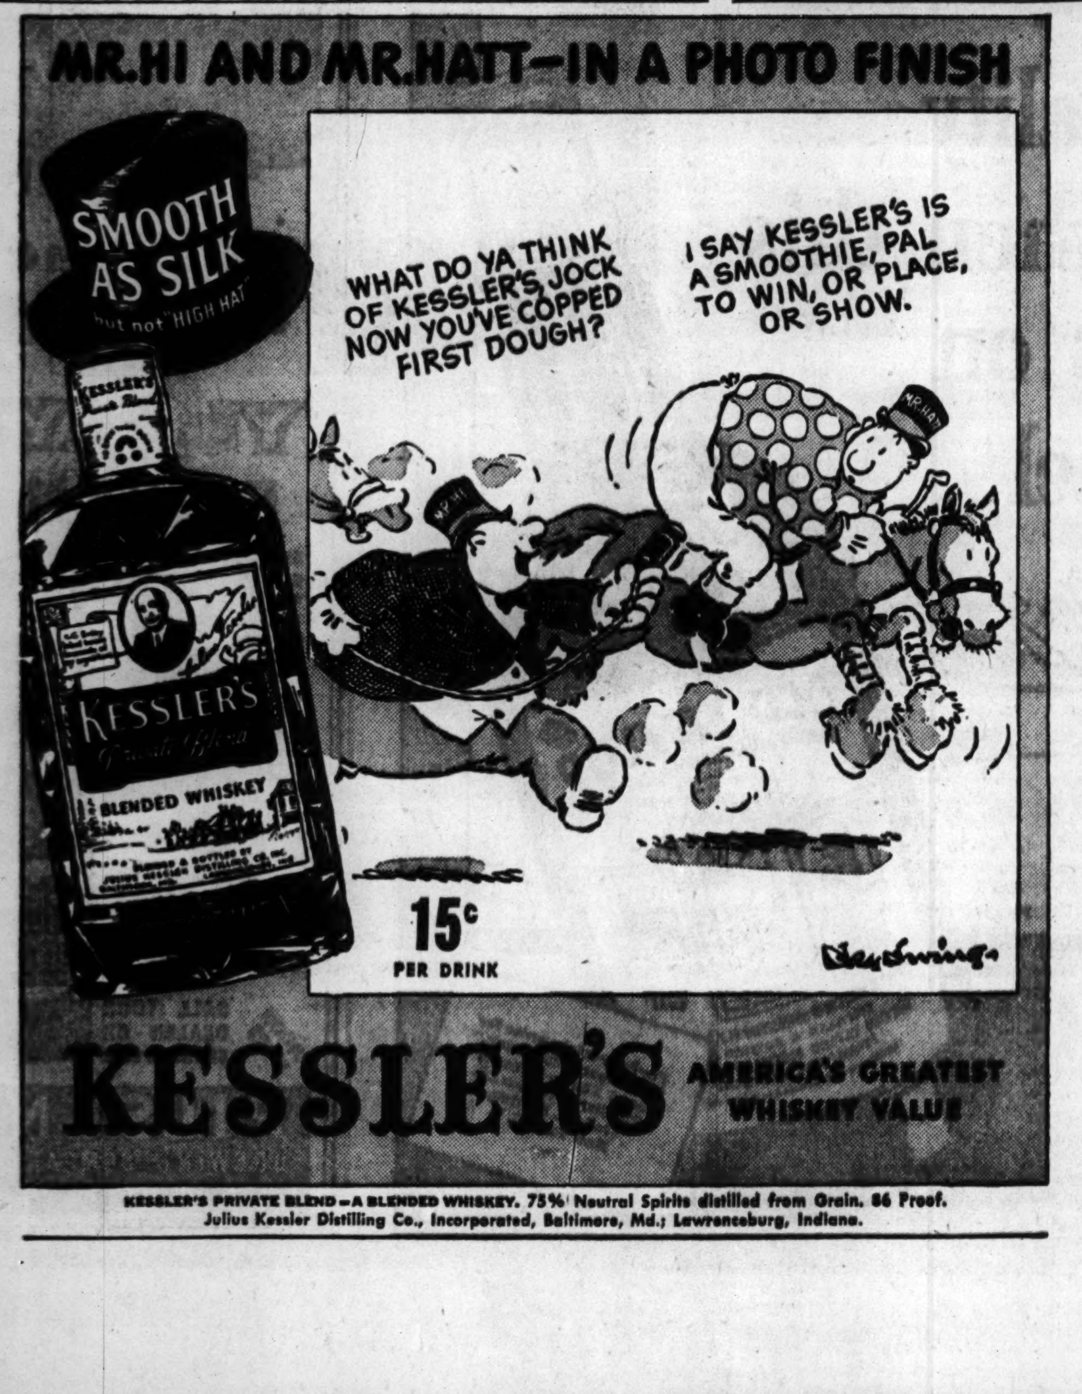
Bobby Jones III. Scores 95 in Tournament Golf Debut

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 1 (AP).—Bobby Jones III. posted a 25-over par 95 today for the first 18 holes of the southern prep and high school tournament which marked his debut in competitive golf. Ashby Taylor of Augusta, Ga., and Gummy Harrison of Macon academy at Richmond scored par 70's to lead the field at the one-third mark.



ART OF WAR IS HIGHLAND PARK STAKES WINNER

Scores 3 Length Victory at Sportsman's.

Art of War, a 3 year old from the G. E. Lewis stables, redeemed himself in the eyes of 7,000 Sportsman's Park fans yesterday by winning the $1,000 Highland Park stakes, the feature of the fifth day of the spring meeting at the Cicero race track.

Art of War broke from the extreme outside and immediately took the lead. Cherriko, the heavy favorite, took command at the eighth pole, but the 3 year old son of Gallant Sir and Annedire moved back into the lead at the quarter pole and never was headed from there on in.

Chocolate Maid Second.

Cherriko tried to make a race of it, keeping close behind the winner until they turned into the home stretch and then faltered as Chocolate Maid made a belated rush to take second, three lengths behind.

Clare Critchfield was aboard the winner, which made its first start on the opening day of the Sportsman's meeting, finishing second to Doublerab. Art of War paid $9.20, $4.40, and $2.40.

Two horses, David J. Jr., the winner of the fourth race, and Relief, which ran third in the opening race, were claimed. The former went to Mrs. E. K. Murray for $1,250 and the latter to F. Nancolas for $1,000.

Wins at 4½ Furlongs.

Miss Cedar turned in her first victory of the meeting, taking the third race from Anna-A-Wish by a neck. Jockey Steve Brooks put her thru the 4½ furlongs in 58 3-5 seconds, two-fifths of a second off the track record set by James Quest on Monday.

HEY, DERBY FANS! HERE'S A CHANGE IN AUTO ROUTES

Because of recent construction on Indiana Route 3 north of Charlestown, the third choice of optional routes between Chicago and Louisville given by the Chicago Motor club for Derby fans motoring to Churchill Downs has been changed. The route should now be: U. S. 330 and 30 to U. S. 41 to U. S. 52 to Indianapolis, then follow paved detour for U. S. 31 via Indiana 135 to Bargersville, Ind. 144 to Franklin, U. S. 31 to Indiana 7 to Indiana 3 to Indiana 56 to Scottsburg, U. S. 31 to Sellersburg, then U. S. 31 E to Louisville. The distance is 320 miles.

The preferred route from Chicago given by the club is U. S. 330 and 30 to U. S. 41 to Kentland, U. S. 52 to Lafayette, then Indiana 43 to Spencer, 46 to Bloomington, 37 to Paoli and U. S. 150 to Louisville [323 miles]. Another choice is via U. S. 330 and 30 to U. S. 41 to Vincennes, then U. S. 150 to Louisville [355 miles].

ENTER 41 CARS IN 500 MILE EVENT; 33 WILL START

Shaw Seeks Third Victory in Maserati.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1 (AP).—Forty-one cars, including two French sponsored speedsters, had been entered in the Indianapolis motor speedway Memorial day 500 mile race at the midnight closing time tonight. Speedway officials said a few more entries postmarked before the midnight deadline might be received tomorrow.

Qualifying trials for the annual race will begin May 17. Only 33 cars can start the race and the ones showing the fastest qualifying time for 10 miles will be permitted to face the starter on May 30. All cars must qualify at a speed of at least 110 miles an hour.

Heading the list of entries were three cars sponsored by Mike Boyle, Chicago sportsman, which included the Italian Maserati in which Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis has won the last two races. Shaw again will pilot the sleek maroon speedster. The other Boyle entries will be driven by Chet Miller of Detroit and George Connors of Los Angeles.

The two foreign entries were cabled in by Rene Lebegue of France, who drove in last year's race, and Jean Trevaux, also of France. Lebegue nominated himself to drive one of the cars and the other will be piloted by Trevaux. The cars, eight cylinder Talbots, now are in Portugal, awaiting shipment to the United States.

Robert M. Bowes, Indianapolis manufacturer, entered two cars. One will be driven by Rex Mays of Glendale, Cal., who finished second to Shaw last year in the same car. The other Bowes entry, a new car, will be driven by Ralph Hepburn of Los Angeles.

Lou Moore of Indianapolis, a former race driver, entered two cars. One will be driven by Duke Nalon of Chicago and the other by Mauri Rose of Indianapolis. Joe Lencki of Chicago sent in two entries. Emil Andres of Chicago will drive one; the pilot of the other has not been named.

MOVE TO CLOSE SECOND INSULL BANKRUPT CASE

Judge Barnes Calls 'Final' Hearing.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes acted decisively yesterday to wind up bankruptcy proceedings in the second of two key corporations of the old Insull utilities empire. In a sharply worded order he instructed all parties to the nine year old litigation involving the Corporation Securities company of Chicago to appear in court May 19, prepared to show cause why a final decree should not be entered and the case closed.

Last week he issued an identical order with respect to litigants in the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., case and called a meeting for the same day. Judge Barnes' orders in both instances were issued a day after the judicial executive committee assigned the cases to him.

Promises Prompt Action.

"These cases have never been in my court before," Judge Barnes said, "and I don't know much about them. Nevertheless, I do know they have been kicking around for years and I intend to learn the reasons and dispose of them promptly. If there is anything left for the investors it should be paid without delay."

Probably the most important reason for the delay in closing the bankruptcy proceedings has long been known to observers in the United States courthouse. It is the reluctance of federal judges to authorize payment of fees to trustees, receivers, and lawyers. The fees would consume nearly all the value of the estates, it was said.

Total assets remaining for distribution by Insull Utility Investments, once a 250 million dollar trust, amount to only $267,905, according to a report filed with the court earlier this year by Special Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles.

Fees and Expenses Sought.

The Insull Utility trustee and four law firms are seeking $138,024 of this amount in fees and expenses, according to the report.

Fifteen thousand investors have filed claims for 50 million dollars. They have received one dividend since the corporation went into bankruptcy. This amounted to $1,748,080, or slightly more than $35 on each $1,000 par value of debentures.

An equal number of investors who have filed their claims on the corporation thru an equity receivership have received a dividend of $2,361,760, or $40 on each $1,000 debenture.

If the requested fees and expenses are allowed the investors can expect to receive an additional payment of one-third of 1 per cent on their holdings, Referee Charles estimated.

Trustee Requests $23,675.

Fees and expenses requested are: Harry A. Bigelow, trustee, $23,675; Rosenthal, Hamill, Eldridge & King, attorneys for the trustee, $85,000 plus $1,349 for expenses; William Latimer, attorney for Insull Utility, $5,000; Jacobson, Merrick, Nierman & Silbert, attorneys for creditors, $23,000. This last fee will be shared by White & Hawxhurst, who also acted as attorneys for the creditors.

In addition fees amounting to $69,500 have already been paid as follows: To Calvin Fentress, former receiver in bankruptcy, $12,500; his attorneys, Allen and Dalbey and Cassels, Potter, and Bentley, $12,500 each, and Hines Rearick, Dorr, and Hammond, attorneys for the ancillary receiver in New York, $10,000.

Holders of obligations of Corporation Securities company have received no dividends under the bankruptcy proceedings. Referee Charles reported that $237,897 has been received and $85,492 disbursed for administrative expenses since the date of bankruptcy.

$152,404 to Be Divided.

The balance of $152,404 will be divided between lawyers who have not yet scheduled their fees and 4,000 investors whose claims amount to $17,654,000.

An equity receivership in this case has led to the recovery of $1,200,000 which was distributed to creditors.

The unpleasant task of sifting all these claims and arriving at an equable division of the remaining assets has caused the bankruptcy litigation to be passed from judge to judge like a hot potato.

In the beginning both cases were assigned to Judge Walter C. Lindley of Danville, Ill., who was brought to Chicago especially to hear them. Later they were assigned to Judge James H. Wilkerson.

After Judge Wilkerson's retirement Insull Utility Investments was assigned to Judge Michael L. Igoe, then to Judge William J. Campbell, and finally to Judge Barnes. The Corporation Securities case the assignment was from Judge Wilkerson to Judge Campbell to Judge Barnes.

TOMATO IMPORTS RAISE CHICAGO AREA CUSTOMS

Imports of Cuban and Mexican tomatoes and of British, Canadian, and Argentine liquor have helped boost customs collections in the Chicago district in 1941, Joseph A. Ziemba, collector, reported yesterday.

April collections climbed to $1,167,751, from $713,869 in the 1940 month, and the total for the first four months of this year was $3,300,083, against $2,681,533 in the 1940 period.

Ziemba termed the increases "remarkable," in view of the unfavorable effect which the European war has had on imports as a whole.

Governor Acts to Get Arms Jobs for State

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 1. — Gov. Dwight Green announced today he had asked his newly appointed state council of defense to consider means of getting armament work for 1,423 Illinois firms which have unused plant capacity and machinery that could be adapted to materials needed in the national arms program.

The governor acted on a report made by Director of Labor Martin P. Durkin who surveyed the plants and furnished him with the figures. Durkin also reported that the state employment service has found that sufficient qualified workers are available to increase production in almost every part of Illinois.

"In the present situation," the governor said, "Illinois has an opportunity to speed up defense production, reduce costs of the armament program and at the same time improve the economic security and morale of Illinois citizens.

Points to Unemployed.

"Many people are now unemployed and much machinery and equipment is unused, even while the national government is demanding increased speed in national defense preparations. The problem constitutes a challenge to our resourcefulness, and its solution should improve our national welfare, as well as the well-being of the people of our state."

Durkin's figures informed the governor that 166 Illinois firms capable of turning out armament products are operating less than one full shift. Another 804 firms are operating only one shift when they could operate on two or three.

A total of 183 firms are operating on one shift, but could run two; 146 on two shifts could handle three, and 124 firms are operating on more than two shifts, but could still expand their production.

The governor is chairman of the defense council, but most of the executive work is being performed by Murray N. Baker, vice chairman.

Would Step Up Production.

Green wrote Baker that the council is the logical group to strive to accomplish the important job of stepping up production in these plants with armament work.

"In a figurative sense," his letter read, "unemployed men and unemployed machines have been sitting around our economic system with their backs to each other. Our immediate job in Illinois is to bring them face to face and to justify Illinois' position as an industrial leader.

"By using our productive resources to meet the demands of national defense we in Illinois can make an important contribution in the present emergency. By using capital equipment already available we can increase defense production at a relatively lower cost to the people of the nation than would be the case if we had to start producing new equipment."

S. B. CHAPIN & CO. TO RETIRE FROM BUSINESS JUNE 30

S. B. Chapin & Co., one of the oldest security and commodity brokerage firms in the country, announced yesterday that it will retire from active business June 30. It will transfer its New York and Boston accounts to E. F. Hutton & Co. and its Chicago accounts to Clement, Curtis & Co., Chicago correspondent of Hutton.

Two of the Chicago resident partners, Ira Couch and James P. Doherty, will become actively associated with Clement, Curtis. S. B. Chapin Jr. and most of the other Chapin partners in New York will become affiliated with the Hutton firm.

The merger of Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt, and Fuller, Rodney & Co., another New York Stock exchange house, became effective yesterday. In Chicago the Fuller-Rodney office was closed, and the combined staff began operations in the consolidated office at 105 West Adams street. Homer P. Hargrave continues as resident partner of Merrill Lynch and Byron W. Webster, Chicago resident partner of Fuller-Rodney, became office manager.

NUMBER OF IDLE CUT TO 6 MILLION FOR MARCH, 1941

New York, May 1 (AP).—Unemployment in the United States fell to 6,142,000 in March, its lowest level for the month in 11 years, the National Industrial Conference board estimated today. The figure is 3,000,000 lower than the board's estimate for March, 1940, and 887,000 under February, 1941.

At the same time, the research organization said, the nation's employed rose by 934,000 to a total of 49,373,000, the largest number since September, 1929, when 49,715,000 persons had jobs. The March figure is 3,500,000 above March, 1940.

The board listed as unemployed 2,472,000 persons enrolled in the CCC, WPA, and out of school NYA projects in March. If these were listed in the employed total, only 3,670,000 persons would be considered without work out of a total national labor force of about 55,500,000.

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTE VOLUME AT ALL TIME RECORD

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—Bank of England notes in circulation for the week ended April 30 were boosted £900,000 [about $3,600,000], raising the total outstanding to an all time high of £623,350,000 [about $2,493,400,000], it was shown in the bank's statement. It was the sixth consecutive week of expansion in notes for an aggregate of £14,030,000 [about $56,120,000].

Reserves were raised to £58,342,000 from the record low of £9,057,000 for the week ended April 23 by a treasury authorization for an increase in the fiduciary.

CHICAGO AREA UNITS CLAIMED BY MIDDLE WEST

Seeks to Retain Its Illinois Utilities.

Middle West corporation intends to support the integration plan originally submitted to the Securities and Exchange commission, Purcell L. Smith, president, indicated yesterday in his annual report to the stockholders.

Purcell F. Smith.

Since hearings in the proceedings are not yet completed, Smith said that he was unable to indicate what findings may be made. He added, however, that the utilities division of the SEC has placed "extremely narrow constructions" on section 11 of the holding company act in cases of other companies.

He said that Middle West, key holding company of the former Insull system, intends to present testimony to show that it is entitled to retain control of the group of properties located primarily in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Kentucky.

Claims 2 Major Areas.

This is one of the two geographical areas which it proposed to maintain in the original answer to the SEC when the "death sentence" provision was invoked last year.

Testimony already has been presented supporting a claim that the corporation is entitled to retain stock control of properties in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana, comprising the other area, he explained.

"The corporation continued in 1940 its efforts to sell certain of its subsidiary or affiliated companies which, under the provisions of the holding company act, the corporation may be required to dispose of," Smith said.

Disposing of Some Units.

"As a result, the corporation sold during 1940 its interest [34.43 per cent] in the common stock of Southern Nebraska Power company and its interest [30.95 per cent] in the common stock of Missouri Public Service corporation. Central Power company, in which the corporation held a 50 per cent common stock interest, sold its assets and was dissolved early in 1941. It is expected that the corporation will dispose of additional investments in 1941 if it can secure offers which it considers fair."

The report disclosed consolidated net income for 1940 of $3,953,349, equal to $1.19 a share on the capital stock of Middle West, compared with $4,120,492, or $1.24, for 1939.

"Approximately $1,825,000 and $1,820,000 of the 1940 and 1939 consolidated net income reported would not be available for distribution to the Middle West corporation, primarily due to preferred stock arrearages of certain subsidiary companies," Smith explained.

Tax Increase Partly Offset.

"It will be noted that the unfavorable factors affecting earnings in 1940, namely the decline in ice revenues, initial heavy expense of the pension plans, and substantial increases in taxation, were offset, except for approximately $170,000, by the interest and other savings resulting from [a] the bond refunding programs of certain of the operating companies consummated in 1939 and 1940, [b] by the retirement of serial indebtedness by several companies in the system, and [c] by the acquisition in 1939 and 1940, principally by the Middle West corporation, of stocks of intermediate holding companies in the system."

The aggregate of taxes to be paid and charges in lieu of taxes amounted to $10,753,199 in 1940 and constituted an increase over 1939 of $1,613,383, the report showed.

"The possible refundings in the system have been largely consummated and only a few remain that it may be feasible to consummate in the future," Smith said. "Hence it appears unlikely that further increases in taxation can be offset to any substantial degree by further reductions in interest or other similar charges."

Parent Company Profit Up.

The consolidated report included only those companies in which a majority of the stocks with full voting rights were owned by the Middle West corporation directly or thru other consolidated companies.

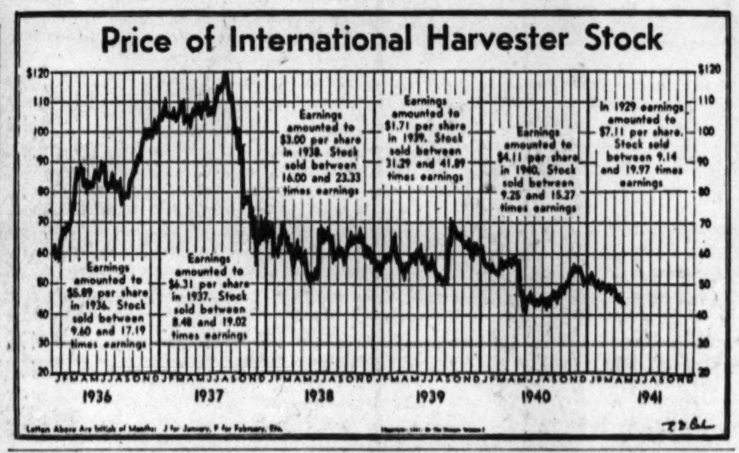
Net income of Middle West corporation alone in 1940 amounted to $1,769,328, or 53 cents a share on 3,307,302 shares of capital stock issued or reserved for issuance, as compared with $1,421,729, or 43 cents per share, in 1939.

BEGIN GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE THREAT HEARINGS

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—The defense mediation board began hearings today on the contract dispute between the United Automobile Workers [CIO] and General Motors Corporation.

Federal officials met management and labor representatives in an effort to avert a threatened strike in 61 G. M. plants employing about 160,000.

The union is asking a wage increase of 10 cents an hour. The management offered 2 cents for hourly employes and larger raises for some groups of skilled workers, which C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, contended no raise was justified, on the fiduciary.



Fears of Ship Shortage Lift Staples Prices

An outburst of active buying yesterday gave commodity futures an abrupt lift from their lethargy of recent weeks. Heavy speculative buying was evident as trade fears of acute cargo shortages revived coincident with President Roosevelt's request for the pooling of 2 million tons of shipping.

The broad buying movement first became apparent in such imported staples as rubber, cocoa, Santos coffee, silk, tin, and domestic sugar. All advanced briskly, rubber and cocoa reaching new 1941 highs to eclipse the soaring markets of March and early April.

Cottonseed Oil at Peak.

Cottonseed oil also hit a peak as traders became concerned over the possibility of the virtual shutting out of foreign oils with shipping curtailment. Firm lard prices stimulated demand.

Wool top futures moved to the year's peak, and copper and hides were higher. Only lead lost a small amount in trading limited to transfer operations.

Rubber futures rose 0.15 to 0.35 cent a pound, the May position closing on the day's high of 23.98 cents. The cash market added ¾ cent at 24 cents. Cocoa jumped 0.29 to 0.31 cent to 7.54 cents a pound in the May delivery, also the day's peak. Cottonseed oil futures were bid up to closing gains of 0.17 to 0.19 cent a pound, and at the higher market, May contracts rising to 9.29 cents before closing at 9.20 cents bid.

Wool Tops Advance.

Heavy demand for wool tops developed on reports that domestic stocks of wool tops were under seasonal average. The May delivery advanced to $1.27 4/10 a pound, and closed at $1.27 bid, while the cash market gained a cent. Final prices for all contracts ranged 1 to 1.6 cents higher.

Tin futures were ahead 0.10 to 0.25 cent a pound, copper 0.02 to 0.04 cent, Santos coffee 0.12 to 0.15 cent, domestic sugar 0.04 cent, hides 0.15 to 0.17 cent, and silk 1½ to 2 cents.

SALES OF STORES THRUOUT NATION TOP 1940 BY 17%

The federal reserve board reported yesterday that department store sales thruout the United States last week were 17 per cent larger than a year ago. Chicago stores reported to the federal reserve bank that their trade was 9 per cent better than in the preceding week and 16 per cent above the corresponding week last year.

The seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district, which embraces all of Iowa and major parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin, had a 4 per cent increase in department store sales last week over the preceding week and a 13 per cent gain over last year. For the four weeks ended April 26, national sales were up 23 per cent over last year.

APRIL BUILDING SHOWS A SHARP GAIN IN CHICAGO

Building construction in Chicago rose sharply during April in both numbers and cost, Building Commissioner Richard Schmidt disclosed yesterday. Nearly a hundred more permits were issued with a value of almost a million dollars more than in April, 1940.

There were 458 permits issued last month for buildings valued at $4,312,133. During the same month of last year there were 367 permits, for structures costing $3,319,325. In March of this year there were 372 permits for buildings valued at $3,422,957.

People and Events

R. F. Field, vice president of the Campbell-Ewald company, advertising firm, has been named manager of the agency's Chicago branch. He has been in New York City for the last several years.

R. F. Field.

Ward Vanderpool, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, and S. R. Arias, New York broker, were elected directors of the road at the annual meeting yesterday.

Arthur L. Armantrout, superintendent of industrial relations at the South works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation for the last three years, has been named assistant superintendent at the Lorain division, Johnstown, Pa.

The annual dinner for male employes of the Chicago Title & Trust company will be held this evening in the Morrison hotel. About 600 are expected to attend.

REPUBLIC AVIATION ELECTS R. S. DAMON ITS NEW PRESIDENT

Ralph S. Damon, vice president in charge of operations of American Airlines, Inc., yesterday was elected president of the Republic Aviation corporation, Farmingdale, Long Island. W. Wallace Kellett, president of Republic, was made chairman of the board.

Ralph S. Damon.

Damon obtained a leave of absence from American Airlines, but will continue as vice president and director of the transport company subject to approval by the Civil Aeronautics board.

It was explained that Damon was placed in charge of Republic in order to strengthen the management at a time when it has large arms program airplane orders on hand. Designer and builder of the world's first sleeper airplane, he was a pioneer in early mass production of aircraft.

CHICAGO TRANSIT SYSTEMS' APRIL TRAFFIC LARGER

The Chicago Surface Lines carried 59,845,953 passengers last month compared with 58,069,424 in April, 1940, representing an increase of 3,059 per cent, the company announced yesterday. The four month volume was 0.158 per cent larger than that of the 1940 period, the number of passengers carried in the respective periods being 235,290,283 and 234,919,881.

Chicago Motor Coach company reported gains of 4.8 per cent for April and 2.3 per cent for the four months. Passengers carried last month numbered 5,291,377, an increase of 241,849. The four month total increased 459,267 to 20,492,109.

Chicago Rapid Transit company, the elevated system, reported increases of 3.06 per cent for April and 0.79 per cent for the four months. Last month's traffic was 12,844,060 passengers, 381,412 more than April, 1940. The four month total was 51,518,158, against 51,115,022 in the 1940 period.

BIDS ON FROZEN MEAT FOR BRITAIN ARE ASKED BY U. S.

Meat packers reported yesterday that the department of agriculture had announced a new buying program for the acquisition of pork products for Great Britain under the lend-lease act. The department's buying agency, the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, will receive offerings up to Monday and acceptances will be announced Thursday.

Under the new program, the government will accept frozen meat which has been in the freezers less than 60 days. Heretofore, only cured or smoked meat has been acceptable. The American Meat institute reported the purchase of frozen meat would make it possible to ship a better quality product to England.

In the past, the meat has been kept in cure until the department was ready to ship, and it absorbed too much salt when held too long.

GAIN IN FREIGHT VOLUME LARGER THAN SEASONAL

Revenue freight loadings during the week ended April 26 totaled 721,702 cars, an increase of 13,051 cars, or 1.8 per cent, over the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The advance was slightly more than seasonal.

The week's loadings were 11.9 per cent above the parallel week a year ago and 23.3 per cent ahead of 1939. With the exception of small decreases in forest products and coke, all classes of freight showed gains over the week before. Compared with last year, coal and grain declined.

Loadings of the various commodities compared as follows:

	Wk. End. April 26.	—Change from— Prec. Week.	Year Ago.

HENDERSON ENDS PRICE CEILING FOR SOFT COAL

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Leon Henderson, price administrator, today revoked the order of April 2 fixing a ceiling on bituminous coal prices at the March 28 level.

The price schedule was issued originally, he said, to prevent excessive prices during the mining stoppage.

"Altho the schedule is revoked," Henderson said, "no reason exists for any unreasonable price increases in bituminous coal. If unreasonable prices are charged by either producers, distributors, or dealers price action with regard to bituminous coal will be promptly instituted."

ILLINOIS MINES STAY CLOSED AS OTHERS REOPEN

Negotiators Unable to End Impasse.

Attempts of the Illinois Coal Operators' association and the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] to reach a temporary agreement for the reopening of bituminous coal mines in the state ended in discord yesterday. Spokesmen for each side blamed the other for the failure of negotiations.

Failure to come to an agreement killed all prospects of resuming operations today in the mines which have been closed since April 1 because of an impasse in contract negotiations. Monday was suggested as the earliest possible time for reopening. Meanwhile more miners in Indiana and other sections of the country returned to the pits.

Subcommittee Meets Today.

The joint scale committee of the Illinois miners and operators met for almost three hours in Chicago and then adjourned subject to call. A subcommittee of two members from each side was appointed, however, and is scheduled to meet at 10 o'clock this morning to try to iron out the differences.

George F. Campbell, president of the operators' group, said that his organization offered the UMWA a temporary agreement embodying the same terms as that recently negotiated in the northern Appalachian region. This, he added, was rejected by the miners, who demanded two additional concessions which, he said, should not come up for consideration until the permanent contract is being discussed.

The northern Appalachian agreement included a $1 a day increase in the basic wage. A raise of the same size in the southern Appalachian area paved the way for renewed mining in both of those regions.

Called Patriotic Duty.

Campbell said that the reopening of the Illinois mines was a "patriotic duty in view of the national defense program."

"It is irritating to us members of the Illinois Coal Producers' association to be the last ones in the country to resume operations," he said. "It must be irritating also to the members of the United Mine Workers, district 12, to be the last men to start work.

"The situation in Illinois is doubly embarrassing to us operators because of the dual union in our state. The Progressive Miners have been employed for the last 10 days. The mines that employ Progressive Miners are in many cases taking business that rightfully belongs to the mines where United Mine Workers are employed."

Ray Edmundson, state president of the union, countered with the statement that "it is irritating to the United Mine Workers of America that the operators refused to continue operations of the mines since April 1. We have repeatedly requested operations so the production of coal could be carried on in the interest of national policy. The operators have repeatedly refused."

IDLE IN ALABAMA.

Birmingham, Ala., May 1 (AP).—Alabama's 21,000 coal miners began their second month of idleness today as the district policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] scheduled a meeting to consider terms of a new contract to be offered mine operators.

Union sources forecast a demand for an immediate $1 per day wage increase. The base wage under the contract which expired March 31 was $4 for a seven hour day.

There have been no negotiations for four weeks and a spokesman for the operators said today: "We are just where we were April 1."

Anthracite Vacation Sought.

New York, May 1 (AP).—The union's demand for two weeks' vacation with pay was among proposals discussed today by a subcommittee of the UMWA and anthracite coal operators, who are seeking agreement on a new wage contract covering 100,000 hard coal miners.

Mining operations are continuing under an agreement to continue in force until May 10 the present contract, which expired last midnight.

DIETZGEN GIVEN ARMY CONTRACT FOR COMPASSES

A few orders ranging from $596 to $105,125 were announced yesterday by the war department for concerns in Illinois. The largest was awarded to Eugene Dietzgen company, Chicago, and was for compasses and dividers.

Albert Pick company, Inc., Chicago, received an order for $596 of soup strainers, and another Chicago manufacturer, Magnaflux corporation, contracted to supply $2,568 of inspection machines.

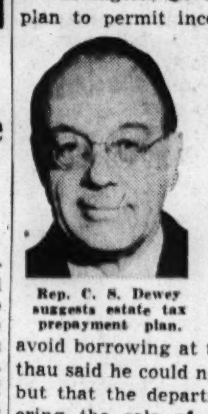
The navy announced the award of a $263,522 contract to the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, Wis., for two turbo-alternators.

Uniform Tailoring Orders Shared by Chicago Firm

Springfield, Ill., May 1 (AP).—Contracts for tailoring approximately 6,000 uniforms for members of the Illinois reserve militia have been awarded to the Myers Brothers company of Springfield and Mannie & Co., Chicago, it was announced today by Adjutant General Leo M. Boyle. The cost of materials and tailoring would approximate $10.36 per uniform, he said. The state bought 55,000 yards of twill material direct from the mills.

Prepayments of Income Tax Being Studied

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—A plan to permit income taxpayers to prepay proposed new levies in installments was indorsed in principle by the treasury today.



Rep. C. S. Dewey suggests estate tax prepayment plan.

Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. disclosed that his tax experts were at work on such a scheme, which he said would help taxpayers to avoid borrowing at tax time. Morgenthau said he could not disclose details but that the department was considering the sale of special securities which could be used to pay taxes in place of cash.

An individual, anticipating a tax of $120, could buy $10 of these securities each month. The treasury would benefit by getting the money in advance, it was pointed out.

Proposes Tax Stamps.

The Morgenthau disclosure followed the general theme of a plan put forward yesterday at house ways and means committee hearings on plans to increase federal revenue by $3,600,000,000.

Representative Harry Sauthoff [Prog., Wis.] suggested sale at post-offices of "tax stamps" in denominations ranging from $1 to $5, for later use in paying taxes.

Instalment prepayment of taxes, thru salary deductions, and compulsory purchasing of defense securities were recommended by a group of about 170 economists as speedy revenue raisers and safeguards against currency inflation. Drs. Albert G. Hart of Iowa State college and S. E. Harris of Harvard university presented the economists' views.

Hart suggested a flexible income tax system, geared to prompt payment by having employers collect the levies just as social security taxes now are collected.

Favors Flexible Rates.

"The rate at which income is taxed," he said, "should be adjusted upward whenever a selected index of retail prices is rising at more than a very moderate rate and downward whenever prices stabilize."

Other suggestions made at the committee's hearings today included a recommendation by a group of motion picture theater operators that all adult admission fees be subjected to 10 per cent admissions tax. Abram F. Myers of Washington, board chairman of the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, proposed that congress "wipe out" the admission tax exemption now granted to educational and religious organizations.

Asks Estate Tax Change.

Representative Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.] proposed that individuals be permitted to make advance payments in anticipation of estate taxes and that such payments be deductible from the estate in figuring the final tax.

Dewey, a former assistant treasury secretary under President Coolidge, said the government would derive an advantage from the immediate receipt of money and that his proposal also would aid thousands of small business men to protect their businesses from "the shock of sudden tax liability."

TRADING IN EGG FUTURES RISES TO 11 YEAR PEAK

Trading in egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange during the first four months of 1940 rose to 127,680,000 dozens, largest for any corresponding period since 1930, Lloyd S. Tenny, business manager, reported yesterday. April transactions of 45,132,000 dozens were the heaviest for the month in six years, and gained 51 per cent over 1940.

April butter futures sales totaled 23,493,600 pounds and also established a six year April record despite a seasonal decline of 11 per cent from March. Turnover in cheese futures was 374,000 pounds, peak for any month since October, 1935.

November butter futures closed 0.25 cent higher at 35 cents a pound. The October egg delivery advanced 0.10 cent a dozen to 24.25 cents. Cash prices were steady.

BANK CLEARINGS OF 23 CITIES TOP YEAR AGO 11.8%

New York, May 1 (AP).—Bank clearings of 23 cities for the last week of April totaled $6,060,222,000, an increase of 11.8 per cent over the same week last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. Total at New York was $645,412,000 below.

Chicago clearings rose 10.6 per cent over a year ago to a total of $352,400,000. New York City volume was $3,354,395,000, up 5.9 per cent.

RFC WILL SPEND 10 MILLIONS ON CHICAGO PLANT

Revere to Turn Out Arms Brass.

An agreement for constructing a new brass sheet rolling mill on Chicago's northwest side at a cost of approximately 10 million dollars was reached yesterday between the Defense Plant corporation, subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and Revere Copper and Brass, Inc.

The plant, built with government funds, will be situated on a 14 acre tract at the northeast corner of Fullerton and Normandy avenues, about 1½ blocks north of Revere's present factory at 2200 North Natchez avenue. Under a lease arrangement the company will operate the mill in turning out ammunition brass, cartridge cases, and bullet jackets.

War Department Request.

Approximately $2,600,000 will be spent in acquiring the land and constructing the buildings, and $7,400,000 for machinery and equipment, Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, announced in Washington. D. C. Jones said the war department had requested the new facilities.

Construction of the plant, which is expected to begin within four weeks, a Revere spokesman said. It was said that the only delay that might be encountered in getting the plant in operation would involve acquisition of rolling mill equipment. However, government authorities were expected to place a high priority rating on the equipment.

The plant will consist of a one story brick building, tall enough for the installation of overhead cranes. It will be approximately 900 feet long and 370 feet wide, with the largest frontage on Normandy avenue.

Office to Face Fullerton.

The office of the plant probably will face Fullerton avenue. The main building will occupy about two-thirds of the property. The remainder will be used to take up whatever small buildings are needed and for employes' automobile parking. The land being acquired is vacant except for one small building.

At capacity operation the plant will be able to produce approximately 15 million pounds of sheet brass a month or substantially more than the capacity of Revere's present Chicago plant. The mill will be served by the Dunning freight siding of the Milwaukee railroad.

Officials of the company declined to estimate the number of workers to be employed at the plant.

INCREASE SHOWN IN CONSTRUCTION AWARDS OF WEEK

New York, May 1 (AP).—Engineering construction awards this week increased to $119,425,000, a gain of 11 per cent over the preceding week and 93 per cent a year ago, Engineering News-Record reported today. A gain in public awards more than offset a decline in private contracts.

BUYERS DESERT STOCKS; PRICES DRIFT UNEVENLY

Tax, War Uncertainties Retard Trading.

New York, May 1 (AP).—Stocks were ragged at the start today, never developed a definite trend, and closed moderately irregular. Dealings were exceptionally light, however, and weakness was a rarity in most departments.

Many potential stock purchasers continued to hold aloof, brokers said, because of fears of another war upset following the Grecian collapse, worries over the next move of the United States in the conflict, doubts regarding labor peace, and apprehension as to the forthcoming tax burden and extension of government price controls and priorities.

Stock Average Unchanged.

Depressing sentiment was the sale of a stock exchange seat for $20,000, the lowest price since 1898, when memberships were transferred for as little as $19,000.

Douglas Aircraft dropped 1⅛ points after the company disclosed first quarter income was about equal to that of the 1940 period notwithstanding a large upturn in sales.

McKesson & Robbins preferred got up 1⅛ to a new 1941 top. Other gainers included United States Steel, United Aircraft, United States Rubber, and Loft.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

Prices were mixed in a narrow market on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Transfers totaled only 14,000 shares. Commonwealth Edison, the volume leader with turnover of 1,450 shares, closed at 26¼, unchanged.

Only 450 shares changed hands from 2 to 2:30 o'clock. This was the lowest total during the extra period after the New York close since an hour was added to the Chicago session last September and then reduced to half an hour last Monday.

GUAYULE RUBBER.

I have just read an article about the rubber situation. There was a reference in it to a Mexican shrub from which rubber is obtained by some producers, among which, I understand, is the Intercontinental Rubber company. What financial information do you have about the concern? —F. R.

Answer: The Intercontinental Rubber company, Dover, Del., has outstanding 595,832 shares of no par capital stock listed on the New York Stock exchange. The company produces guayule rubber on plantations in Mexico and near Salinas, Cal., and crude rubber on properties on the east coast of Sumatra.

Guayule rubber is extracted by a crushing and flotation process from the guayule shrub. The shrub contains a fluid which is 80 per cent rubber and 20 per cent resin. The resinous rubber is particularly adaptable to impregnating cotton fabric for tires, belting, footwear and other articles.

In a recent report the company said two factories in Mexico are producing guayule rubber on a 24 hour basis and a third factory is operating two shifts.

Earnings reports of the company disclose a decided uptrend after a long string of losses from 1929 thru 1935. Last year's net income was the largest since 1927. Earnings results in the last five years follow:

1938	*62,811	*0.10	....
1939	141,676	0.24	$0.20
1940	323,614	0.54	0.40

*Net loss.

The company paid dividends to stockholders from 1926 thru 1928, and thereafter omitted payments until 1939.

Assets of the company were valued at $4,420,464 in the Dec. 31, 1940, balance sheet, of which current assets amounted to $1,402,812. Current liabilities were $266,479.

CELANESE MERGER.

I understand there was a hitch in the plan to merge Celanese and Celluloid. What happened? —J. E.

Answer: Obstacles in the path of the proposed merger of the Celluloid corporation with the Celanese corporation of America were raised by minority stockholders of the former company who filed injunction suits charging that the merger plan was "unfair and inequitable" to them. Other suits by minority stockholders alleged that Celanese thru its stock control of Celluloid caused the latter a loss of "several million dollars." The merger has been enjoined temporarily by chancery orders at Newark, N. J.

PLAN INVENTORY CONTROL FOR 16 MAJOR METALS

Stettinius Terms Buying in Excess Unpatriotic.

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—E. R. Stettinius Jr., director of priorities, announced today a new system of inventory control was being applied immediately to 16 metals in an attempt to prevent accumulation of excess stocks in industry.

The system provides that shipments of the metals may not be made to customers in amounts which would increase the customers' inventories to "unnecessary levels."

Require Sworn Statements.

Each customer and supplier of the metals will be required to file a sworn statement with the Office of Production Management each month to show the state of his inventory.

Stettinius said at a press conference that the plan was made necessary by "over buying for unnecessary inventories."

"The time has arrived," he said, "when industry must realize that it is an unpatriotic act to accumulate unnecessarily large inventories."

Includes Many Alloys.

The metals affected are antimony, cadmium, chromium, cobalt, ferrotungsten, ferro-manganese, iridium, iron and steel products, lead, manganese, mercury, molybdenum, brass and bronze, tin, vanadium, and secondary metals or scrap containing any of the metals listed.

POOR & CO. FIRST QUARTER INCOME UP TO $419,000

President Forecasts Best Year Since 1929.

Poor & Co., railway equipment manufacturer with headquarters in Chicago, this year will probably experience its largest volume of business since 1929, Fred A. Poor, president, informed stockholders yesterday.

He announced that net income for the first quarter amounted to $419,000 before federal and Canadian income and excess profits taxes, against $372,000 on the same basis in the March quarter of 1940. For the 12 months ended March 31 net income before these tax provisions totaled $956,000, compared with $933,000 in the preceding 12 months.

"The value of unshipped orders on our books is over twice as large as at March 31, 1940," Poor said.

Standard Brands Gains.

Standard Brands, Inc., major factor in the food industry, announced first quarter net earnings of $2,361,392, compared with $2,341,997 a year ago, equal to 17 cents a share in both periods.

General Foods corporation reported net income of $4,502,928 for the three months ended March 31, compared with $4,478,795 a year ago. Profits were equal to 82 cents a share in both periods.

Altho sales increased 40 per cent, March quarter net income of the Monsanto Chemical company declined to $1,354,291, equal to 98 cents a share, from $1,642,037, or $1.23 a share, a year ago. Sales totaled $14,442,926.

Two Millions for Taxes.

The provision for first quarter income taxes was $2,146,000, including a reserve of $350,000 to cover expected increases in rates. Main offices of the company are in St. Louis, Mo.

Paramount Pictures, Inc., estimated its net income at $2,475,000 for the quarter ended April 5, compared with $1,606,000 in the 1940 period. The company computed the last quarter's income tax provision at the expected 30 per cent rate instead of the 24 per cent rate under present law.

PUBLIC RESPONDS TO NEW FEDERAL BOND SALE DRIVE

Washington, May 1 [Special].—In 16,000 postoffices in every part of the United States as well as in thousands of banks and other agencies, defense savings bonds and stamps were offered for sale this morning. Preliminary reports indicate a favorable public response to the drive, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., said.

He reported that many civic organizations, business associations, and labor unions had joined the drive to sell the new securities.

To enable state-chartered banking institutions to act as agents for the sale of the new bonds a special act was rushed thru the Wisconsin legislature and signed by Gov. Julius P. Heil, the treasury was informed. Similar steps are being taken in Illinois and other states, the treasury said.

TRADING IN SOY BEAN FUTURES SETS PEAK IN CHICAGO MARKET

Trading in the soy bean market on the Chicago Board of Trade set a new all time record in April. Sales of futures aggregated 118,325,000 bushels, the Commodity Exchange administration reported yesterday, or about 53 million bushels more than in March. Sales in April, 1940 were 9,125,000 bushels.

Seldom has there been such a sudden increase in public interest in a speculative commodity as has been shown in soy beans during the last few months, brokers said. Since January 1 sales of futures have aggregated 267 million bushels, or only 10 million bushels less than the aggregate volume of business tranacted during the five preceding years. Trading in soy beans was inagurated in 1936.

Sales of all grain futures last month were 439,123,000 bushels, about 9 million more than in March, but 456,625,000 bushels below the level of April, 1940.

STANDARD (N. J.) VOTES A 50 CENT EXTRA DIVIDEND

Directors of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey yesterday declared an extra dividend of 50 cents in addition to the regular semiannual payment of 50 cents on the more than 27 million capital shares outstanding. The same amounts were paid in June last year. The last disbursement was 50 cents and 25 cents extra, Dec. 16, 1940.

Reducing the rate from the 40 cents of previous quarters, Pillsbury Flour Mills company, Minneapolis, authorized a quarterly payment of 25 cents on the common stock.

BONDS DAWDLE ALONG NARROW MARKET COURSE

New York, May 1 (AP).—The great bulk of bonds idled in a narrow range today. Transfers of $5,952,700, face value, compared with $7,789,500 Wednesday.

Only four United States government issues were traded on the exchange with changes negligible. Over the counter prices were shaded slightly.

Japanese, Cuban, and Latin American issues advanced. Canadian and other British Empire loans were lower.

Senate Group Acts Today on Farm Parity Measure

Washington, D. C., May 1 [Special]. —Senator John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.], chairman of the agricultural committee, today called a session of the group for tomorrow to consider parity loans on 1941 farm crops. The measure under consideration, already passed by the house, would provide 75 per cent parity loans on cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco. Such loans might be increased to 85 per cent under new plans being considered, according to Representative H. P. Fulmer [D., S. C.], chairman of the house agricultural committee.

COTTON

Heavy buying advanced all deliveries of cotton futures yesterday to new 1941 high prices. While cash firms sold on the advance, the close was near the top with gains of .02 to .13 cent a pound. The new crop deliveries led the upturn. A belief that a government loan of about 12 cents a pound would be made on the 1941 crop was responsible for the buying, brokers said.

Cash cotton closed .02 to .07 cent higher, with New York, 11.73 cents; New Orleans, 11.36 cents; Galveston, 11.24 cents, and Houston at 11.22 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

GRAINS ADVANCE MILDLY ON LOAN BOOST PROSPECT

Parity Figures Marked Up During Last Month.

Strength in other commodity markets was reflected in a moderate upturn in grain prices on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. There was also some buying based on an announcement by the department of agriculture that the parity price on wheat had risen to $1.14 a bushel as of April 15, compared with $1.132 March 15. Corn parity was placed at 82.8 cents, against 82.2 cents for recent months.

Parity prices are the levels at which statisticians figure purchasing power values of grains would equal those of the base period 1909-'14. A house approved bill now awaiting senate action would give farmers loans on 1941 crops equal to 75 per cent of parity prices. The 0.8 cent rise in wheat parity, under that bill, would raise the loan basis 0.6 of a cent, or to 85.5 cents a bushel. The average 1940 loan was 64 cents.

Profit Taking Cuts Gains.

Liberal profit taking developed on the upturns due to uncertainty of senate passage of the loan bill and favorable crop and weather reports. Closing trades on wheat were unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, and corn unchanged to ¼ cent higher. Rye showed independent strength and closed ¾ to 1⅛ cents higher on buying by commission houses and cash interests. Soy bean trading was relatively light with the close ¾ cent lower to ¼ cent higher.

Announcement that the government was asking packers to offer additional quantities of lard and meats brought in buying of lard futures and the latter closed 7½ to 12½ cents per 100 pounds higher. Packers were reported to have paid for about $9,000,000 pounds of cash lard delivered yesterday on May contracts. Stocks of lard in cold storage in Chicago decreased about $7,500,000 pounds in April.

Crops Forecasts Expected.

Estimates on the winter wheat crop are being raised as the result of excellent weather conditions recently. The Robinson Elevator company, Salina, Kas., raised its estimate on Kansas production 20,000,000 bushels over the April forecast. Chicago crop statisticians will issue estimates on the winter wheat crop early today.

Southwestern cash wheat handers express the belief that the proposed loan boost on the 1941 wheat crop may not be as bullish as had been expected. They suggested that farmers may liquidate holdings of old grain in order to make room for storing the new crop.

There were no exports of corn from major producing countries last week, it was reported, for the first time recorded since that grain started to enter into international commerce on a large scale.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Light receipts, buying by packers with government orders, and a rise of about 50 cents a hundred pounds in wholesale pork markets caused an advance of 10 to 20 cents in hogs at the stockyards yesterday. The day's average, up 15 cents at $8.55 a hundred pounds, was highest in over two weeks and within 20 cents of the year's high day.

Lambs recovered all of the recent losses in yesterday's session. Five carloads of wool lambs sold at $11.60 a hundred pounds, 20 cents above the best sale Wednesday, and equal to the 1941 peak.

Most steers and yearlings sold slowly at steady to slightly lower prices, but heifers, canners and cutters advanced 10 to 15 cents.

Milk Producers Meet to Discuss Problem.

The security of American farmers is endangered by the administration's new policy of demanding increased production from them without guaranteeing equality with industry, members of the National Coöperative Milk Producers' federation were told yesterday. Three hundred delegates representing a million farm families, gathered at an emergency meeting called by the federation in the Congress hotel.

George E. Metzger, secretary of the Illinois Agricultural association, said that the so-called "floor" placed under prices of hogs, butter, poultry, and eggs by the federal department of agriculture may turn out to be a "price ceiling" instead.

Fears Progress Endangered.

"The administration's policy of buying farm commodities at set prices, while at the same time calling for a tremendous production increase in the same commodities, points toward operation of the government prices as maximums," he said.

"Agriculture had made progress in the last eight years, and we had been getting closer to the point where the farm program seemed likely to work when Washington upset the whole thing."

Action "Far Too Slow."

Arthur H. Lauterbach, general manager of the Pure Milk association in Chicago, protested against agriculture no longer being directly represented in any of the various defense agencies.

"Action on any program that might really be of value to agriculture is far too slow," he said.

Nathan P. Hull of Lansing, Mich., president of the federation, said the administration has not given the farmers the slightest assurance that they will be guaranteed even their own cost of increasing production. He said that the emergency meeting, which will be concluded today, was called to prepare a program which will return agriculture to the plane of industry in general.

EXCESS RESERVE FUNDS OF BANKS RISE 10 MILLIONS

Banks' lendable excess reserves increased $10,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday to a total of $5,770,000,000 the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

The board said reserve bank credit decreased $5,000,000, and that the amount of money in circulation expanded by $79,000,000. Loans to brokers and dealers in securities held by reserve system member banks in New York City increased $7,000,000 to a total of $330,000,000.
